Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] This is a prosperous country without a doubt. Did you read where some fellow got $25,000 as a prize just for saying, "Make liquor so high that the bootleggers can't sell it at a profit." Then the producer will sell direct to the consumer and it will only cut the middleman. The same thing they have tried to do in every industry since the world began and haven't succeeded. Besides, where is your economic problem of finding work for your unemployed bootleggers?

Now if a man got $25,000 for suggesting that, what ought some fellow get for suggesting one that would work?

A California boy suggested education, but it's the educated that's doing all the drinking.

Yours for bigger prizes and better suggestions,
WILL ROGERS.

Federal Court Ruling Seen as Important Step in Dry Enforcement

Mere Purchase Not Offense, But Delivery Contract Means Conspiracy

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27. (AP)—The Federal District Court today handed down a decision that the buyer of illegal liquor can be prosecuted if he is a party to its transportation.

The decision, regarded by Federal authorities here as of the highest importance in the enforcement of the national prohibition law, was handed down by Judge Kirkpatrick in the case of Alfred E. Norris, New York broker. Norris was fined $200 and will appeal the decision.

Judge Kirkpatrick said that the mere purchase of liquor is not an offense under the National Prohibition Act, and that the purchaser cannot be convicted of aiding and abetting the sale.

Science Scores in New Find

Latest Discovery Simplifies and May Cut Diabetes Treatment Cost

Active Principle Controlling Sugar in Human Body Finally Isolated

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Achievement of another step toward prolonging human life was announced to the American Association for the Advancement of Science tonight.

The advance is a chemical discovery, which furthers the attempt of medicine to simplify and possibly make less costly its treatment of diabetes and diseases which depend on control of the sugar in human bodies.

The discovery is the isolation of the active principle that controls sugar, called a hormone, which is operative in insulin, the recently discovered remedy for diabetes. Insulin now is made from animal extractions, and chemists wish to learn how to make it synthetically, because the animal extraction is laborious and costly and the purity of the product synthetically made can be assured with more ease. Isolation of the hormone was necessary before any attempt could be made to synthesize it.

SUCCESS ANNOUNCED

Announcement of the isolation was made by Prof. John J. Abel and Dr. H. Jensen of Johns Hopkins. Prof. Abel said:

"We believe this to be the first instance of the isolation of a powerful specific hormone in the form of a crystalline protein of a relatively simple composition."

The significance may be understood from the fact that hormones are the agencies of control of life produced by the ductless glands, and that heretofore but three of them have been isolated, adrenalin, thyroxin and pituitin. Prof. Abel isolated the last two named.

He said that in the new hormone more than 3 per cent sulphur has been found, also considerable nitrogen and five different amino-acids. These are acids such as appear in milk and other substances produced by living animals. Prof. Abel said work on identifying the remaining substances in the hormone is under way and that when it is completed the synthetics can be undertaken.

IMPORTANCE OF STEP

He defined the importance of hormones by saying "we are only at the beginning of knowledge concerning the chemical and physiological problems that are presented in this great field."

This was officially geology day for the association and Dr. Charles P. Berkey, head of the department of geology of Columbia University, defined the significance of the great discoveries of Roy Chapman Andrews of the American Museum and others in Mongolia.

The Mongolian discoveries, he said, do not yet disclose Asia as the birthplace of man, but partly verify that theory. He drew a sketchy picture of prehistoric man in Mongolia as revealed by fossils, saying, "the special significance lies in the fact that we were able to interpret not the culture alone, but the physical environment of the early man in the Gobi regions.

PREHISTORIC FINDS

These early men dug graves in three shapes, round, oval and rectangular. Some they fenced all about with slabs of stone, others they covered with slabs. Pictures were found on rocks of camels, horses and wild animals now extinct. Locally the quarries revealed tools of jasper, which in design correspond with flint tools made by prehistoric European peoples from 40,000 to 200,000 years ago.

Abruptly at a period estimated at about 1,000,000 years ago, Dr. Berkey said, there is a break beyond which no fossils throwing light on earlier man or his ancestors have been found. There is hope of finding these clews some day in Central Asia, because animal fossils have been uncovered there of an antiquity believed to be far greater. In the Gobi region he said have been discovered both the newest species of fossil remains and a more complete record of them than anywhere else in the world.

Prof. Alfred C. Lane of Tufts College described recent studies of the age of the world by the method of measuring the growth of salt in the sea carried there by rivers. These computations tend to bear out some of the newest theories of the earth's age, which put it at 1,500,000,000 years.

Chicago Census Shows 3,215,000

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Chicago is further intrenched as the second city of the United States with a population of 3,215,000, figures compiled by the Chicago Association of Commerce show.

This figure represents an increase of 75,000 over the 1927 population.

The association estimates metropolitan Chicago will have a population of 4,500,000 January 1, 1929, or 100,000 more than last year.

Bolivian Soldiers Again Hold Fort and Advance, Says Report

Washington Cabled Fighting Under Conditions Can Not be Avoided

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The Paraguayan government tonight advised its legation here that Bolivian forces "have occupied anew Fort Vanguardia and have advanced twelve miles farther into the interior."

Dr. Juan V. Ramirez, Charge d'Affaires of the legation, made public the advices from his government tonight and in a statement declared "this happening confirms the Paraguayan contention, which always has been held, that Bolivia never respects territorial rights as agreed upon in pacts."

Fort Vanguardia was the scene of the initial encounter between the troops of the two countries which started the present controversy.

The dispatch of the Paraguayan government said that "a very grave situation again has been created."

The dispatch from Asuncion to the legation is as follows:

"Bolivian forces have occupied anew Fort Vanguardia, abandoned after the last happening. The troops (Bolivian) still retain Boqueron (a Paraguayan fort) and have advanced four leagues (twelve miles) farther into the interior, threatening the zone occupied by the Mennonite colony. All this took place without fighting, taking advantage of the order given our troops to cease hostilities.

"As soon as it accepted the good offices of the government at Washington, this government (Paraguay) revoked the order which had been given to reoccupy Boqueron as proof of good faith.

"All the foregoing shows that Bolivia has not complied with its promises and a very grave situation again is created, because Paraguay alone cannot avoid new fighting."

PAN-AMERICAN GROUP ACHIEVES COMPROMISE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The conclusion by the Pan-American conference of a multilateral Pan-American arbitration treaty similar to the pacts recently negotiated between the United States and a number of European nations appeared likely today as a result of the deliberations of a subcommittee charged with composing the views of the parley's delegations.

In the meantime the conference's conciliation activities in the Bolivian-Paraguayan controversy are at a standstill awaiting replies from the disputing nations as to whether they will accept the draft protocol for conciliation prepared here two days ago.

CAUTION LIKELY

Immediate resumption of diplomatic relations between the two disputing countries as a result of the conciliation proceedings, however, is not foreseen. Both governments have indicated to the conference that they consider it advisable to allow the conciliation efforts to get well under way before ministers are exchanged again.

The hardest problems in connection with the framing of the conference's multilateral treaty of arbitration appears solved, members of the subcommittee said today, indicating that compromises have been reached on almost all points which had held up progress on this question for more than a week.

Enrique Olaya of Colombia, reporter of the committee, said he believes the treaty will, in the end, except only two categories of dis-

SALUTE BANNED BY HOOVER

Home-coming President-elect Signifies Wish to Dispense With Ceremony at Norfolk

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—In a message from the battleship Utah to the commandant of the Fifth Naval District at Norfolk, Va., President-elect Hoover requested today that "all salutes, honors and calls be dispensed with" in his arrival on January 6 at Hampton Roads and that all military and naval authorities at Norfolk and Fortress Monroe be so notified.

If the weather permits, the message stated, the Hoover party will disembark at Old Point Comfort after luncheon, going directly from the dock to the railroad station to take a special train to Washington.

All passengers will be put ashore in the Utah's own boats but two tugs have been requested to transfer baggage and supplies to the dock.

About sixty truckloads of material, it is estimated, will have to be transferred. Trucks and automobiles to take the party and their baggage from the dock to the special train also were requested. Arrangements for the special train have been made directly with railroad authorities.

HOOVER'S VESSEL QUITS PROXIMITY TO SHORES

ON BOARD U.S.S. UTAH, Dec. 27. (AP)—President-elect Hoover today left behind him the last sight of land that he will have until, ten days from now, the battleship Utah sights the Virginia Capes.

Rounding the northeastern corner of Brazil, a great shoulder of land jutting far into the Atlantic, the Utah this afternoon headed due north for the equator, which it will cross late tomorrow.

All morning the mountains of the Brazilian coast were visible twenty or thirty miles away, across the blue tropical waters, which rolled gently under southeastern trade winds.

The Utah is steaming about 350 miles a day and today had passed from the squall area of the last few days. Today's weather was pleasant, because the equatorial heat tempered the steady breeze.

During the morning the President-elect watched "general quarters," a ship drill consisting of battle practice, and theoretical firing with long-range guns.

Every bluejacket took his battle post and all the operations of engaging an enemy were carried out except the actual firing of the guns.

Mr. Hoover also during the day read and dictated letters and walked on deck for exercise.

Train Derailing Laid to Plot

Spikes Carefully Pulled from Rail by Men Who Knew Work

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—With only faint clews to go on, authorities of San Bernardino county are engaged in a vigorous search for two men thought to have been responsible for the deliberate wrecking of the Missionary, Chicago-bound Santa Fe train which was derailed thirty-five miles north of here late Wednesday night.

Railroad men and officials who viewed the scene of the wreckage, with three Pullmans overturned down an embankment, continued to express amazement over the fact that, despite the derailment of the train while traveling at a high speed, no one was killed and of the eight persons injured only one was seriously hurt. He is W. H. Burbage, attorney for the Santa Fe at Winslow, Ariz., who was sent to the Santa Fe Hospital at Los Angeles suffering from injuries to the left hip and back. He was the only one requiring hospital treatment.

OTHERS INJURED

Among those injured was Mrs. F. J. MacKie, wife of the assistant general manager of the Santa Fe, traveling in their private car attached to the Missionary. Mrs. MacKie's neck was sprained but she did not require hospital treatment.

Others in the official list of injured included:

Charles G. Kraus, Elizabeth, N. J., hip bruised.

David S. Flax, San Antonio, Tex., shin skinned.

I. W. McKissick, Pomona, right knee sprained.

E. F. Kavanaugh, Winslow, Ariz., employee, back sprained and head bruised.

O. J. Peck, employee, Los Angeles, knee sprained.

Mrs. Elmer Strohm, employee, Los Angeles, back sprained.

H. S. Wall, Los Angeles, bruises.

George Searle, master mechanic of Needles.

All but Burbage and Mrs. MacKie were able to continue on the journey eastward when a special train was made up and proceeded as the Missionary, six hours late.

RAIL LOOSENED

The wreck was caused by the loosening of a rail in the track after the spikes had been carefully drawn and piled up under a bush some distance from the track. That the work was done by persons thoroughly familiar with railroad construction and operation is indicated by the fact that the rail flange plates, binding the rails at the joints, had been removed, but the "bond" wires connecting the rails had not been disturbed. Had these wires been broken or loosened, the wreckers well knew, the automatic block signal would have flashed red instantly and the train would have been stopped before reaching the loosened rail.

"It's a plain case of malicious mischief," said MacKie as soon as he had inspected the rails. Immediately the railroad company, through W. K. Etter, Pacific Coast manager for the Santa Fe, offered a reward of $1000 for the capture of those responsible for the wreck.

ROBBERY MOTIVE DOUBTED

The authorities are not much inclined to the theory of mail robbery as the motive for the wreck, inasmuch as no registered mail is car-

FAMILY DECAY ANALYZED

Chicago Professor's Survey Shows Prosperity of Delicatessen Gauge of Marital Situation

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—If the family disintegrates inversely as the corner delicatessen prospers, American family life is decadent, statistics presented to the American Sociological Society indicated today. W. F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago offered the following "significant changes in family life in the United States." The figures were based on 1920 surveys:

One out of every eleven married women is working for pay outside the home.

BAKERIES INCREASE

From 1900 to 1920 the number of restaurant waiters increased about three times as fast as the number of families; restaurant owners increased four times as fast.

Bakery production increased 60 per cent from 1914 to 1925, while population increased 15 per cent.

Delicatessen dealers increased 43 per cent from 1910 to 1920, or about three times as fast as population.

Of the marriages contracted in 1928, Prof. Ogburn added, in all probability nearly one in five would end in a divorce court.

Other statistics given by Prof. Ogburn were:

About one in ten go through life without marrying.

ONE WIDOW IN TEN

At the age period when most men and women are found married, only five out of six are married; one out of every six is widowed, divorced or single.

Of all females over 15 years of age, one out of ten is a widow.

City life discourages marriage about 10 per cent.

The group of single women in cities of the same population as country regions and with the same age distribution, is two-thirds larger than the similar group of single women in the country.

The percentage who had never married in 1890 was 36.9 per cent; in 1920, when the age distribution was the same, the percentage was 35.3.

COOLIDGE BAGS FIVE BIRDS

Three Pheasants and Two Wild Turkeys Result of Hunt on Island Preserve of Georgia Host

SAPELO ISLAND (Ga.) Dec. 27. (AP)—On the well-stocked game preserves of Howard E. Coffin, President Coolidge tested his marksmanship today on live fowl and found it good. Three pheasants and two wild turkeys reposed in the Presidential game bag when he returned with his party to the island mansion of the Coffins and there was a satisfied smile on his face as he surveyed the result of his sport.

So far as is known these were the first live birds to fall before Mr. Coolidge's gun. Shooting is a sport that caught his fancy while vacationing in Wisconsin last summer when he showed considerable ability at shooting clay pigeons.

Again during his recent Thanksgiving vacation in Virginia, Mr. Coolidge made high scores at the traps, but when he went hunting for quail he was disappointed when five shots went amiss.

HUNT LIKE ENGLISH

Today's hunting took place on Little Sapelo Island, which is departed from Sapelo Island proper by a narrow channel and expanse of marsh grass. Accompanied by Col. Latrobe, his military aide; Alfred W. Jones of Brunswick, Edward Varey, a relative of Mr. Coffin, and Col. E. W. Starling of the White House secret service, Mr. Coolidge left Sapelo in a speedboat for the game preserve.

The hunting was done in the English fashion. The President and Col. Starling, the only other member of the party to carry a gun, stationed themselves at one side of a broad field, located at the center of the island, while negro beaters worked their way through the surrounding brush, flushing the birds and turning them in the direction of the field. As they flew past, Mr. Coolidge and Col. Starling alternately blazed away at the fast-moving targets, while the remainder of the party, standing near by, condoled or congratulated the hunters on the success or failure of their shots. Starling brought down three pheasants.

WEARS HUGE HAT

The wide sombrero presented to the President during his vacation a year ago last summer in the Black Hills and which has proved a favorite piece of headgear when hunting or fishing have been in prospect, was chosen by Mr. Coolidge as part of his equipment for today's expedition. A leather jacket, riding breeches and high laced boots completed his costume.

Another hunting party is planned for tomorrow morning, when Mrs. Coolidge may be a member. There is a possibility, too, that if she goes along, the First Lady may try a shot or two with a light fowling piece provided by her host.

While the President was hunting today Mrs. Coolidge posed for Frank O. Salisbury, an English artist, who accompanied the Coolidges to Georgia to make a portrait of the President for the New York Genealogi-

Stock Gambling Denounced by Federal Bank Man

Booms Dearly Paid for, He Tells Statisticians

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Millionaires have increased from 7000 in 1914 to between 30,000 and 40,000 in 1928, Carl Snyder of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York told the American Statistical Association in convention today.

"Possibly half or more of these (new millionaires) have been created by the violent debasement in the value of the currency which has taken place since the beginning of the war," he said. "A considerable part of the present number also must be due to the enormous rise in the value of securities since the war, and to the colossal manipulation in security values, incomparably the greatest gamble the world has ever known.

"The apparent gains of prosperity, or at least of booms, are largely illusory, and in so far as they are a reality have been, in the past at least, too dearly paid for. Clearly true prosperity, that is, the general diffusion of comfort and well-being among the largest possible number of the population, is not dependent on inflation and boom."

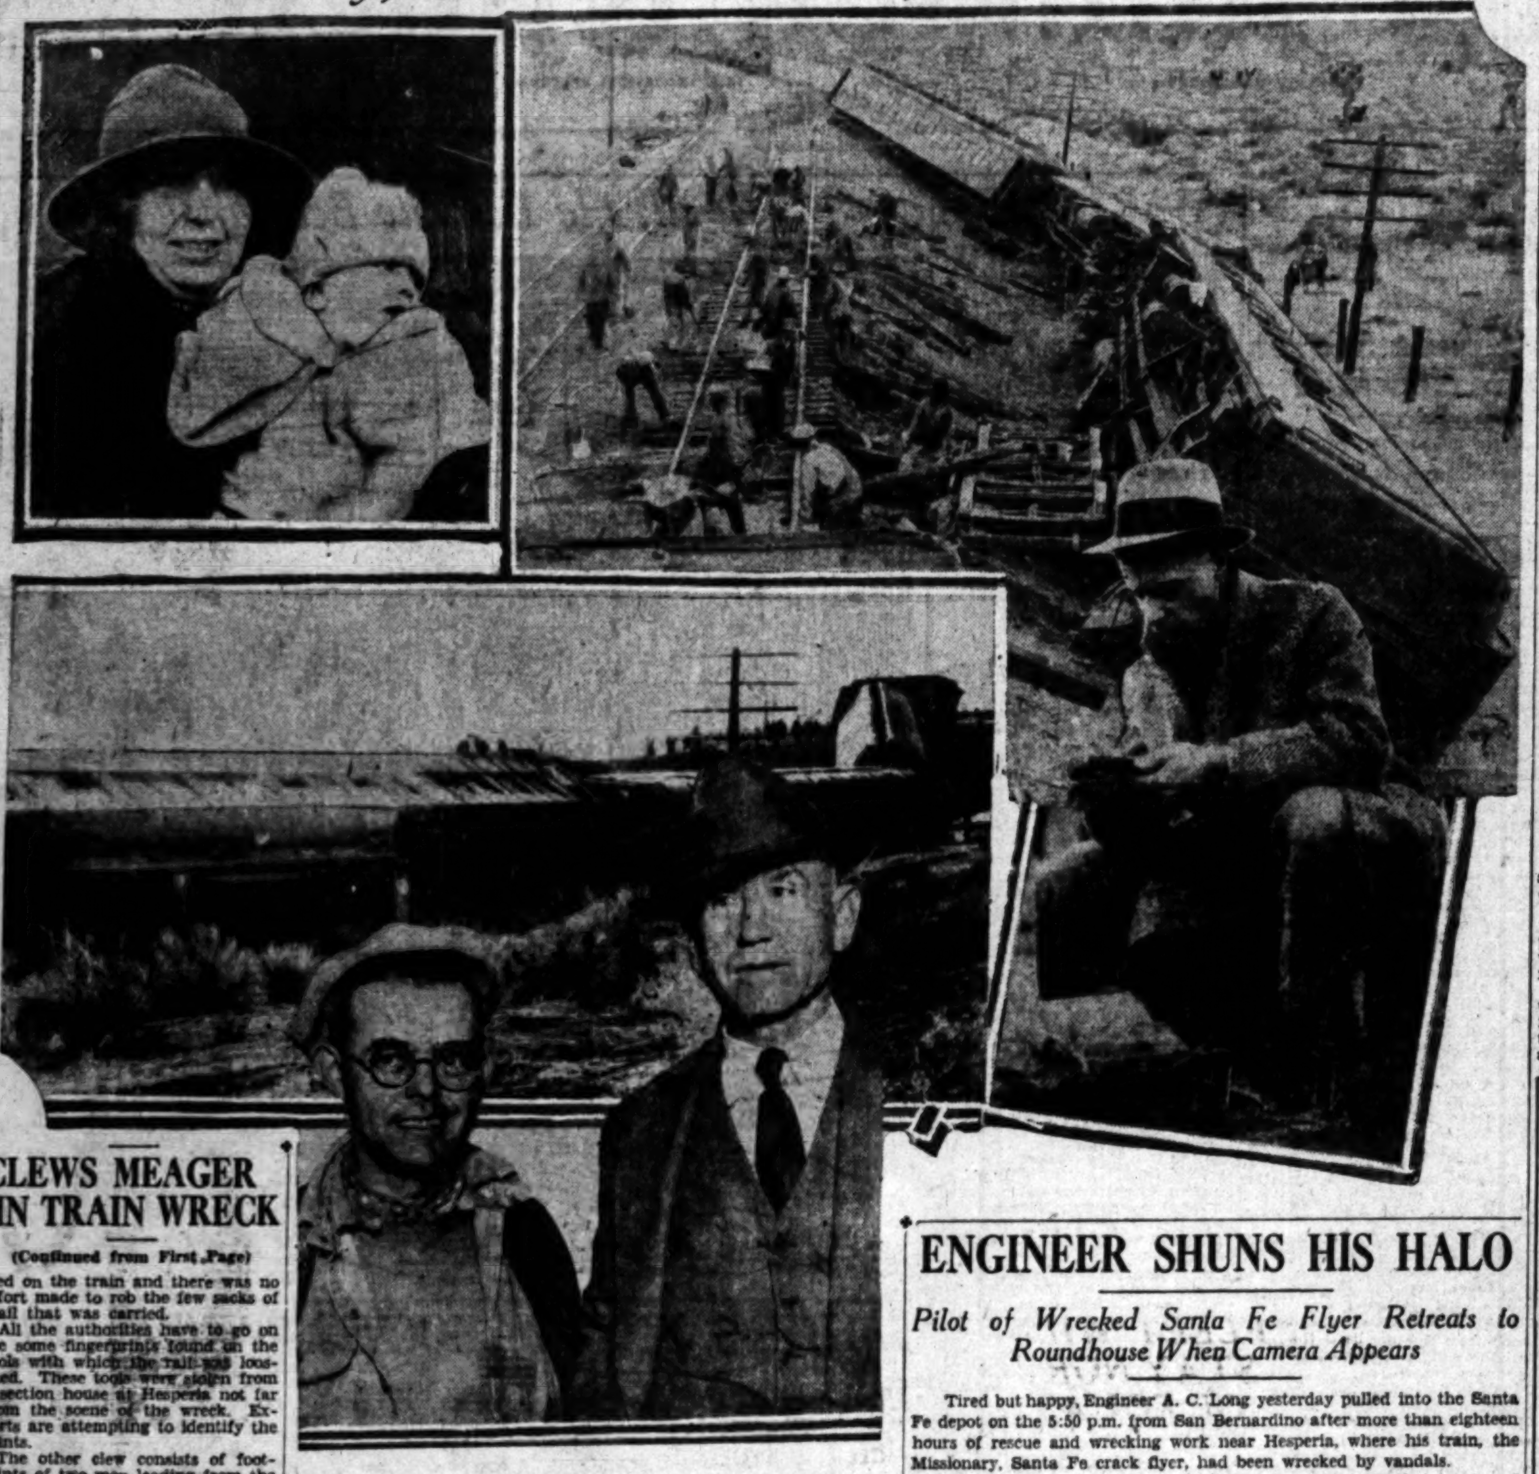
How 'Missionary,' Crack Santa Fe Train, Appeared After Derailment



Spectacular Plunge Miraculously Unmarked by Fatality

CLEWS MEAGER IN TRAIN WRECK

ried on the train and there was no effort made to rob the few sacks of mail that was carried.

All the authorities have to go on are some fingerprints found on the tools with which the rail was loosened. These tools were stolen from a section house at Hesperia not far from the scene of the wreck. Experts are attempting to identify the prints.

The other clew consists of footprints of two men leading from the scene of the wreck to a roadway not far distant, where, it is thought, the plotters parked their automobile and then fled in it.

AUTO SEEN PARKED

The automobile was seen parked on the road by J. B. Lyons, a brakeman on a freight train which passed over the tracks just a half-hour before the fast passenger train came roaring through the night.

Civil authorities and the railroad's own special police under Chief Phillips, are carrying on a diligent hunt for the train wreckers.

Traffic on the line was not interrupted.

Only the courage presence of mind, and skill of A. C. Long of Los Angeles, engineer, who brought his train to a stop within fifteen car lengths after his locomotive hurtled over the loosened rail and he felt the train leaving the track; saved the lives of passengers.

The first thought which flashed through the mind of Long when his train left the rails was of the passengers sleeping in the long string of steel coaches behind him. His first warning of the impending wreck came when the front trucks of the locomotive lurched from the track and began jolting over the wooden ties.

SEES TRAIN BREAK

Even as his hand leaped to the emergency air brake, Long turned his head backward, just in time to see his train break and three of the long steel coaches go plunging over the steep embankment.

"We were breezing along between forty and forty-five miles an hour," said Long as he stood before the roaring boiler of his cab obligingly drying out the trousers of a luckless passenger who was pitched from a Pullman car into a mud puddle. "We were on time and in no particular hurry. Just after the locomotive rounded a wide turn east of Hesperia the front of the engine gave a terrible lurch and I knew immediately we were off the track.

"Almost before I fully realized what had happened I had jammed the emergency air full on and we were grinding to an agonizing halt. As I yanked the lever I looked back over my shoulder and then and there I experienced the worst sensation in my life for three Pullman cars had pitched from the tracks and had gone rolling down the embankment and I was certain that most of the sleeping passengers were either killed or badly injured.

ABSENCE OF NOISE

"Right away, I guess it was before the train was fully stopped I jumped out of the cab and dashed back toward the cars. What impressed me was the almost absolute absence of noise.

"I was prepared for shrieks and groans but I heard nothing and the silence seemed almost worse than cries of agony would have been. . . . and then," Engineer Long continued, "followed a heartrending half-hour before we finally concluded that, impossible though it seemed, no one was dead or even critically injured. I don't want to live through another forty minutes like that again."

CLIMAX TO DREAM

The wreck came as an unpleasantly realistic climax to a dream for Rev. Dr. G. W. Cassidy of Wichita, Kan., who was returning to his home after a visit with Mrs. Cassidy at Long Beach.

"I retired rather early while the train was between Los Angeles and San Bernardino," said Dr. Cassidy. "I went immediately to sleep and started dreaming of earthquakes. My dreams flitted from one earthquake to another, possibly induced by the jolting of the train. Anyway, after a particularly violent temblor I awoke and found myself sprawled in the middle of a Pullman car, a knot on my head where I bumped it against a seat. 'A most remarkably realistic dream,' I said to myself and then I decided to get up and investigate."

Dr. Cassidy is field secretary for the Baptist Church in the Wichita district.

OFFICIAL'S EXPERIENCE

Mr. Mackie, of the Santa Fe Coast lines was prepared to retire in his private car attached to the rear of the train when the wreck occurred. "I knew the instant that I felt the air brakes that something had happened," said Mr. Mackie, "then came the lurch and the train left the tracks. I rushed out of my car as quickly as I could and started up the track. I saw these three cars lying down the embankment. There wasn't a sound. There was no time to be frightened. I heard a woman moan slightly; then presently some one opened a door and the people began to crawl out. There was but one person, Mr. Burbage, hurt badly. The engineer, Mr. Long, handled his air like a master. His handling of the train in the emergency undoubtedly prevented the wreck from being far more serious. He made a beautiful stop, halting the train within fifteen carlengths."

Mr. Mackie opened his car to Mrs. Louis Nardine of Jerome, Ariz., and her 7-months-old baby, Willis, who had been thrown off a berth in one of the overturned cars. Later Mr. Mackie, personally directing the relief work, ordered equipment and looked for the comfort of the passengers. Mrs. Nardine's baby, a chubby boy with rosy cheeks, didn't mind the wreck. He was thrown from an upper berth across the aisle into an adjoining berth, landing on a big pillow. He didn't even cry. Mrs. Nardine was thrown on top of the baby and could not get out of the berth.

H. S. Wall, mechanical superintendent of the Coast lines, who occupied an adjoining berth, directed relief workers, who opened a window, made a hammock out of a sheet and lifted the baby out of the window. Then Mrs. Nardine was removed. She retired to Mr. Mackie's car and slept until the relief train arrived.

BABES HURLED INTO AISLE

In a lower berth in one of the Pullmans that rolled down the twenty-foot embankment were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Romeo, 876 Perris street, San Bernardino, and their twin babies, Ralph and Rose Mary, 5 months old.

When the car left the tracks Mrs. Romeo awoke in a start and before she could reach for her babies they were hurled across the aisle into the opposite berth. Ralph cried a little, but Rose Mary slept blithely on and did not awake until two hours later, then to cry lustily for a bottle. "I was afraid my babies were hurt," said Mrs. Romeo, "but when I crawled across the aisle my fears were dispelled and I thought nothing of myself. No, I was not badly frightened. It all happened so suddenly that it was over before I was fully awake."

Mrs. E. Strohm, 1855 Echo Park avenue, Los Angeles, and her son, John were in the same car. "The cars began to jump around," said John, "and in an instant it seemed the whole train rolled down the hill. I tried to reach for something to hold on, but I was thrown out of my berth across the aisle. Mother was also thrown out. In the next berth was a woman who proudly shouted that her fear had been confirmed. 'I had a premonition that something was going to happen,' she said. This woman had been thrown across the aisle into a man's berth. We all crawled out, got what clothing we could find and left the car. No one appeared greatly excited. There was no screaming or shouting. It was what I would call an orderly train wreck."

CONDUCTOR'S STORY

Conductor J. J. Scott, 1146 Dewey Drive, Los Angeles, a veteran railroader who began his career in 1888, realized what was occurring the minute he "felt the air," he said. "In an instant we were in the ditch," he said. "I left my car, which was not overturned, and started up the track. There wasn't a sound any where. I thought they were all dead. I opened some of the doors and in a few minutes learned that few, if any, of the passengers had been hurt. I then instructed my flagman to watch the track. I've seen many wrecks in my time but this was the queerest I've ever seen. Nobody killed or even badly hurt. We were lucky."

Frank Reardon, Santa Fe traffic inspector of Winslow, and Mrs. Reardon, who boarded the train at San Bernardino, had just retired. Mr. Reardon, a former engineer, sensed what had happened when the engineer applied the brakes. "I grabbed my wife to prevent her from falling out of the berth," he said. "The window was broken on our side of the car but we were not even scratched. There was no excitement among the passengers, they simply crawled out of their berths and put on their clothes and left the cars."

Mrs. W. B. Homer of Seligman, Ariz., was "just awful glad to get out the wreck without even a scratch." She said emphatically, "You know it was my first train wreck."

ENGINEER SHUNS HIS HALO

Pilot of Wrecked Santa Fe Flyer Retreats to Roundhouse When Camera Appears

Tired but happy, Engineer A. C. Long yesterday pulled into the Santa Fe depot on the 5:50 p.m. from San Bernardino after more than eighteen hours of rescue and wrecking work near Hesperia, where his train, the Missionary, Santa Fe crack flyer, had been wrecked by vandals.

Too modest to pose, he ducked the cameraman at the depot and hopped on to an engine speeding toward the roundhouse.

"I've only done what anybody else would have done in my place," he explained as the locomotive rolled away.

Fifteen minutes later, however, he was cornered at the roundhouse and, coaxed by a dozen of his colleagues, he submitted to the inevitable and faced the lens.

"Gee, this looks like seeking publicity," he grumbled. "The real hero in this rescue work is General Manager Mackie. He did the job."

WORK OUTSTANDING

But C. A. Baldridge, Long's fireman, had a different version.

"Al did his stuff, all right," he declared sotto voce. "Why, the train hadn't even stopped yet after the loosened rail gave way, when Long hopped off the cabin to help rescue passengers. And if he hadn't thrown on the air and emergency brakes in a split second I don't know what would have happened to all of us. He stopped that train within fifteen car lengths, with the engine bounding over the ties."

A little later, Long would admit that he had performed similar feats of quick action before when hundreds of lives hung in the balance during a would-be collision, seven years ago. At that time passengers collected a purse of $1000 to show their gratitude to this unassuming railroad man. Four years ago, near Monrovia, he saved his train a second time by throwing on the brakes at the psychological moment, averting a collision.

OFFICIAL PRAISE

"I felt the left rail giving way while rounding the peak of Cajon," Long finally explained Tuesday night's wreck. "Then came a shower of sparks and, without waiting another second, I closed the throttle and slapped on the brakes. We were thirty-five miles north of San Bernardino. Outside of that I'm very hungry and need some sleep to be on the job again tonight."

And saying this, the engineer of the Missionary had gained the dark surrounding the roundhouse out on Butte street.

High tribute was paid to Long's courage and ability by F. J. Mackie, acting assistant general manager of the Santa Fe, who, with a number of other officials, was riding in the business car attached to the Missionary.

"Long is one of the best engineers on the road," Mr. Mackie stated, "and the manner in which he met the emergency undoubtedly saved the lives of a number of passengers."

AWARD TO PARALYZED LABORER AFFIRMED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27. (AP)—Henry Robbie, 43 years of age, laborer who became permanently paralyzed four years ago when he fell thirty feet through a roof skylight, today won a judgment for $50,000 against the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and the London Guarantee and Accident Company. The State District Court of Appeal confirmed a lower court judgment.

FARMERS IN NORTHWEST ORGANIZED

New Association to Work for Legislation Affecting Spring-Wheat Area

FARGO (N. D.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Correlating the activities of forces in the development and protection of farming and other interests of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana will be the task of the Northwest Agricultural Foundation, organized here today.

The conference, out of which the organization was developed, was called by the greater North Dakota Association, and was attended by representatives of farmers' unions, farm bureaus and civic organizations of the Northwest.

The first big undertaking of the new organization will be to attempt to present a united front in matters of legislation affecting the spring-wheat area, now pending before Congress.

A tariff committee was named and in a resolution it was directed to adopt as its principle for all requests for tariff increases the policy "that protection which will give to the average American farmer cost of production including an American standard of living."

Dr. John Lee Coulter, president of the North Dakota Agricultural College, is president of the new organization.

Zionists Urged to Strive for Seat in League

VIENNA, Dec. 27. (AP)—Jewish representation in the League of Nations was advocated at today's session of the third world conference of Zionist Revisionists by Vladimir Savotinsky, a delegate.

He also urged the Zionists to establish a representative body at the seat of mandatory power at London. He said the final goal of the Jews in Palestine, after they had become numerically superior to the Arabs through immigration, must be the creation of a Zionist state. He urged the establishment of a Jewish legionary force in Palestine to conserve the Zionist interests and he asserted the recent action of the Berlin Zionist Congress in admitting to the council of the Jewish agency an equal number of non-Zionists imperiled the whole Zionist movement.

INSANITY PLEA AGAIN UPHELD

State Supreme Court Backs New California Law

Justice Preston Dissents on Inhumane Grounds

Ruling Made in Affirming Two Convictions

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Over the dissenting vote of Associate Justice Preston, the State Supreme Court today again upheld the new State law permitting a plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" in affirming the convictions of two murderers now awaiting execution in San Quentin prison.

The appeals were made by Leong Fook, a Chinese, convicted of murdering a Chinese woman in Tulare county last April, and Joseph Troche, found guilty of murdering his sweetheart, Mary Lorenzo, in Placer county last year. Both were tried on the new insanity plea. They were convicted and appealed on the grounds that the law is unconstitutional.

In dissenting, Judge Preston declared that the lower court decisions should be reversed on the grounds that the insanity plea is inhumane and works for the conviction of innocent men.

"Under the provisions of this law the scales of justice are out of balance," he said. "A man cannot be both guilty and innocent of a single charge at the same time. If an insane man is convicted and then an inquiry must be made as to his innocence, something is radically wrong. On its face the law is a step backward to the inhumane conditions of the dark ages."

The plea of insanity, Judge Preston averred, is for practical purposes gone. Its loss, he declared, will work for the conviction of innocent men.

"The plea of not guilty contains within it, indissolubly, the plea of insanity, and no legitimate legislative declaration can remove it," he asserted.

Ten on List Returned More Than $1,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The Treasury's annual list of tax refunds, covering the fiscal year ending last June 30, when $142,393,567 in illegally and erroneously collected taxes was returned to 168,501 individuals and corporations, made its appearance today at the Capitol.

The list, made public by the House Committee on Expenditures, carried only those refunds over $500 and included claim allowances on income, capital stock, sales and estate taxes collected for 1928 and prior years. Insurance companies, mills, industrial corporations, and rich estates were numerous in the list where large refunds were involved, while many golf clubs and thousands of individuals appeared in the smaller categories.

TEN PASS MILLION

Ten refunds amounted to more than $1,000,000 with the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company of Winston-Salem, N. C., receiving the largest amount—$6,213,808. The American Tobacco Company and subsidiaries, of New York, was next with $4,270,059.

Although a total of $130,000,000 was made available for tax refunds this fiscal year, a deficiency estimate of $75,000,000 recently was transmitted to Congress by President Coolidge to cover more claims, bringing the total to be returned by next June 30 to $205,000,000. While these refunds will not be made public until next year, Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, recently declared on the floor of the House that the United States Steel Corporation would receive more than $15,000,000 of the total and that if settlements on additional claims were made on the same basis that corporation would be returned almost $30,000,000 more.

ROBBER KILLS WITH POISON

Guggenheim Laboratory Files Rifled After Death of Watchman and Binding of Two Others

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—A powerful poison found in the coffee of a lifeless night watchman and the rifled files of a chemical research laboratory today gave a police a working background in a hunt for a robber-killer.

The robber worked alone, but he put out of opposition three men and had the fag end of the night to prowl about the Guggenheim Brothers' laboratory in search of what he wanted—drugs, valuable metals or secret formulae. Two containers of polluted coffee were found beside the poisoned watchman.

Police tonight are seeking James Baker, 22 years of age, former employee at the laboratory. The poison which police believe killed the watchman apparently had been taken from the only unlabeled container in the place. Revenge in a grudge is suggested as a motive for the crime.

CAPTIVES FREE SELVES

The killing occurred during the night and was revealed about daybreak when Elmer Mayhew, a truck driver, and his helper, Chester Macauley, both of Baltimore, wriggled from the bonds into which they walked when they arrived at the plant with a load of tear gas from Baltimore

As police reconstructed the movements of the marauder, he had stood with pointed pistol over Henry Gaw, 29, the watchman and laboratory assistant, until the victim had gulped down one fatal mouthful of coffee, before Macauley hammered at the gate of the plant for admission of the truck. A man who, they believe, resembled a former employee let them in.

At the point of a gun Mayhew was forced, he said, to tie up Macauley and in turn he himself was tied up by the man. He struggled and worked himself partly loose, but a blow on the head knocked him senseless. When he awoke $24 had been taken from his pocket.

SECOND ROBBERY OF KIND

Mayhew freed himself first and summoned a policeman from the street and then returned and released MacAuley the three found Gaw in a second-floor laboratory where he had evidently been dragged from a testing room. His head was pillowed on a telephone book and his arms were crossed in front of him. On the table police found Gaw's lunch and coffee, the coffee grown cold and thick with standing. A hasty analysis disclosed it contained poison.

The files had been disturbed but the safe, containing about $1000 in experimental metals, was untouched. There were no narcotics or cash in the safe.

The laboratory last May was the scene of a hold-up, executed under circumstances similar to those in which today's robbery was perpetrated. Two watchmen while at lunch were bound, while three robbers forced a steel locker and escaped with platinum dishes valued at $800.

FLEET WILL STAY NORTH OF EQUATOR

Navy Secretary Changes Spring Maneuver Plans in South Pacific Waters

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur announced today that the scouting and battle fleets in their joint maneuvers in the South Pacific this spring will not visit South American ports and will remain north of the equator.

The tentative schedule of the fleet movements made public several weeks ago, included a visit by a considerable portion of the fleet to Callao, Peru, and by the submarines of the control force to Cartagena, Colombia.

By the final schedule for the winter maneuvers, issued today by the Navy Department, the scouting fleet will sail January 8 from Hampton Roads, and the battle fleet January 15 from Los Angeles Harbor, both fleets concentrating in the Gulf of Panama later in the month.

Until early in March they will be based in the Canal Zone, carrying out fleet problems in the Pacific and returning to port for fuel and supplies. The scouting fleet will leave March 8 for gunnery practice at Guantanamo, Cuba, and the battle fleet March 11, to return to Los Angeles.

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Four times as much mail was carried on the transcontinental air-mail route between New York and the Pacific Coast between the 15th and 25th insts. this year as during the corresponding period in 1926, the Post-office Department has announced.

This year during the ten-day period 22,000 pounds were carried westerly and 26,000 pounds easterly. In 1926 the figures were 5000 pounds each way and in 1927, 11,000 and 10,000 pounds, respectively.

CHINA'S TREATY LIST INCREASES

Added Recognition Revealed by Publication of Pacts

England and Other Nations Follow American Lead

Tariff Autonomy Included in Latest Agreements

LONDON, Dec. 27. (AP)—Recognition of China's new national government by several European nations which at the same time concur in full Chinese tariff autonomy is revealed in publication of treaties with England, Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Portugal today.

In addition, the treaties with Denmark and Portugal give up extraterritorial rights beginning with 1930. Still another treaty was signed at noon today at Nanking between Chinese Nationalist representatives and representatives of the Spanish government, but its terms are not yet known.

ENGLISH AGREEMENT

Of the treaties published today that with England is likely to have the most far-reaching effect. By virtue of it Chinese goods are given a preferred nation rating at all ports in the British Isles and throughout the colonies as long as British goods are given the preferred nation rating in China. But beyond this bargaining the infant Chinese government is left to have its own way at its customs houses—so far as England, and the other smaller nations involved today, are concerned.

The English treaty cancels all provisions of former treaties which in any way limited China's right to fix her national customs tariffs or impose tonnage dues in such manner as she sees fit. The tariff autonomy thus realized has been sought by the Nationalist government since its very inception; England, and other countries recognizing it, have followed prior similar action by the United States, France and Germany, and a number of other nations.

VIEWED WITH FAVOR

Publication of the new treaty today attracted wide attention in manufacturing and exporting circles, where it was viewed with considerable favor. Assuming that the Nationalist government will be able to enforce order in China and maintain the terms of the treaty it is believed here that a solid good should accrue from it to British trade.

Some British sources, however, express serious doubt as to whether the new government will be able to enforce anything which the de facto authorities of the Chinese provinces disapprove.

Official Denial Given Reports of Toral Death

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Official denial was forthcoming today of reports widely circulated throughout Mexico to the effect that Jose de Leon Toral, assassin of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, had died in prison. Some reports had it that he had been poisoned, and others that he had succumbed to an acute colic.

Col. Islas, director of the Federal prison where Toral and his fellow-prisoner, Mother Concepcion Aceevedo y de la Llata, are confined, said today that he is taking special precautions lest any harm befall the couple while they are in his custody.

On Christmas Day Toral was allowed to see members of his family who brought him gifts and delicacies in prison.

Chicago Broker in Race to Coast

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—E. J. Robinson, broker, left here today in an effort to break the record for actual running time between Chicago and Los Angeles in a stock automobile and collect a $5000 wager with W. R. Brailsford, another broker, who does not believe it can be done.

Robinson carries Harry Fisk as a companion and will go by way of Cairo, Memphis and Dallas, with the route from that point uncertain.

A Chicago jeweler who last year attempted a race against time to Los Angeles was killed when his car was wrecked.

Gas and Electric Costs Reduced

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Through rate reductions and refusal to grant increases in some cases, the State Railroad Commission has saved California householders $3,500,000 in gas and electric costs during the last twelve months, the commission announced here today.

Reductions in some parts of the State amounted to as much as 10 per cent, the commission added.

Vienna Skids as Rain Freezes

VIENNA, Dec. 27. (AP)—A rainfall followed by a period of intense cold made the streets of Vienna so slippery last night that nearly 150 persons suffered more or less serious injuries through falls.

The Allgemeine Krenkenhause, the city's biggest hospital, alone treated sixty-six cases of fractures, dislocations and bruises, while other hospitals also had many cases of broken legs and arms.

Among the seriously injured was the famous Hungarian Countess Esterhazy, who fractured her pelvis.

How Doctors Treat Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsilitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

Get a family package, containing full directions, only 35 cents. At any drug store.—[Advertisement.

Do these two things to avoid "flu"

Keep your system in good condition; also protect your nose and throat

There's no need to get panicky, because the papers are full of news of an influenza epidemic. There's no use in isolating yourself because a lot of other people are sick with it. If you take certain simple precautions every day—and then don't worry—the chances are you will throw off any "flu" germs you are exposed to, and keep well.

We're not recommending that you dose yourself with a lot of medicines, either. Just observe two common-sense health rules which can be easily followed.

FIRST of all, make sure your system is in first class order. Don't let it get slowed up or sluggish. See to it that it functions perfectly. The easiest way to get run down and in a condition to pick up disease is to neglect this all-important matter.

Physicians agree that, particularly in times of epidemic, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable. Many doctors are therefore prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system in any way.

Nujol can't possibly upset you or disagree with you. For it contains absolutely no medicine or drugs.

Get a bottle today at your nearest drug store and start taking Nujol tonight as one simple way to keep fit and to protect yourself against influenza.

That's the first precaution. Now for the second. Keep your nose and throat well protected with Mistol.

Dr. David says:

"You can't help breathing air that's laden with 'flu' germs and other bacteria these days. But you can protect your nose and throat against them. Keep them from lodging there and breeding and causing trouble.

"I'm advising all my patients these days to keep Mistol on hand and use it regularly. The first thing in the morning before you go out. And again at night when you come home. Don't be afraid to use it freely. It will do no harm. And then stop worrying. You've done all you can to safeguard yourself.

"Put Mistol up your nose. There's a special dropper that comes in every package that makes it very easy to use. Just tilt your head back and drop it in your nose until you feel it in your throat. You'll notice the pleasant, cleansing effect at once. Mistol clears your head and makes breathing easy. It has a healing, soothing effect on the membranes and relieves any irritation or inflammation. It helps dry up a running nose. Use it, too, as a gargle. Mistol is good for a sore throat or hacking cough. And above all, protects the nose and throat against germs.

"Don't wait till you begin to sneeze or your throat aches. Take my advice and get a bottle of Mistol today. Every druggist knows it."

The combination treatment of Nujol and Mistol is a double safeguard against influenza. Start this wise two-fold precaution now. Don't delay.

Nujol and Mistol are both made by the same famous laboratories, of the finest quality materials and with the greatest skill possible. Both preparations are harmless. At all druggists. Aren't they worth trying?

CHICAGO CRIME WAVE ANALYZED

New Prosecutor Puts Blame on Graft Millions

City's Foreign Population Held Obstacle

More Judges and Police Deemed Necessary

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—John A. Swanson, a six-foot-two giant, whose 200 pounds seem cramped in the office of the State's Attorney, which he assumed this month, put Chicago crime under the microscope today, analyzed its causes and prescribed his remedy.

"Don't look for miracles," said the man who was swept into office as the voters' protest against rampant crime. "Citizens themselves must show some of the backbone and courage which they expect of me and my assistants."

He spoke of the bombings that have destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of Chicago property; he talked of slayings, of hoodlum rule, of gangsters and gunmen; and he picked each felony apart, seeking its basic cause.

The State's Attorney strode nervously about the small office in the Criminal Courts Building. He spoke particularly of bombings, for he himself narrowly escaped death when a bomb was tossed at him a few weeks before the primary election last April.

BLAMES REVENUE

The "immense revenue collected by organized crime" is, in the State's Attorney's opinion, the principal obstacle in Chicago to law enforcement.

"A great share of this immense revenue, running into millions, is collected from liquor-law violators, racketeers, commercial vice leaders and gamblers, and is spent for protection," he said. "The patrolman of a beat is 'fixed.' Then his sergeant, then the lieutenant. In order to get the facts, the State's Attorney's office must conduct its own investigation, and that takes time."

The attorney paused at a window and gazed toward the Chicago River, said to contain more secrets of past crimes than the River Seine. He pushed his spectacles to the top of his forehead.

"Why do we have more bombings in Chicago than other cities? It is a peculiar psychology, this bombing. Why we of Chicago seem to suffer more from this form of terrorism I do not know.

"Dynamite is not hard to obtain. Workers have no great difficulty in sneaking sticks from jobs where they are employed. And it can be bought without a great deal of red tape.

"We hope to shut off the source of dynamite to the racketeers and blackhanders."

Up to the 1st inst. 103 bombs were thrown in Chicago this year. More than 500 persons have been slain in the city since January 1, last. As to the reason for the wholesale homicides, State's Attorney Swanson, who was born, reared and has lived his entire life here, balked in explanation.

"Give me time," he parried. "I have been in office a comparatively few days and I will be able to tell you more about that later.

"Chicago is a hundred cities in one, made up of all nationalities," he continued. "A good percentage of the inhabitants do not read or speak American—I say American because the statute of the State of Illinois defines the language as 'American' rather than 'English.'

"It is difficult to imbue these foreigners with respect for law and order. Countries that have been drilled for centuries in obedience to law, where the inhabitants are of one race, do not have the problems we in America do."

NEED OF JUDGES

To aid him in his huge job, State's Attorney Swanson said selection of juries must be speeded up, more judges must be obtained, and there must be more co-operation on the part of the citizenry.

Shortly after he took office, trouble broke out in connection with the trial of three men for the kidnapping of 10-year-old Billy Ranieri. Blackhand letters threatened the trial judge, the prosecutors and the witnesses with death.

State's Attorney Swanson leaves no doubt that he realizes the seriousness of the situation he faces, or of the danger he and his assistants stand of losing their lives. But he is equally clear as to his plans.

"My job," he said, "is to prosecute all crime. Swift, sure, severe punishment has always been the best deterrent for crime, and this will be the objective of this office."

"Chicago," explained Mr. Swanson, "is ideally located for criminals. Highways and railroads radiate in all directions. The city is a dumping ground for undesirables.

POLICE INADEQUATE

"Chicago covers a great deal of territory in comparison to its larger sister city, New York. Long, straight, wide streets tend for an easy getaway and there are 5500 policemen to guard the city's 3,000,000 inhabitants. New York has three times that many police for a population twice as large, and a smaller territory to cover."

The new holder of the prosecutor's office is 54 years of age. He resigned as judge of Cook county Circuit Court to make the race for State's Attorney, at the request of United States Senator Deneen and other leaders of the faction intent on defeating the ticket of Mayor Thompson and State's Attorney Crowe.

LOSING ONE'S PANTS DIFFERENT

Hold-up Victim Submits Tamely to Robbery, Binding and Gag, But When Bandit Cuts Galluses He Bursts Bonds and Beats Highwayman

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—George Wood, salesman, submitted tamely today to being held up and robbed of his watch and money, and offered no protest when the robber demanded a rope with which to tie him, producing a length of rope from his automobile for the purpose.

When the robber returned and stuffed a handkerchief in Wood's mouth, Wood still had no complaint, but the limit was reached when the thief came back the second time and snipped Wood's suspenders, allowing his trousers to come loose from their moorings in order to hamper any efforts at capture Wood might undertake.

That was too much. Wood broke the ropes that bound him, kicked off his pants, hit the hold-up man in the jaw, snatched his pistol and whacked him over the head with it.

Then Wood became docile again and allowed the thief to escape while he was removing the handkerchief from his mouth.

EXTRA-SESSION OPINIONS CLASH

Congress in Confusion Over Farm Measure

Many Urge Legislation This Winter

Hoover Not Expected to Interfere

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—The special session problem confronting President-elect Hoover became even more muddled today with additional Republican leaders dividing on when the session should be held and whether farm relief as well as tariff revision should be left to it.

It became increasingly apparent that when Mr. Hoover sets foot in the capital the strongest sort of pressure will be exerted by his supporters in Congress in an effort to get him to straighten out the tangle despite word from the Utah that he is determined not to mix into legislative affairs until after his inauguration on March 4.

The question of whether a farm bill is to be passed at this session is one vitally affecting both the present and incoming administrations and it is the private hope of some Senators and Representatives that President Coolidge, after Hoover's return, will find a way of ending the chaotic situation in Congress in a way satisfactory to both. One of the first things Mr. Hoover will do upon his arrival January 8, will be to report to the President upon his South American tour and this will afford an early opportunity for them to talk over any mutual interests which the President may indicate a desire to discuss.

SHORTRIDGE VIEWS

Today's score of extra-session views from Capitol Hill was a stand-off with Senator Shortridge, Republican of California, and Nye, Republican of North Dakota, joining the ranks of those who want farm legislation enacted this session, and Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, and Representative Clark, Republican of New York, urging that this question be held over for a special session under Mr. Hoover.

Their statements only added to the confusion and strengthened the belief that no farm bill will be passed this session unless out of the turmoil finally some way is found to get Hoover's wishes before Congress without offending President Coolidge.

Senator Shortridge said that in his opinion Congress has ample time to pass a farm measure at the present session.

"I think Mr. Hoover is coming back with that sort of program in mind. We ought to be able," he added, "to act on the Kellogg peace treaty and cruisers bill sufficiently early to allow time for passage of a farm measure acceptable to both the present and incoming administrations, in which event it would not be necessary to call a special session until late next fall.

"The special session could start in September or October and meanwhile thorough study could be given the matter of complete revision of the tariff."

NYE FOR ACTION

As a member of the Senate Finance Committee, Senator Shortridge will have a hand in drafting any changes in tariff schedules determined upon. He already is receiving many communications from California interests which would be affected by a revision.

Senator Nye also thinks a satisfactory farm bill could be put through before March 4, but said any measure considered by Congress should have the "open approval" of Mr. Hoover. He said his hope is that a "real Hoover plan" will emerge shortly after the President-elect returns to Washington.

Representative Clark did not air his views in detail but conveyed them to Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the Republican National Committee, urging Work to advise Mr. Hoover that action on farm relief should be held over to a special session. "My views," Clark said, "are precisely those of Senator Borah."

Borah last night issued a statement saying the farm question could not adequately be dealt with at this session and advocated a special session to start April 15.

Senator Brookhart said that the revised McNary bill, which is indorsed by the administration, does not satisfy him because it does not fully carry out the pledges made by Mr. Hoover during the campaign. He expressed the opinion that Hoover will refuse to reveal his own ideas on farm legislation until after he actually has taken office as President. Therefore, the Iowa Senator said, he strongly opposes consideration of a farm bill this session.

SPEAKER FOR BILL

Today's crop of statements shows that the Senate Republican leaders are as badly split as those in the House. At the House side Speaker Longworth is urging passage of farm legislation at this session and postponement of a special session until next fall and he has the backing of many influential Representatives. Arrayed against him, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican floor leader, is urging deferment of action on a farm bill until an extra session, which he wants called April 15 to consider the farm question and tariff revision simultaneously. Chairman Snell of the Rules Committee and Chairman Hawley of Ways and Means side with Tilson.

Apparently nobody in either branch of Congress has any real idea as to what would most suit President-elect Hoover and in the absence of authoritative information they are guessing the best they can.

HORSES CANNOT FLY—AS YET

Wagon Hits Auto, Driver Falls on Head, Equine Runs up Stairs—Slides Down

BELOIT (Wis.) Dec. 27. (AP) It remained for Beloit to supply the spectacle of a horse falling downstairs and the driver being run over by a parked car.

John Kwelis was driving his horse and wagon peacefully downtown.

The wagon caught on a projecting part of a parked car.

John was thrown off on his head.

The parked car, pulled by the wagon, rolled ahead and over him.

The horse ran away. It dashed up a flight of concrete steps to a building, then fell down and rolled to the sidewalk.

Many Millions Without Books

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Forty-two million persons in the United States are without the advantage of library service, James A. MacMillan, librarian of the Louisiana State University, today told the American Library Association.

In rural regions 89 per cent of the people have no reading facilities, according to Mr. McMillan. Their city cousins are well supplied generally, only 15 per cent being without libraries.

Father-in-Law of Senator Dies

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Carlos Garcia, father-in-law of United States Senator Larrozolo, died today at Senator Larrazolo's residence here.

Mr. Garcia was 60 years of age and leaves his widow and daughter. For many years he was a prominent cattleman at San Elizario, Tex.

Did you know that $50,000,000 is now being spent on new facilities for higher education in Southern California. Read about it in the Annual Midwinter Number of The Times out January 2.

TILSON WANTS EQUAL TARIFF

Senator Addresses Chamber of Connecticut

Believes Protection Must be Same for All Industry

Urges New England Support of Farm Relief

HARTFORD (Ct.) Dec. 27. (AP)—A policy of protection applying with equal force to every industry of the country is favored by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority floor leader of the House, as a foundation stone for the tariff structure changes to be decided upon by Congress.

"We in New England," said Tilson in an address before members of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce today, "should favor proper protection for farming, mining and other industries just as we ask and need it for purely manufacturing industries. A policy of protection must be based upon principles broad enough to cover the nation or it cannot stand."

PREDICTS EXTRA SESSION

Tilson expressed the belief that there was little chance of farm legislation being enacted this session and predicted Herbert Hoover would redeem his campaign pledge by calling an extra session to consider this question.

Since farm relief is conceded to include tariff revision, the Republican leader declared that New England manufacturers could help materially in preparation of a new tariff law by furnishing Congress with material facts such as will inspire the confidence of those in charge of the hearings.

ADVISES GREAT CARE

"In presenting the needs of the several industries," he advised, "great care should be exercised that the case be neither overstated nor understated. If understated, and rates are based upon such understatement, then the protection given will not be sufficient and the result will be unsatisfactory, as was the case in a few instances in the revision of 1921-22.

"On the other hand, if the case be overstated the close and critical scrutiny, which is sure to be given every item by both friends and foes of the tariff will surely reveal the exaggeration of the need for protection, and the error will recoil upon the heads of those giving the inaccurate information to the injury of the industry that has been this misrepresented."

REPARATION POST DENIED TO MORROW

Kellogg Says Ambassador Will Not be Among List Picked Out by Powers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The American government is not disposed to spare Dwight W. Morrow from his services as Ambassador to Mexico so that he might serve on the special committee to deal with the reparations problem.

Although the selection of American experts for that work was left to the Allied and German governments when this government assented to unofficial participation by Americans, Secretary Kellogg took the position today that Mr. Morrow will not be one of those chosen. He said Mr. Morrow will return to his post in Mexico City as soon as his duties here in connection with the Pan-American Conference on Arbitration and Conciliation are completed.

The United States will take no part officially in the reparations proceedings. The names of the American experts to serve have not been communicated to the United States, Mr. Kellogg said, adding that Owen D. Young, who assisted in the preparation of the Dawes plan, seemed to be one of those desired.

The forthcoming visit to this country of S. Parker Gilbert, agent-general for reparations, is reported by European dispatches to be for the purpose of consultations on the questions of appointments which, it is said, would not be made until after his visit.

Leviathan Bond Robbery Suspect Identity Fixed

BERLIN, Dec. 27. (AP)—Berlin police today established the identity of "Charley Larsen" who passed to Briedrich Ruber of Vienna ten $1000 bonds of the Tokio Electric Light Company which were stolen in August from registered mail on the steamship Leviathan. The police said that "Larsen" really is Frans Rudis, alias Walter Ringer of Hamburg, and that he is widely known in police circles.

Officers of the Leviathan identified the man as Charles Long, who shipped as a carpenter on the liner.

"Larsen" has disappeared. He was arrested at Antwerp and Austrian authorities were notified that if they wished to extradite him the request must be made within twenty-four hours. Vienna was slow in acting and the Belgian authorities were obliged to free the man.

Mussolini Bans New Year Fetes

ROME, Dec. 27. (AP)—Benito Mussolini today banished official New Year's receptions from the routine of himself and all other Cabinet ministers, undersecretaries and officials of the Fascist party. He did this by means of a circular telegram addressed to government servants and the rank and file of the political organization.

The newspaper Giornale d'Italia praised the decision to rid officials of the annual ceremony of handshaking. It said the custom was "an old style usage which wasted too much of the functionaries' time."

Death Rate Expected to Increase

Wave Forecast for This Winter

[illegible]TON, Dec. 27. (AP)—[illegible]-General Cumming said today [illegible] he views the influenza situation as "serious," and believes [illegible] "every indication" that the [illegible] will spread through the [illegible] States. He added that [illegible] this year might exceed [illegible]

[illegible] in the 1918 epidemic, however, [illegible] 500,000 in excess of the [illegible] number from the disease. [illegible] there were 100,000 excess [illegible], and in 1926 there were between [illegible] and 20,000.

SECOND WAVE

The Surgeon-General also declared that there is the possibility [illegible] second and more severe wave [illegible] epidemic later in the winter. [illegible] reassured the public against [illegible], however, emphasizing the [illegible] of type of the disease now [illegible] and the apparent absence [illegible]

[illegible] is every indication, as I see it," Dr. Cumming said, "that the epidemic will spread through the Atlantic States as it has gone through the West. This seems to be a typical influenza epidemic, and it is similar to the 1918 outbreak in the mildness of the first cases."

SERIOUS EPIDEMIC

The Surgeon-General substantiated public health officers' estimate of 1,250,000 new cases in the United States during the week ended the 22nd inst. Noting reports of fifty-eight cities to the Census Bureau, showing 710 deaths, compared with 475 deaths in sixty-two cities for the previous week, he said the mortality rate is meeting expectations of large advances in deaths as the number of cases increases.

"The death rate now is low in proportion to the number of cases," he added, "and consequently I see no reason for public alarm. However, any epidemic so widespread as this one is serious. There is every justification to think that this year's mortality will be greater than that of 1926."

THIRTEEN SANDWICHES EATEN, BUT HE FAILS TO SAVE FRIEND

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 27. (AP)—A patron in a bar-room ate thirteen sandwiches in a vain effort to save his friend, Walter Benwell, the bartender, from arrest.

Prohibition Agents Dillon and Byrd interrupted the patron just as he had placed two $1 bills on the counter in the bar-room.

"What are you going to buy with that money?" asked Dillon.

The customer first glanced at the bartender, then replied: "Sandwiches."

The customer managed to eat thirteen sandwiches, according to Dillon, before he said in a rather stifled voice: "I think this will hold me until supper."

Byrd and Dillon then produced a search warrant, seized a quantity of beer and liquor and arrested the bartender. The customer gloomily shook his head.

BANK IN ST. LOUIS SUBURB AGAIN ROBBED

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 27. (AP)—For the second time this month, the Bank of Manchester, at Manchester, a suburb, was held up today when two robbers kidnaped the cashier and assistant cashier and escaped with about $6000. The bank officers were taken in the robbers' automobile a mile down the road and let out. Two robbers got $3664 from the bank the 3rd inst.

FLIGHT FROM ROME TO DALLAS PROJECTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Tentative plans for a 5500-mile flight from Rome to Dallas, Tex., by way of New York for a prize of $25,000 or $50,000 were announced today by Col. William E. Easterwood, Jr., of Dallas, chewing gum manufacturer and World War flyer.

CONTEST LOST BY WAR WIDOW

Veterans' Bureau Sustained in Suit Over Insurance

Woman Held Unfaithful to Memory of Husband

Court Orders Money Given to Soldier's Father

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—The contention of the United States Veterans' Bureau that a soldier's widow who is unfaithful to his memory is not entitled to his war risk insurance, although she is named as beneficiary, was upheld today by Federal Judge Wilkerson.

The case was that of Corrinne Hanna, whose husband, Maj. Mark Hanna of Kansas City, was killed in action in the World War.

Mrs. Hanna was named beneficiary of the major's $10,000 war insurance policy, and the major's father, Thomas M. Hanna of Ruthven, Iowa, second beneficiary.

The widow's monthly installments, totaling $2451, were stopped, May 22, 1928, after an investigation by the Veterans' Bureau, the father being substituted as beneficiary.

The Veterans' Bureau charged Mrs. Hanna had been living with a man named Wagner, now serving a term in Iowa penitentiary for bank robbery.

QUESTION MARK HAS TINY RIVAL

Missouri Plane to Strive for Endurance Mark

Cannon Will Shoot Supply of Fuel to Ship

Synchronized Device Works in Mail Tests

MARSHALL (Mo.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Competing with the Army Air Corps' trimotored plane, Question Mark, a tiny sixty-horsepower monoplane with an open cockpit will take off here during the first week of the new year in an effort to set a new endurance flight record with the aid of refueling.

Unlike the luxurious Question Mark, which will carry four men when it soars aloft at Los Angeles New Year's morning in an attempt to stay up 300 or more hours, the tiny test ship to be used here will be manned by only two men. Blaine M. Tuxhorn, Kansas City pilot, in announcing the flight today said that his co-pilot would be named within a few days.

CANNON TO SHOOT

While the Question Mark's supplies will be replenished by refueling ships flying above and slightly ahead, fuel, food and other supplies will be furnished the ship here by means of a ground synchronizing cannon, Tuxhorn's invention, which he has used successfully in picking up a mail cargo.

Occupants of the Question Mark will dwell in comparative warmth and comfort within the large cabin, whereas Tuxhorn and his companion will be forced to wear near-Arctic wraps and face masks to protect them in the unprotected cockpit from the subzero weather they expect to encounter.

While the present world's endurance record of sixty hours and seven minutes, set last June by Adjt. Louis Crooy and Sergt. Victor Groenen of Belgium, is the first goal of Tuxhorn, he said he hoped to remain aloft much longer than that. The Question Mark's flight is designed to determine just how long men and machines can remain in continuous flight, and the crew has expectations of from ten to thirteen days' residence aloft.

NO EXTRA TANKS

No extra tanks have been placed aboard Tuxhorn's ship, making necessary use of the refueling gun several times daily, as his ship has only thirty-five-gallon gasoline capacity. On a recent seven-hour flight its Le Blond motor consumed twenty-five gallons of gasoline.

Tuxhorn conducted successful tests in picking up an air-mail cargo at Chillicothe, Mo. Fuel and food will be placed in a container and loaded into the cannon. When a large hook at the end of a rope dangling from the plane comes in contact with a ground loop an electrical contact is completed and the cannon fired, sending the container into space at a speed equal to that of the plane. By this means no shock is felt in the plane when the loop on the container is caught on the hook.

SANCTION SOUGHT

The monoplane to be used is of all-steel construction. It was constructed here by Walter H. Barling, who designed the Barling bomber used by the Army Air Corps.

The Marshall Chamber of Commerce and the Nicholas-Beasley Aircraft Corporation, local plane manufacturers in whose plant the plane was built, will sponsor the flight. Application for authority to make the flight was made yesterday to the National Aeronautical Association in Washington. The sponsors also asked that barographs be sent here to record the flight.

Action Filed to Test Republican Dry Vote Right

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Suit to test the right of the California Prohibition party to include their votes on the Republican Presidential ballot in the recent election was filed in Justice Court here today by A. V. Dalrymple, attorney, who said he would carry the case to the District Court of Appeals if necessary.

The suit was the outcome of what Dalrymple styled a contract between himself and D. C. Montgomery, another attorney, by which each placed $20 in the keeping of William M. Case of Oakland, with the proviso that the total belonged to Dalrymple if Senator Hiram Johnson received more California votes than Herbert Hoover, and to Montgomery if Hoover obtained more votes. Dalrymple denied that the agreement was a wager.

In his complaint Dalrymple asserted that Johnson, with 1,148,397 votes, had a larger total than Herbert Hoover's without the 14,394 Prohibition votes. Hoover's total was 1,162,323, including the Prohibition votes.

Prince's Appeal to Aid Poor Met

LONDON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The appeal Christmas night by the Prince of Wales over the radio on behalf of the distressed people of England's mining districts brought such hearty response that officials handling the Lord Mayor's relief fund were today almost buried under an avalanche of mail containing contributions.

The amount probably will not be known until tomorrow but one official at Mansion House guessed that it would be at least £320,000 (about $1,600,000.) The two chief gifts were one of £30,000 from Lady Houston and another of £25,000 from Lord Rothermere.

The value of these and all other contributions is doubled by the promise of the government to match the gifts pound for pound. Several thousand letters remained to be open when additional sacks of mail, each packed to its limit, were delivered at Mansion House.

FREEZES BY HEAT

Amazing New Principle of Refrigeration

As simple as melting ice, this marvelous new refrigerator. Yet it has no mechanism at all—no motor, fan, compressor, belt, pump or moving parts of any kind.

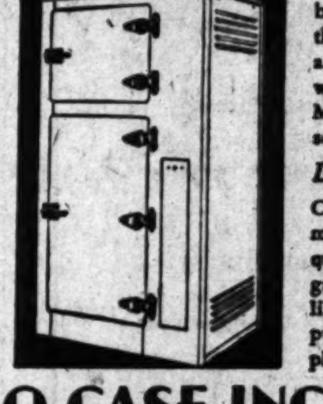
Like perpetual motion

Just a tiny gas flame and a chilling liquid. The heat does all the work. It turns the liquid to a vapor; the vapor passes through coils, condenses to a liquid once more and comes back to its starting-point. There the freezing cycle begins all over again and continues without end, like perpetual motion.

No noise—no vibration

With no moving parts, there is an entire absence of sound or vibration in the Electrolux. There is no odor, no danger of leakage. The refrigerating liquid is hermetically sealed in metal. It never deteriorates; never needs renewal.

ELECTROLUX REFRIGERATOR
MADE BY SERVEL



Nothing to wear out

There is no more to wear out in the Electrolux than there is about a steel safe. This refrigerator will not only last a lifetime, but you should be able to hand it down to your children. And best of all, you will find that the operating cost is amazingly low—less than with any other refrigerator. Made in varied sizes and several beautiful colors.

ALIEN GUNMEN ENTER TO SLAY

Seaman's Law Loophole for Hired Killers

Passport Forging Becomes Regular Trade

Clamps on Border Lid Hit Purses of Chinese

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—The Department of Labor, it was learned today, has discovered how alien gunmen are being slipped in and out of the United States to do man-killing jobs for the American Mafia and other gangs operating in Chicago and other large cities.

They are being brought in as seamen in the crews of merchantmen plying between Europe and the United States. On arriving in this country they desert their ships and are entitled under the La Follette Seamen's Act to remain here sixty days in search of berths on other ships.

The sixty-day period gives the imported gunman plenty of time to pull off the killing contracted for and make good his escape from the country as a seaman aboard a departing merchantman before the police or the Federal authorities catch up with him.

LAW DEFIED

Many aliens who come in as seamen remain permanently though illegally in the country. There is no means of checking up on seamen taking shore leave and enforcing the sixty-day limitation. The department estimates that there are about 25,000 aliens who gained admission to the country in this manner and are still here in defiance of the law.

With the exception of seamen, aliens who entered the country illegally since the enactment of the 1924 immigration law may be deported whenever apprehended. Under a court ruling a seaman illegally here may be deported only if apprehended within three years of his entry.

Another means of getting aliens in illegally is furnished by the use of fraudulent American passports. A citizen of alien extraction interested in getting in a relative or friend who could not pass the consular test abroad or who is unwilling to await his turn on the quota list procures an American passport and sends it to the prospective immigrant. Cunning forgers change the description on the passport to fit the immigrant who then enters the United States as an American citizen. This is said to be a favorite subterfuge of aliens who speak a little English. Inasmuch as we naturalize aliens with only a smattering of English, they are able to get by the immigration inspectors without arousing suspicion.

REGULAR BUSINESS

The department accidently stumbled onto this scheme and upon investigation found that an agency in New York does a regular business in procuring American passports for forgery abroad. The agency buys the passports from American citizens and the passports when forged command as high a price as $600 each. The bootlegging of aliens into the United States continues to be a lucrative occupation along our borders. The recent doubling of the border patrol, now consisting of 747 men has resulted in a 50 per cent increase in the number of smuggled aliens apprehended, the total last year mounting to 18,000. As a result of the increased difficulty in getting in, the bootleggers have put up their prices. The top price—$2000—is demanded and obtained of Chinese, whom it is unusually difficult to pass through without detection. For Chinese girls delivered in Chicago and New York the bootleggers get $7500 each, compared with $5000 before the border patrol was strengthened.

CHINESE DETECTED

An unusually large number of Chinese are now being detected endeavoring to enter regularly as the children of Chinese born in the United States. The children, are, therefore, American citizens and cannot be excluded. The fraud consists in the impersonation of the children by Chinese citizens. There are thousands of Chinese born in China who are American citizens. Their fathers were born in this country but were able to obtain Chinese wives only by returning to China and marrying. They could not bring their wives to America, because of the exclusion law, so they have reared their families in China to which they make periodical visits.

One of these fathers picks up a nice bit of change whenever he is able to slip in a compatriot as one of his children. Attempts even have been made to get the grandchildren in as American citizens but the department nipped this scheme with a court ruling that while the foreign-born children of American citizens are Americans the grandchildren are not, if their parents never resided in this country.

AGED TELEPHONE OPERATOR'S ESTATE AMAZES APPRAISERS

ST. CLAIRSVILLE (O.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Appraisers of the estate of Miss Carrie Hayes, 70 years of age, telephone operator at Barnesville, who sent out the first word of the disaster of the navy dirigible Shenandoah near here several years ago, have found so much concealed wealth in her home that it will take them all this week to put a value on the property.

The aged night operator of the Barnesville exchange, who never seemed to have any money and lived alone in a little one-story, four-room house, actually had $5709 on deposit in Barnesville banks, and dividend checks valued at $1000 were found in the house.

Last week Miss Hayes was reported missing. Neighbors broke into the house and found her dead. Authorities said she died of exposure. After the funeral, appraisers began their work and to their amazement, found concealed about the house twenty suits of underwear, dresses, handkerchiefs, twenty yards of fine silks, 100 boxes of face powder, a dozen bottles of choice perfumes and fourteen pounds of chocolate bars.

Idaho Death Rate Lowest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—Recording the national death rate for 1927 at 11.4 persons per 1000 population, the Department of Commerce reported today that of the States Idaho had the lowest rate with 7.1 per 1000 population and the highest rate of 13.9 occurred in California, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The national death rate is estimated from the deaths reported in the forty-two States and the District of Columbia, which have official systems of registering births and deaths.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—One hundred and twenty blind members of the institution known as Blind Craft "saw" a motion picture today through joint arrangement of the San Francisco Chronicle and the California Theater.

It was accomplished by explaining the plot of the current feature at the theater and then allowing the blind persons to "see" its unfolding by means of the talking sequence. Approval was unanimous. The guests said they followed the film without difficulty.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27. (AP)—James R. Orr, 30-year-old Birmingham High School teacher, wanted to die but fate was against him. REMEDY SOUGHT FOR SMUGGLING

Border Conference With Canada Set

Rum Running to be Part of Discussion

Proposals Will be Drafted to Control Evil

OTTAWA (Ont.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Government representatives of the United States and Canada will meet here Monday, January 7, to discuss steps for the control of commercial smuggling, the Department of External Affairs announced today.

The purpose of the conference, it was announced, is to bring about a general expression of views on commercial smuggling and to consider remedies. The names of those who will represent the two countries were not announced.

It was said, however, that all representatives will be officials of the departments of the governments, no member of the Cabinet of either country being present. Each section will submit to its government a report of the discussion and proposals made.

While commercial smuggling generally will be discussed, it is thought certain a large part of the time will be devoted to dealing with liquor smuggling from Canada to the United States.

AMERICAN DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE NAMED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—Treasury Department officials said today that revision of the liquor treaty with Canada will be the chief topic discussed by the American delegation to the conference on control of commercial smuggling in Ottawa January 7.

The United States will be represented by J. M. Doran, Commissioner of Prohibition; E. W. Camp, Commissioner of Customs, and Rear-Admiral Billard, commandant of the Coast Guard, all of which services combine under the direction of the Treasury to prevent smuggling. The State Department will be represented by N. Slinger and Francis Colt De Wolf. Clara Borges will be secretary of the American representatives.

While all phases of smuggling will be considered, Canada is said to be anxious especially to devise means of stopping the illegal entry of silk, tobacco and alcohol into that country. Large quantities of these commodities, it is explained, are smuggled into Canada each year from the United States, due chiefly to the high duties on them.

From the American standpoint, the conferees will seek to devise means of preventing the smuggling of diamonds, narcotics and liquor into the United States from Canadian points. All these things, officials said, now find their way across the border in large amounts without paying duty.

PRIZE FOR PEACE AID WITHHELD

Wilson Foundation Fails to Agree on Bestowal of $25,000 Award

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—The New York Times tomorrow will say that there will be no announcement of an award to any person for significant contribution to international peace and friendship at the annual dinner of the Woodrow Wilson Memorial Foundation.

The dinner will be held tomorrow night, with Gov.-elect Roosevelt as the principal speaker. It has been the custom to announce the award at the annual dinner, but this year the committee in charge, it was said, did not agree on any person to receive the honor.

It was reported that Secretary of State Kellogg had been under consideration for the award, which customarily is $25,000, for his work in connection with the pact of Paris. Since no agreement was reached, it was decided not to award the prize this year.

Billion-Dollar Suit Started by Austrian Duke

BUDAPEST, Dec. 27. (AP)—A suit for recovery of property valued at $1,000,000,000 has been instituted before the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague.

The suit is that of Archduke Albrecht, pretender to the Hungarian throne, and is brought on behalf of his father, the Archduke Frederick, field marshal of the Austrian army during the World War and richest member of the House of Hapsburg. It is for recovery of property consisting of royal palaces, castles, villas, estates, antiques, paintings, jewelry, furniture, gold and silver objects belonging to Frederick in Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia and Rumania and sequestered by those states under the peace treaties.

If Albrecht and Frederick should win the suit Frederick will be the richest royal personage in Europe.

CUNARD OPENS SHIPPING WAR

Caronia Sails for Havana With Capacity Load

English Bar Apparently Strong Attraction

American Line Cuts Fare to Meet Competition

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (Exclusive. Slipping down the harbor in a fog this morning the Cunarder Caronia opened a new Anglo-American shipping war. Carrying the British flag to Havana over what has hitherto been concededly an American run, the slim English liner off for a forced draft record trip left in its wake a bitter controversy which has roused American shipping interests to a fighting mood.

Beneath the first foreign flag to invade the American coastwise trade routes was a capacity cargo of 450 passengers, mostly American citizens out to quench an alcoholic thirst. The Caronia, with true British foresight, has gone in for American atmosphere, for as the boat sailed down the bay the Yale orchestra, selected in an intercollegiate contest, struck up a medley of patriotic airs.

BARROOM OPENED EARLY

The barroom was opened as soon as the vessel cleared Sandy Hook. The barroom is the lone feature that has not been mentioned in the advertising and publicity campaigns waged by rival lines. It has not been necessary to advertise that the English vessel is allowed to sell liquor on the three-day trip, while the American ships, under the law, must be dry.

"There is enough business for everyone," said Harold P. Borer, passenger traffic manager for the Cunard line, who is making the holiday trip. "At any rate our full passenger list is sufficient proof that the traveling public is interested and anxious that such a ship as this should be in the service. Booking for the January 5 sailing of the Caronia is equally heavy and we again will have to turn away prospective passengers."

Mr. Borer had no comment to make on the relative wetness and dryness of English and American line boats.

FARE REDUCED

Meanwhile the American shipping interests, particularly the Ward line and United Fruit Company line, are getting ready for a battle. These two companies already have cut their regular round trip rates of $160 to $120 to meet the competition of the Caronia, which so far has kept its rate at $175. On January 5, the President Roosevelt, loaned to the Ward Line by the United States Shipping Board to fight the Caronia, will make the first American "speed luxury" trip to Cuba. The President Roosevelt is considered a faster and more luxurious vessel than the Caronia.

The Americans anticipate a finish fight for the Shipping Board is behind them to the limit of its resources to keep the English out of what they consider American territory. Nevertheless they see in the menace to the Havana trade route a blow at the heart of American shipping and if it is carried to its logical conclusion along other routes it may menace the American merchant marine.

ALMACK DRY PLAN GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

Commissioner Doran Says Schoolboy Should Have Been Awarded First Prize

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Dec. 27. (AP) — Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran said today that Malcolm D. Almack, whose plan of prohibition enforcement won the $5000 Durant prize for high schools, should have been awarded the first prize of $25,000 because his plan was much more comprehensive and helpful than the one submitted by Chester Mills, former New York prohibition head.

"Almack showed a remarkable grasp of the situation," Doran said. "Where Maj. Mills stressed conditions that existed when he was in charge of the New York prohibition office, the schoolboy looked into the future and saw just what will be required to make prohibition effective."

PINCHOT SUBMITS ENFORCEMENT PLAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Gifford Pinchot, former Governor of Pennsylvania and author of that State's liquor legislation, submitted for the Durant prize a plan calling on the President and the President-elect to enforce the prohibition law, the Durant prize award offices announced tonight.

Among the former Governor's suggestions was removal of diplomatic immunity for liquor imported to foreign embassies in Washington.

Floods Sweep Belgian Towns

BRUSSELS, Dec. 27. (AP)—Floods, augmented by inrushing tide water and pushed along by a violent gale, swept over a section of the lowlands above Termonde today, inundating five villages with 10,000 inhabitants, and tonight threatened destruction greater than that of four weeks ago.

The plight of the people in the threatened districts is all the sadder as the official forecast is for a high spring tide Saturday morning.

The average annual income per family in Southern California is $3500, according to the Annual Midwinter Number of The Times out January 2.

U-BOAT TRAP STORY TOLD

Invention That Balked Germany's Submarines in War Described by Franklin D. Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—The New York Times today quotes Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor-elect, as revealing how a crank inventor during the World War solved the problem of laying an effective mine barrage against German submarines.

Mr. Roosevelt, who was assistant Secretary of the Navy during the war, made his disclosure in an informal address before the Poughkeepsie (N. Y.) Post of the American Legion.

A problem that America and the Allies were seeking vainly to solve, said Mr. Roosevelt, was of exploding mines by electrical contact with a hostile vessel. The older type of mine was ineffective as it was impossible to place them close enough together to present an effective barrier without heavy seas causing them to knock against each other and explode.

BAFFLING PROBLEM

"For a long time," he said, "there was a lot of investigation to find some way to connect the mines by cable, or some other link, and construct the barrage so that any submarine hitting any position of this barrier would find itself in grief. Nobody seemed to be able to hit upon the right thing."

One day early in 1918, he said, a man of the typical "crank inventor" type walked into his office with an invention and insisted on showing his model.

"He presented an intricate affair with a lot of nets, which was but the same thing other people had suggested for putting over the mouth of a harbor to inclose submarines. I was about to cast the whole thing aside when he pointed to models of mines attached to the nets. I asked him what they were, and then he told me he had a practical plan for exploding the mine by electrical contact if a vessel touched any part of the entire machinery."

NEW TYPE OF BARRAGE

Mr. Roosevelt said he called in Admiral Earle who at first was skeptical, but later was won over to the idea. Out of the inventor's plan was created the "antennae" type of mine barrage which was laid from England to Norway and which was effective in protecting many convoys of Americans troops and sank at least two submarines.

The inventor, whose name he withheld, wanted $10,000,000 for his invention, said Mr. Roosevelt, but he understood he finally received $100,000.

RICH MAN ADMITS HE'S "CRANK" MINE INVENTOR

SALEM (Mass.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Ralph C. Browne, well-to-do Salem inventor, tonight identified himself as the "crank" who Franklin D. Roosevelt said is the man who solved the problem of laying an effective mine barrage against German submarines during the World War.

Browne said that he was the inventor of the "antennae" type of mine barrage referred to by Mr. Roosevelt, adding that the latter had erred in several particulars. The inventor of more than a dozen electrical devices said that the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy must have confused him with one of the many cranks who offered worthless inventions during the war.

He asserted that he offered his invention, providing for explosion of mines by electrical contact when a ship touched any part of the net to which the mines were attached, to the government for nothing. Roosevelt was quoted as saying that the "crank" asked $10,000,000. Browne added that after the government at first refused the invention, he tried it out at his own expense in Salem Harbor.

He said that when the government accepted the invention it paid him royalties and four years later bought it outright for a sum he would not reveal. Browne declared that he was so far from being a "crank" that he was put in charge of the manufacture of the firing device of these mines during the war.

PLANE BRINGS MAIL

A plane of the Army Air Corps arrived today with mail from Washington for the President. Its cargo, consisting of some cases of belated Christmas packages and greetings, was transferred at St. Simon's Island to an amphibian, provided by the Curtiss Flying Service, which carried it on to Sapelo Island.

Gov. Hardman of Georgia, who gave up a trip to the New Year's Day Tournament of Roses football game in Pasadena, Cal., in order that he might visit President Coolidge today, was forced to cancel his plans because of illness. A slight attack of influenza made it impossible for the Governor to leave his Valdosta home and he mailed his personal greetings to the Chief Executive.

Princes Hang Up Phoning Record

STOCKHOLM (Sweden) Dec. 27. (AP)—A record long-distance telephone communication was achieved today when Prince Carl, brother of King Gustav, and his wife, the Princess Ingeborg, conversed with the Crown Prince and Princess of Belgium who now are at Bandoeng, Java, Dutch East Indies. The distance traveled was 13,500 kilometers (8383 miles.)

The conversation was carried by wire to Amsterday from Stockholm, and thence by wireless to and from Java.

The Crown Princess of Belgium is Prince Carl's daughter.

Zeppelin Trip Record Listed

BERLIN, Dec. 27. (AP)—The German Air Board announced here it has been informed by the International Aeronautical Federation that the return flight of the Graf Zeppelin from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen, October 29 to November 1, last, was over a route of 6384.5 kilometers, (3864.8 miles.)

The federation has recognized this as a world's record flight for Class B airships.

LIQUOR BUYER FINED IN COURT

may not be an indictment of the buyer and seller for conspiracy to transport, even though what is contemplated is simply the delivery of the thing sold. Transportation of intoxicating liquor is made a distinct substantive offense by the act. It is not necessarily involved in every sale."

Norris, along with Joel D. Kerper, Philadelphia "society bootlegger," was charged with conspiracy to transport liquor illegally. He pleaded nolo contendere, but maintained the purchase of liquor is no crime either under the national prohibition law or the Volstead Act.

NO MORE PUNISHMENT

Kerper, who is serving eighteen months in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, was brought to Philadelphia and pleaded guilty after Judge Kirkpatrick said he would not inflict further punishment if he admitted the charge.

Norris, through counsel, admitted in the argument of the case two weeks ago that twelve times in more than a year he ordered liquor from Kerper and that the latter sent it by express to Norris in New York, variously labeled as paint, varnish, olive oil and other names.

PROHIBITION EXECUTIVE PLEASED BY DECISION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (AP)—The decision of Federal Judge Kirkpatrick in Philadelphia that a purchaser of illegal liquor is guilty of violation of the prohibition law where transportation enters into the case was hailed by Prohibition Commissioner Doran today as an important step toward preventing bootlegging.

In the majority of cases such liquor has to be transported, he said, "and the involving of the purchaser in the law violation will do much toward preventing such purchases."

er assuming the Presidency on March 4. The announcement said that Mr. Hoover is a birthright member of this branch of the Firends' Society and that the meeting has obtained Dr. Augustus T. Murray of Leland Stanford University, California, as minister.

It was not made clear whether the next President has expressed the intention of attending services in that church exclusively.

While Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Hoover attended services at both the Orthodox and Hicksite meeting houses. Members of the latter church recently had been planning to accommodate the visitors expected when the President-elect returns. It has been indicated in other quarters that Mr. Hoover intended to continue his practice of going to services at both churches.

BRAZIL MAY SEND SPECIAL ENVOY TO INAUGURATION

RIO DE JANEIRO (Brazil) Dec. 27. (AP)—The possibility that the Brazilian government may send a special ambassador to Washington for the inauguration of Herbert Hoover has been suggested here.

There seems to be a general feeling in government and popular circles that such a gesture would be particularly appropriate in view of the enthusiastic way in which the people of Brazil welcomed the President-elect. No official action has been taken, however.

It is usual for Brazil to send a special ambassador to inaugurations in neighboring countries such as Argentina and Uruguay, but this would mark the first instance of sending an ambassador to the United States for an inauguration.

cided to resume tomorrow the interrupted official morning bulletin.

Tonight's medical consultation was not longer than usual, but one of the physicians, Lord Dawson of Penn, stayed at the palace for dinner, and Sir Stanley Hewett was to remain there tonight as usual.

The references in tonight's report to the King's disinclination to take nourishment, it is understood, is to raw eggs, which have been the principal items on his diet for some time. The doctors always have been more or less confronted with difficulty in inducing their patient to take this diet.

The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Gloucester, Prince George, Princess Mary, and Lord Dawson of Penn, all dined with Queen Mary tonight.

Eskimos Periled by Starvation

THE PAS (Man.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Starvation faces the fast-dwindling little band of Barren Land Eskimos this winter because they missed the great caribou migration.

The plight of the 200 natives left in the Barren Land tribes was told here by Horace Ashton, the explorer, on his return to civilization after a trip to the sub-Arctic.

At a loss to explain why the caribou failed to follow their beaten trails southward this winter, Ashton expressed fears of a repetition of the scourge of a few winters ago when forty natives died of hunger.

STAGE LINE WOULD SELL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—J. Hatch Lord, president of the Pasadena-Pomona Stage Line, today asked permission of the State Railroad Commission for the sale of the line to the Motor Transit Company for $25,000.

putes from universal compulsory arbitration—namely affairs affecting the domestic jurisdiction of states and problems involving third parties. Any country, however, will still have the right to add any special reservation to the treaty at the time of ratification.

METHOD AGREED ON

The subcommittee late in the day agreed in substance on a method for the Pan-American nations' arbitration plan, it was reported by committee members at the end of their closed session. Dr. Manuel Foster of Chile, chairman of the subcommittee, declared that the agreement now is ready for the conference as a whole.

Charles Evans Hughes, American representative and member of the committee, described the agreement as one of "substance of form."

Ambassador Ferrara of Cuba said the work of the subcommittee now is at an end. He expressed the belief that the work has been a success and that now only action of the conference is necessary to establish complete accord on the agreement.

RESERVATIONS ALLOWED

It is understood that the agreement provides an open protocol which can be ratified by the various nations and from which reservations would permit the various nations finally to withdraw.

All delegations to the conference are said to have agreed to extend the principle of compulsory arbitration in the proposed pact to all justifiable questions, namely matters susceptible of decision by application of the rules of international law and equity. This provision is identical with those contained in the recent American arbitration treaties.

The two reservations which probably will be retained in the Pan-American treaty also are the same as those included in the American pacts with Europe. They are the exemptions of the Monroe Doctrine and obligations assumed by the other parties under the covenant of the League of Nations from the scope of the pact.

PERU ADHERES TO GONDRA PACT

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 27. (AP)—A dispatch to La Nacion today from Santiago said Foreign Minister Rios Gallardo of Chile has received official adherence to the Gondra pact from the Peruvian Ambassador. The Gondra treaty provides for a commission of inquiry to avoid and prevent armed conflict between American nations. Countries that have not yet signed the pact are Argentina, Colombia, Ecuador, Honduras and Nicaragua.

A recent attempt to settle the Bolivian-Paraguayan dispute under the accord failed because Bolivia contended the pact was not yet operative, since the Bolivian Senate had not ratified it.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Metropolitan Sound Studios, Inc., has been formed by the Christie brothers into a new $1,500,000 corporation which has taken over the properties of the Metropolitan Studios in Hollywood as well as the newly built and operating sound studios at the same location, it was announced yesterday.

GAS RUMOR SEASON HERE

Reports of Retail Price Drop Not Substantiated; Refiners, However, Have Increased Spread

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Seasonal rumblings of price cutting in the gasoline market have been heard in the last few days, but so far there is nothing to it but the noise. The posted retail price is unchanged, and there are marketing authorities who believe that the existing level will be maintained even though the season of declining consumption has arrived.

What does appear to have occurred is a general readjustment in the terms of contracts between the large refiners and the independent retail dealers. While executives of the refining companies are reticent, there is good ground for believing that within the last few days a considerable number of these contracts have been revised to allow the independent dealer a concession of 6 cents instead of 4 cents a gallon.

RELATIONS PEACEFUL

Seasonal decline in consumption, which demand a larger differential in favor of the independent dealer if he is to operate at a profit, is the only reason given. There is no hint of a price war, at least so far. Amicable relations appear to exist between the large and small refining companies, with both competing aggressively for the business of the independent dealer. The tendency is to observe the code of trade practices adopted at the recent annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

Possibly behind the movement to allow greater concessions to the dealers at this time of the year is the decision by the larger refiners and marketers to adopt a new policy in their relations with the independents. The maxim of "live and let live" has only lately found any followers in the oil industry. Heretofore the rule of cut-throat competition, or survival of the fittest, has been uppermost in petroleum marketing policies. Of late, however, the major companies seem to have changed their attitude, one evidence of which is the willingness to assist the dealers in times of lower sales.

Of more significance in this connection is the gradual withdrawal of several of the large refining companies from retail marketing. These companies evidently have come to the decision that it is more profitable to depend on independent dealers for the distribution at retail of their gasoline, than to operate their own service station systems. While most of the companies in this group have not wholly retired from retail marketing, they have indicated their intention to give the experiment a thorough test and to support their dealers against uneconomic competition.

LEASING ACTIVE

Richfield is the leading exponent of independent dealer distribution. Standard of California has in the last two years swung partly into line, starting out with leasing of about one-half of its stations on the Pacific Coast. It is understood that half of the remainder will shortly be leased, indicating the success of the initial experiment. Union of California, so it is reported, has largely leased its stations to private individuals. Associated has also adopted the same policy.

Standard and Union, in leasing stations, follow the policy of selecting capable service station employees as lessees. The theory is that this policy reduces unemployment and at the same time insures operation of the station by competent men.

Naturally, these refining companies will protect the dealers upon whom they depend for the sale of their product. If the so-called "bootleg" dealers reduce the retail price, the large refiners are in a position to increase the differential to their dealers, thereby maintaining the profit margin in competition with the others, and tending to stabilize the retail price schedule.

Seasonal Drop in Car Loadings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Loading of revenue freight for the week ended on the 15th inst. totaled 964,086 cars, the car-service division of the American Railway Association announced today. Due to the usual seasonal decline in traffic which always takes place at this time of the year, this was a decrease of 20,266 cars under the preceding week, with decreases being reported in the total loading of all commodities except coke, which showed slight increase.

The total for the week was an increase of 95,336 cars over the corresponding week in 1927, and 19,690 cars over the same week in 1926. Miscellaneous freight loading for the week totaled 347,042 cars, an increase of 48,066 cars over the corresponding week last year, and 35,189 cars over the same week in 1926.

SPLIT-UP RUMORED

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (Exclusive) Rumors current today in financial circles are to the effect that directors of the American Encaustic Tiling Co., Ltd., will call a special meeting of stockholders early in January to vote on splitting up the capital stock on a basis of two new shares for one. Such action would increase the capital to 252,000 no par shares.

New Oil Concern Receives Permit to Incorporate

Incorporation of the Wilshire Annex Oil Company to take over the business of Victor A., Alfred P. and George L. Machris, Long Beach oil men who have been operating as a partnership for more than nine years, was announced yesterday.

The new company has authorized capital of $1,000,000, divided into a like number of shares. Under a permit granted by Corporation Commissioner Friedlander the company is authorized to issue all of the stock in exchange for the partnership property.

Officers and directors of the company are George L. Machris, president; Victor A. Machris, secretary, and Alfred P. Machris, treasurer.

Principal holdings of the company consist of a four-and-one-half-acre lease in the Santa Fe Springs field on which one well is producing approximately 2000 barrels daily, and five other wells are drilling. Other properties are located in Long Beach and Potrero fields. No stock will be issued and no other financing is being contemplated at this time, Victor A. Machris stated yesterday.

Issue of Power Plant Bonds Cut

Construction of the first unit of a huge new generating station will be financed in part with the proceeds of an issue of $14,000,000 State Line Generating Company two-year 5 1-2 per cent notes which are being offered by Halsey, Stuart & Co. today. The notes will mature December 1, 1930, and are being offered at 99.10 and interest to yield 6 per cent.

The power station will be located on the shores of Lake Michigan immediately southeast of the Illinois-Indiana State line. Work has already been started on the first unit of 208,000 kilowatt capacity, and it is expected to be in operation in the fall of 1929.

TEXAS OIL PROMOTES OLMSTED

Election Announced to Vice-Presidency After Meeting of Board

Clarence E. Olmsted has been formally elected to the position of executive vice-president and general manager of the Texas Company of California, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of directors. Other officers and directors will be elected at another meeting to be held shortly.

C. E. OLMSTEAD

Until recently, when he was named temporary successor to Jacques Vinmont, former president, Mr. Olmsted was vice-president and director in charge of the company's producing department. He is 38 years of age and was graduated from Columbia and Stanford universities, where he was awarded degrees in engineering.

Mr. Olmsted entered the oil industry in 1919 in the engineering department of the Texas Company at New York, with successive positions in the refining and terminal departments. In 1924 he came to Southern California as head of the transport and natural gas departments of the California Petroleum Corporation. Since then he has been in charge of the refining, marine, personnel and other important departments of that company, which this year was merged with the Texas corporation.

The Texas Company of California operates in Arizona, Washington, Oregon, California and Nevada.

Expert Defines Federal Ruling on Wash Sales

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (Exclusive) A new ruling by the income tax department permits a reduction of the tax to be paid on wash sales of stock, even though the loss on the sale is not deductible when the stock is bought right back, according to an interpretation of the decision reached today by M. L. Seidman, tax expert of Seidman & Seidman, certified public accountants.

"If the stock is held for more than two years and then is sold at a loss," said Mr. Seidman, "the rule is that the loss cannot reduce the tax by more than 12½ per cent, whereas if the sale is made before the two years, the government may have to stand as much as 25 per cent of the loss. By selling the stock and buying it back the tax department has just held that the two-year period starts anew, so that stock traders are now in a position to constantly avoid the 12½ per cent limitation by making wash sales just before the two-year period expires and continuing to do so until they desire finally to take the loss.

"It is well known that if stock is sold and bought back within thirty days no loss can be deducted for income tax purposes. Instead the stock repurchased is considered as standing in place of the stock originally held. It was believed by many that since the repurchased stock stood in the place of the old stock for computing profit, it would also do so for computing the two-year period. The department now holds, however, that one has nothing to do with the other."

Tone on London Exchange Firm

LONDON, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Ford Motor, Ltd, was active and strong on the stock exchange today, advancing to a premium of £3 11-16. The market was on the whole firm, with talking-machine issues a week exception, Victor and Columbia Graphophone securities being in supply. The oil list had a better tone, and the mining group was quiet with Mond Nickel steadier. Textile issues were well supported and tobacco, artificial silk and rubbers were steady.

The gilt-edge division had a firm tone. Foreign issues were quiet. Home rails were in demand, while Argentine rails moved irregularly.

Municipal Bond Issue Awarded

Dean Witter & Co. was the successful bidder yesterday for an issue of $175,000 Municipal Improvement District No. 60 bonds when the City Council unanimously approved a motion to that effect. The company offered a premium of $2387 the bonds to bear 5 1-4 per cent interest.

Another investment house offered a higher premium, but at an increased interest rate, and was refused the issue. The bids were presented by City Treasurer Powell. The improvement consists of sewer work in the Brentwood Hills community.

YOUNG RAIL MEN REACH TOP

Promotions of Paul Shoup and F. E. Williamson to Head Espee and Burlington Earned Rewards

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—With the promotion of Paul Shoup to the presidency of the Southern Pacific, and the election of F. E. Williamson as president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, two of the younger railroad executives who have spent their business life in the service have come to the front. Both are comparatively young.

"Watch that young fellow Shoup; he will be president of the Southern Pacific some day," said E. H. Harriman in 1907 to a business man, who related the incident to me yesterday.

Mr. Shoup, born and educated in California, served as ticket clerk, telegrapher, agent and assistant to the general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific until, in 1910, he was made assistant general manager in charge of electric lines. Then he was president of the Pacific Electric Railway, from 1912 to 1919. Next, a vice-president of the Southern Pacific, when the government took over the operation of the company's steam lines. Then executive vice-president during the last four years.

Now at 54 years of age, popular, pleasant and thorough, Mr. Shoup takes over the presidency of one of the largest railway systems in the world.

Mr. Williamson, Yale graduate, entered the New York Central Railroad service in 1908. In 1910 he was made superintendent of the St. Lawrence division, and six years later he was transferred to the Hudson division with headquarters in New York. Upon the termination of the war he became superintendent of the terminal district of the New York Central. Then he went west, and he has been associated with some part of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy road ever since.

Is there a plan in the making to unite the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Burlington and Southern Pacific into America's largest railroad system? Probably not a merger, but a working agreement. It looks that way.

Hale Holden, former president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad, has become chairman of the board of the Southern Pacific. All are working closely together. This may be the line of their future development.

Wealth is no respecter of health. In 1911, W. H. McFadden, then president of the McIntosh-Hemphill Steel Foundry of Pittsburgh, went west with his health broken, ready to die. In Oklahoma he pitched his tent on the prairie, with Indians mostly for companions, and with only one white man, E. W. Marland, a lawyer friend from Pittsburgh.

Mr. Marland began drilling for oil a few weeks later, with George Miller, of 101 Ranch. Their funds ran out. They were about ready to quit. They hesitated to ask Mr. McFadden, then ill with pneumonia, for money. But desperate, they decided it was the only way to save themselves.

Mr. McFadden with difficulty signed the check to help the boys out. They went at it again and brought in the well. It was the beginning of the Marland and Miller fortunes. But Mr. McFadden recovered and he shared in the huge profits. Later he became vice-president of the Marland Company, resigning only recently, when Mr. Marland himself retired.

TREND OF STOCK MARKET UNEVEN

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment imparted an irregular price trend in today's curb market but several surprising gains were scored in the face of 12 per cent call money. While final quotations disclosed a rather long list of net declines, there were few wide open breaks, most of the issues being held to a point or two. At least a dozen issues established new high levels for the year.

Ford Company, Ltd., was again the leader in the point of activity, touching a new high record at 24⅛ on a turnover of more than 250,000 shares. Ford of Canada dropped 7 points to 668 on a few odd-lot sales.

Fox Theaters changed hands in large volume around the year's high price in anticipation of higher earnings next year. Balaban & Katz advanced nearly 3 points on the announcement that Paramount Famous Lasky had increased its holdings of that issue.

Metropolitan Chain Stores assumed the leadership of the merchandising group by climbing nearly 5 points to a new high record at 80 on a revival of reports that the stock would be split up on a two-for-one basis next year. Kinnear Stores fell back 4 points and Dominion Stores 3.

Wide fluctuations took place in a few high-priced specialties. Deere & Co. ran up 16 points to a new high at 574 and New Jersey Zinc soared 13½ to a new top at 262½. Libby-Owens Sheet Glass, Newmont Mining, Pender Grocery A, Sparks Withington, Stahl Meyer and Waitt & Bond B closed 4 to 7 points higher. On the other hand, Fuller Brush AA broke 17⅞ points to a new low at 61⅛ on a couple of sales and Aluminum Limited, Celluloid, St. Regis Paper and Southern Stores A dropped 4 to 6 points.

A few of the public utilities moved upward, but the oils failed to participate extensively in the afternoon rally.

With several recent trading favorites transferred to the "big board," there was a marked falling off in the volume of trading, the day's sales barely crossing 1,500,000 shares.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

SEASONED BONDS

Secured by First Mortgages on Downtown Properties Yielding 5.50% to 7%

A FEW years ago, there were many attractive first mortgage bonds secured by downtown structures in Los Angeles available for investors.

Yet today, a comparative shortage of these securities exists due to their continued absorption by Eastern markets. Many issues have already been refinanced in the East on a 6% and in some cases a 5½% basis.

For your January funds we suggest seasoned first mortgage bonds secured by completed properties in downtown Los Angeles. We offer a diversified selection of these issues at prices to yield 5.50% to 7.00%—exempt, in opinion of counsel, from California Personal Property Tax.

AUTOMOBILES AND AVIATION

DURING the past 25 years 180 different makes of automobiles have been driving the horse from our highways. Today a finished product is manufactured by less than 60 companies, and only 11 of these are original survivors.

The history of the automobile will repeat itself in aviation. New industries sift themselves.

North American Aviation, Inc., is in effect an investment holding company dealing in aviation stocks. Its management embraces men of proven practical ability in the fields of aviation, ground transportation and banking.

TOP REACHED BY YOUNG MAN

W. Marland has erected a statue of his old associate, W. H. McFadden, and named it "The Pioneer Man."

This statue represents Mr. McFadden in the garb of a pioneer, holding a musket.

Mr. Marland, who is now 54 years of age, lives on a fine estate at Ponca City, Okla. He has long since quit the law.

But he has not forgotten his old friends of the pioneer days.

Harvey S. Firestone wants American rubber interests to take steps to control their own production. While he has started on such a program in Liberia his friend, Henry Ford, has begun to develop his plantations in Brazil.

Mr. Firestone, who is 60, was graduated from high school in a small town in Ohio, and went immediately to Cleveland, where he completed a course in a business college. Like many other young men, he did not know what he wanted to do. He remained in Cleveland as a book-keeper in a coal office. This became dull and monotonous. He left the job to sell buggies in Michigan.

It was there that he got the idea a rubber-tire buggy was needed. With his friends he raised $1000 and started in Chicago, but in 1901 he moved the plant to Akron, O. So the great plant of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company of Akron really sprang from the idea of a rubber tire on a buggy in the days before the automobile.

Today the Firestone company has an output of 10,000,000 tires a year, employs 10,000 men and has a gross tire sale of approximately $80,000,000, of which $2,000,000 a year is put into advertising. Today Mr. Firestone's large rubber plantation development in Liberia is expanding on a scale which will require ultimately the expenditure of $100,000,000, but to Mr. Firestone this is just another job.

"I attribute any success I may have had to the fact that at the beginning I had no capital," said this rubber manufacturer. "Then I had to watch every expenditure. Men fail, I believe, because they have no goal and work aimlessly in life. Every successful man has a definite aim, and his efforts are given over to accomplish that end."

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Activity Manifests Stronger Tone in Local Stock Trading Session

Marked improvement followed an active session yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Although speculative interest was largely centered on oil stocks, there was a smart increase in the attention directed toward industrials. Emsco Derrick, Globe Grain, Home Service and Pacific Clay Products all figured prominently and were moved upward. Oil stocks strengthened fractionally.

Emsco Derrick rose to new heights with a jump of 8 points to a record peak and close at 312. Speculative interest lies in the dividend action to be taken on the new split-up stock January 2. Globe Grain moved up ½ to 32, just 3-4 below the year's top. Home Service closed up 5-8 to 26 5-8, fractionally below the peak. Pacific Clay Products advanced 2 points to 30½.

Union of California vied with Rio Grande for leadership of the trading activity in the oil group. The former strengthened 1-4 to 52½ while the latter moved up ½ to 32 3-4. Rio Grande old stock held firm to 160. Union Associates gained fractionally to 52 1-8 while Union Oil rights jumped 10 cents to 1.80. Standard of California eased 1-4 to 71½, on light sales. Barnsdall advanced ½ to 40 1-4.

Lower-priced oil issues presented a mixed tone at the close. Mascot and Mt. Diablo sold down while Buckeye advanced 5 cents to 1.90 and Republic Petroleum, 3 cents to 75. Little activity was manifested among bank shares. California Bank closed off 1 3-4 to 128. Los Angeles-First National and Merchants' National held steady to 120 and 250, respectively.

ONE LA SALLE STREET BUILDING

N. La Salle and W. Madison Streets
Chicago, Illinois

First Mortgage Leasehold 6% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds
(Being part of an issue of $5,500,000, of which $250,000 are General Mortgage bonds subordinate to the balance of the issue)

Dated: December 1, 1928 Due: January 1, 194
United States Federal Income Tax not in excess of 2% paid by borrower
TRUSTEE: Straus National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago

MORTGAGED PROPERTY: The bonds are secured by a closed first mortgage on the leasehold estate in One La Salle Street Building, to be erected, and the underlying land fronting approximately 177 feet on La Salle Street and 101 feet on Madison Street at the northeast corner. It will be of steel and reinforced concrete fireproof construction, 47 stories high with basement and sub-basement, one of the outstanding office buildings of Chicago.

La Salle Street is the principal financial street of the city and Madison Street is the most important thoroughfare crossing it. This site is one of the most valuable in the city. Office space in this area is in strong demand and its occupancy ratio is probably higher than for other comparable districts.

VALUATION: The mortgaged property is appraised by the American Appraisal Company as follows: Leasehold estate, $700,000; Building (completed), $6,867,160; Total $7,567,160. This shows a margin of $2,317,160 above the amount of this first mortgage bond issue.

EARNINGS: Gross annual income is estimated at $1,590,769; operating expense, ground rent, taxes, insurance and ample allowance for vacancies are estimated at $912,238, leaving $678,531 net annual income, which is more than twice the greatest annual interest charge on these first mortgage bonds.

MORTGAGOR: The bonds are a direct obligation of Illinois Improvement and Building Corporation whose officers and principal stockholders are experienced in the construction and operation of properties of this character.

SINKING FUND: Through the operation of a sinking fund $2,148,000 will be retired before maturity, leaving a balance of $3,102,000 to be paid.

PRICE: Par and Accrued Interest to Yield 6%
We recommend these bonds. Call, phone or write for CIRCULAR [illegible]

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Activity on the selling side was more pronounced in the bond market today, and except for gains in a few issues resulting from a small amount of investment buying, closing prices of the general list were somewhat lower. Time money showed firming tendencies, banks again called loans and there was little in the way of new developments to encourage trading.

A feature of the session was the improvement shown by government obligations especially Treasury notes, which made substantial gains.

Coppers were irregular. Anaconda Copper 7s, Chile Copper 5s and Tennessee Copper 6s showed gains of a point each, but Andes 7s sold off more than 4 points. Utilities, among the strong spots daily earlier in the week, slumped under profit-taking today. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s yielded nearly 2 points and International Telephone debenture 4½s and convertible 4½s and American Telephone 5s and a number of others closed with fractional losses.

Among other industrials inclined to heaviness were Colon Oil 6s, Consolidated Coal of Maryland 5s, General Motors acceptance 6s, Hudson Coal 5s, Kayser & Co. 5½s, National Dairy Products 5¼s and the United States Rubber issues. Youngstown Sheet and Tube 5s, Wickwire-Spencer Steel convertible 7s, United States Steel 5s, Bethlehem Steel 5½s, Chesapeake Corporation 5s and McCrory Stores 5½s were acquired at slightly better prices.

Rails generally were inclined to heaviness, although a few, such as Wisconsin Central 4s, Southern Pacific 4s, Chicago Great Western 4s and Erie 5s, made small gains. St. Paul 5s and New York Railways 6s sagged fractionally under heavy selling.

Strength of Bolivian government and a few German industrial issues was the feature of the irregular foreign list. Italian industrials lost ground.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

ported a decrease of $10,395,000 in brokers' loans, which brings the total down to $5,091,427,000, which is more than $300,000,000 under the record total established in the week ended the 5th inst., but about $1,250,000,000 more than the aggregate borrowings a year ago. The compilation discloses that out of town banks withdrew about $90,000,000 from the stock market during the week, which was largely offset by the New York banks, which placed about $80,000,000 into the market. Loans for the account of others were reduced by approximately $9,000,000.

CREDIT UNEASY

Bankers looked for the peak of the high money rates tomorrow. Brokers expressed more concern, however, as to probable course of money rates after the first of the year, when the normal trend is sharply downward. Further increases in time-money rates today were regarded as indicating that real easy money can hardly be expected in the near future. The reserve bank disclosed that recent imports of $3,000,000 in gold from Canada had been more than offset by ear markings of $5,000,000 for foreign account.

The day's news was marked by further excellent railroad earnings for November. The first thirty-one roads to report net operating income for the month showed an aggregate increase of more than 25 per cent over November, 1927. United States Industrial Alcohol raised its annual dividend rate from $5 to $6.

Radio fluctuated wildly, selling off 9 points to 347 in the forenoon, then shooting up 23 points to 370 at the close. National Tea, Wright Aero and Case Threshing mounted 11 to 18 points.

Goodyear Tire shot up 10 points to a new peak at 140. This issue has been under accumulation for some time by Akron and New York interests, with the result that the floating supply has become low. Goodrich jumped 8 points to a new peak.

Allis-Chalmers soared about 15 points to a new top. General Electric touched a new peak at 212½, while Montgomery Ward, Mohawk Carpet and St. Joseph Lead were among other issues breaking into new high ground. American Can, United States Steel, New York Central and General Motors moved up about 2 points each.

DuPont dropped 10 points, but reduced its loss to 6. Keith-Albee preferred, Stanley Company, Pere Marquette and National Biscuit were among issues losing from 5 to 12 points.

The commodity markets were dull. Cotton closed steady, while wheat was somewhat heavy on bearish news from South America.

With the exception of the Canadian dollar, which again sagged, foreign exchanges remained firm despite the high money rates at New York.

In five years there will be no silent motion pictures.—[Jesse L. Laskey, film producer.

LOCKHEED

WARRANTS
Expire Sunday, December 30, 1928

IF your LOCKHEED Warrants are not exercised before Sunday next you will lose the right to purchase new stock at 6% per share . . . and the old stock you hold will take the status of new stock (without Warrant privileges) at prevailing market.

It is our sincere belief that every stockholder should exercise these very valuable Warrants at once . . . bearing in mind that the entire issue has been underwritten.

We believe the present market situation to be only temporary.

Recent Facts Regarding LOCKHEED

—From a personnel of five employees and a production of three planes in 1927 . . . LOCKHEED has grown to 150 employees and 50 planes produced in 1928.

In 1929 the company goes on a production schedule of 200 PLANES to sell at an average price of $15,000 per plane.

Factory floor space has been more than doubled since March, 1928. With completion of construction now in progress the LOCKHEED Aircraft company will have a total of 47,850 square feet of floor space, equipped to meet the growing demand.

Site is being selected for LOCKHEED'S eastern assembly plant . . . to be in operation a short time after the first of the year.

Adding substantially to LOCKHEED sales and distribution facilities is a recently signed contract for a minimum of $750,000 worth of LOCKHEED Aircraft to be purchased for delivery in 1929 by Brock and Schlee, famous round-the-world flyers, who will devote their entire time to the distribution of LOCKHEED "Vegas" in the Central and Southern States.

For speed, endurance and economical efficiency under all flying conditions, LOCKHEED stands among the leaders of the AIRCRAFT industry. Among its long list of achievements are Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins' 2200-mile flight over Arctic wastes from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen . . . Lee Schoenhair's nonstop flight, San Diego to Harrisburg, Pa., in 15½ hours at an average speed of 158 miles per hour . . . Col. Arthur Goebel's record-breaking cross-country flight, San Diego to New York, in 18 hours and 58 minutes, nearly eight hours less than the fastest previous time . . . Captain Collyer's east to west record, New York to San Diego, in 24 hours, 51 minutes.

Two LOCKHEED planes are now performing valiantly and well with Sir Hubert Wilkins under the most trying conditions in his present exploration of the South Polar regions.

All of the planes, above mentioned, represent standard stock model LOCKHEED Vega monoplanes of the exact type now being flown commercially and for pleasure . . . and being turned out on a quantity production basis by the LOCKHEED factory.

We invite your serious consideration of these facts . . . the international reputation of LOCKHEED . . . the dependable performance of its planes in every test . . . the factory production facilities . . . the well-managed organization of the Company . . . the sale outlets established . . . and the profit possibilities back of this successful Los Angeles corporation.

On the basis of these facts we unhesitatingly recommend that all stockholders exercise every possible right and not allow their Warrants to go into default.

Corn Futures Ease Off After Opening Bulge

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—An early bulge in corn, which carried the May delivery up to 91⅞, or within ⅛c of the best figure on the crop, brought in free profit-taking by local and outside longs. A reaction of ⅝c from the best price followed, with buying against bids the main factor in checking the decline. December acted tight from the start, and with short covering was less aggressive. It gained ⅛c on the May and finished at 4⅞c under the latter, compared with 7c at one time last week. The close was ⅛c higher to ⅝c lower, the former on December, which was 86⅜@86½ at the last, with May 91⅛@91¼.

The wheat market was a small affair, with a range of ⅛c for the day, the finish being ¼@⅜c lower, with December leading. The latter closed at the bottom at 1.14@1.14⅛ and May was 1.20⅞@1.20⅞. Oats were ⅜c higher to ⅛c lower, with December showing the strength, closing at 48⅜, or ⅝c over May. Rye was ⅜c higher to ⅛c lower, with December 1.02⅝@1.02⅛ and May 1.08.

The evening-up process continues in corn, with scattered longs in the December delivery gradually getting out, and the same applies to the shorts. A house with foreign board connections sold December and bought May. Deliveries of 720,000 bushels on December contracts failed to have much effect on the market. Local bulls were good buyers of May early and later some of them turned to the selling side. The open interest in the December delivery at the close on Wednesday was nearly 13,000,000 bushels, and there is only three more days in which to even up the trades.

Routine news attracted little attention, although the reduction of 3,400,000 head in the estimated spring and fall pig crop, was taken as indicating smaller farm consumption of corn ultimately. Country offerings were small, with purchases of 38,000 bushels to arrive. The spot basis was steady to 1c lower. Outside markets materially outbid Chicago down-State for cash grain. Buenos Aires was ½@1⅛c lower for the day, with May 80⅛.

Wheat market showed an easy undertone the greater part of the day, with houses with Winnipeg connections rather persistent sellers. Deliveries of 934,000 bushels had some effect on the December, which went to 6⅜c under May at the last and led the decline. Private reports from Argentina suggested that the new crop was the largest on record. In 1923 the yield was 249,000 bushels. Liverpool was ⅛d higher to ⅜d lower as compared with Monday, with the December showing the most strength. Export demand at the seaboard was slow and is expected to remain so for some days. India is reported to have bought Australian wheat for shipment as far ahead as the first half of August.

December oats went to a premium over May for the first time on the crop as the result of short covering, while a cash interest sold the December and bought May. The December acted tight from the start. Duluth houses were on the buying side of December rye, which showed independent strength, while the deferred deliveries were influenced by the action of wheat. No export business was reported at the seaboard.

The government report, showing a shortage in the pig crop, had a little to do with sentiment in provision trade, influencing some covering by shorts, and new buying of lard by commission houses. Offerings of products were not large and well taken. Prices advanced and closed at net gains of 7½@12½c, May leading in strength. Bellies were offered by packers and met a fair call, with the close 25c up on December, 5c on January and 10c on May. Ribs were unchanged to 10c higher.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Rallies in some trade buying and covering followed the early decline in the cotton market today under near month liquidation and in sympathy with relatively easy Liverpool cables. After selling off to 20.14 early, January rallied about 10 points from the lowest, with the midafternoon market showing net advances of 1 to 6 points.

Trading was quiet, with prices correspondingly responsive to small orders.

State Line Generating Company
Two-Year 5½% Gold Notes
Due December 1, 1930
Price 99.10 and Interest, Yielding 6.00%

The following is summarized in part from a letter of Mr. Samuel Insull, President of State Line Generating Company:

Business: State Line Generating Company was organized to furnish power at wholesale to the Commonwealth Edison Company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, Northern Indiana Public Service Company and Interstate Public Service Company. These four companies own directly or through subsidiaries the entire capital stock of the Company now outstanding. The Company owns a site located on the shores of Lake Michigan immediately southeast of the Illinois-Indiana state line, upon which is being built a large and advanced type of generating station, the first unit of which is expected to be in operation in the fall of 1929. Proceeds from the sale of these Notes will be used in connection with the construction of the station.

Completion: The cost of the station and initial installation of generating equipment is estimated at $28,500,000. The owning companies have obligated themselves, in the respective proportions in which they now own the Capital Stock of the Company, to furnish all necessary funds in excess of the proceeds from the sale of not to exceed $21,000,000 principal amount of notes and /or bonds to complete the station and initial installation.

Earnings: Fifty year contracts have been entered into for the furnishing of electrical energy to the four above mentioned companies. Under the power contracts the estimated annual earnings and expenses of the Company after the completion of the 208,000 kilowatt capacity of the station now being installed are: Gross, $7,555,850; Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes (except Federal), $4,426,350; Net Earnings, $3,129,500, before Depreciation and Interest on the Company's maximum Funded Debt of $21,000,000 principal amount then to be outstanding.

A circular fully descriptive of the issue will be sent upon request

LOCKHEED

WARRANTS
Expire Sunday, December 30, 1928

If your LOCKHEED Warrants are not exercised before Sunday next you will lose the right to purchase new stock at 6% per share . . . and the old stock you hold will take the status of new stock (without Warrant privileges) at prevailing market.

It is our sincere belief that every stockholder should exercise these very valuable Warrants at once . . . bearing in mind that the entire issue has been underwritten.

We believe the present market situation to be only temporary.

Recent Facts Regarding LOCKHEED

—From a personnel of five employees and a production of three planes in 1927 . . . LOCKHEED has grown to 150 employees and 50 planes produced in 1928.

In 1929 the company goes on a production schedule of 200 PLANES to sell at an average price of $15,000 per plane.

Factory floor space has been more than doubled since March, 1928. With completion of construction now in progress the LOCKHEED Aircraft company will have a total of 47,850 square feet of floor space, equipped to meet the growing demand.

Site is being selected for LOCKHEED'S eastern assembly plant . . . to be in operation a short time after the first of the year.

Adding substantially to LOCKHEED sales and distribution facilities is a recently signed contract for a minimum of $750,000 worth of LOCKHEED Aircraft to be purchased for delivery in 1929 by Brock and Schlee, famous round-the-world flyers, who will devote their entire time to the distribution of LOCKHEED "Vegas" in the Central and Southern States.

For speed, endurance and economical efficiency under all flying conditions, LOCKHEED stands among the leaders of the AIRCRAFT industry. Among its long list of achievements are Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins' 2200-mile flight over Arctic wastes from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen . . . Lee Schoenhair's nonstop flight, San Diego to Harrisburg, Pa., in 15½ hours at an average speed of 158 miles per hour . . . Col. Arthur Goebel's record-breaking cross-country flight, San Diego to New York, in 18 hours and 58 minutes, nearly eight hours less than the fastest previous time . . . Captain Collyer's east to west record, New York to San Diego, in 24 hours, 51 minutes.

Two LOCKHEED planes are now performing valiantly and well with Sir Hubert Wilkins under the most trying conditions in his present exploration of the South Polar regions.

All of the planes, above mentioned, represent standard stock model LOCKHEED Vega monoplanes of the exact type now being flown commercially and for pleasure . . . and being turned out on a quantity production basis by the LOCKHEED factory.

We invite your serious consideration of these facts . . . the international reputation of LOCKHEED . . . the dependable performance of its planes in every test . . . the factory production facilities . . . the well-managed organization of the Company . . . the sale outlets established . . . and the profit possibilities back of this successful Los Angeles corporation.

On the basis of these facts we unhesitatingly recommend that all stockholders exercise every possible right and not allow their Warrants to go into default.

Corn Futures Ease Off After Opening Bulge

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—An early bulge in corn, which carried the May delivery up to 91⅝, or within ⅛c of the best figure on the crop, brought in free profit-taking by local and outside longs. A reaction of ⅜c from the best price followed, with buying against bids the main factor in checking the decline. December acted tight from the start, and with short covering was less aggressive. It gained ⅝c on the May and finished at 4⅞c under the latter, compared with 7c at one time last week. The close was ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, the former on December, which was 86⅜@86½ at the last, with May 91⅛@91¼.

The wheat market was a small affair, with a range of ½c for the day, the finish being ⅛@⅜c lower, with December leading. The latter closed at the bottom at 1.14@1.14⅛ and May was 1.20⅝@1.20¾. Oats were ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, with December showing the strength, closing at 48⅜, or ⅜c over May. Rye was ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower, with December 1.02⅝@1.02½ and May 1.08.

The evening-up process continues in corn, with scattered longs in the December delivery gradually getting out, and the same applies to the shorts. A house with foreign board connections sold December and bought May. Deliveries of 720,000 bushels on December contracts failed to have much effect on the market. Local bulls were good buyers of May early and later some of them turned to the selling side. The open interest in the December delivery at the close on Wednesday was nearly 13,000,000 bushels, and there is only three more days in which to even up the trades.

Routine news attracted little attention, although the reduction of 5,400,000 head in the estimated spring and fall pig crop, was taken as indicating smaller farm consumption of corn ultimately. Country offerings were small, with purchases of 30,000 bushels to arrive. The spot basis was steady to 1c lower. Outside markets materially outbid Chicago down-state for cash grain. Buenos Aires was ⅛@1⅛c lower for the day, with May 86⅛.

Wheat market showed an easy undertone the greater part of the day, with houses with Winnipeg connections rather persistent sellers. Deliveries of 834,000 bushels had some effect on the December, which went to 6⅛c under May at the last and led the decline. Private reports from Argentina suggested that the new crop was the largest on record. In 1923 the yield was 249,000 bushels. Liverpool was ⅛d higher to ⅛d lower as compared with Monday, with the December showing the most strength. Export demand at the seaboard was slow and is expected to remain so for some days. India is reported to have bought Australian wheat for shipment as far ahead as the first half of August.

December oats went to a premium over May for the first time on the crop as the result of short covering, while a cash interest sold the December and bought May. The December acted tight from the start. Duluth houses were on the buying side of December rye, which showed independent strength, while the deferred deliveries were influenced by the action of wheat. No export business was reported at the seaboard.

The government report, showing a shortage in the pig crop, had a little to do with sentiment in provision trade, influencing some covering by shorts, and new buying of lard by commission houses. Offerings of products were not large and well taken. Prices advanced and closed at net gains of 7½@12½c, May leading in strength. Bellies were offered by packers and met a fair call, with the close 25c up on December, 5c on January and 10c on May. Ribs were unchanged to 10c higher.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Rallies in some trade buying and covering followed the early decline in the cotton market today under near month liquidation and in sympathy with relatively easy Liverpool cables. After selling off to 20.14 early, January rallied about 10 points from the lowest, with the midafternoon market showing net advances of 1 to 6 points.

Trading was quiet, with prices correspondingly responsive to small orders.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Dec. 27. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Lapwelded steel and charcoal iron boiler tube producers are changing their base discounts effective January 1 to correspond with the seamless tube scale, but have arranged the supplementary discounts to provide a 5 per cent price advantage on lapwelded and charcoal iron tubes. An additional discount of 5 per cent is allowed on lapwelded tubes sold in less than carload lots. Manufacturers of seamless tubes are changing their discounts on less than carload orders to a simplified basis. Automotive part makers and motor-car builders are releasing a fair volume of specifications for hot-rolled strip steel, although much heavier business is expected soon.

MERCHANT SHIP GAIN FORECAST

Marine Paint Company Head Arrives at Port

Jones-White Act Viewed as Big Step Forward

Says $250,000,000 Allotment Paves Way for More

America, now lagging on the seas, is destined at last to have a merchant marine comparable with the best afloat, in the opinion of A. C. Holzapfel, head of International Compositions Company, which paints 40 per cent of the world's ships. He has observed ships sixty years and his staff of scientists around the world keeps him advised on every advance.

"The Jones-White Act allotting $250,000,000 for new construction, however, is a mere drop in the bucket," he said. "But Congress, having said 'aye,' now will be called upon to say, B, C, D and E.' Our coming fleet will cost plenty, but we will have it, must have it."

The act, he explained, aids passenger and mail-carrying ships, although not enough, but aid also must be lent freighters now wallowing along "on their own."

"Foreign competition demands also that these freighters be speeded up. Ten knots speed was all right before the war, but American cargo carriers must equal that of a British freighter in this port right now, doing 14.7 knots, if we are to compete."

He holds highest hope for the turbo-electric ship, pointing to the new Virginia here last week as possessing the highest efficiency possible of any ship afloat.

"America ought to concentrate on this, as their electrical wizards are unsurpassed, whereas our Diesel motors have extreme competition abroad, where there is more mass production."

He pointed out the economy of turbo-electrics, due to the cheapness of fuel oil; high conversion efficiency, and elimination of vibration, although he was almost as favorable to Diesel-electrics.

His world-dominant marine paint concern was wrought by his own hands from an alley shed in London more than fifty years ago. Today, at 75 years of age, he seems as alert as ever, travels yearly around the world, and is a student of the arts and music. He become an American citizen ten years ago.

Mr. Holzapfel is accompanied here this trip by his wife and daughter, and they are looking for a home site at Palos Verdes, where a son lives.

YEAR-END SAIL TO ENSENADA SCHEDULED

Admiral Line announces a special New Year's excursion to Ensenada on the liner Emma Alexander, leaving its Wilmington dock at 7 p.m. tomorrow. Upward of 300 Southlanders have booked passage.

The vessel will arrive at the Mexican resort the morning of the 30th inst., and start back the afternoon of the 31st inst. Celebration is planned aboard the ship at midnight New Year's Eve, the liner arriving here at 10 in the morning of January 1.

Special entertainers and an extra orchestra will accompany the liner. Among those on board will be E. Grant McMicken, passenger traffic manager of the Admiral Line, down from Seattle, and R. B. Schutten, Southern California passenger manager.

Although most of the steamship lines see much promise in 1929, the General Steamship Corporation has perhaps as pretentious an array as any of new ships scheduled to enter service here next year.

The French Line will bring out four sixty-passenger motor liners; it now has ten steamers on this run. The Italian-owned Libera Line, with five modern motor liners, plans two more and larger ones, each carrying 200 passengers, putting them in a class by themselves. The Westfal-Larsen Line from here to South America, which has five ships on the run, will bring out three new motorships, each carrying passengers, and the British-owned Kerr line, with five motorships running from here to Dutch East Indies, will introduce three new ones. Trans-Atlantic Steamship Company with six to Australia, has just added two fast motor liners and is planning a third.

General Steamship Corporation represents all. Capt. H. H. Birkholm, local manager, said the year closing has been one of consistent growth, but what is more, it has laid the foundations for far greater trade in the future.

Clark & Hansen Company, sea transporters of Mexican vegetables, have shifted their terminal from Long Beach to Berth 90, San Pedro. Their motorships Jeannette R and Camina will sail after New Year's for Cape San Lucas for tomatoes, and on February 1 they will add the motorship Zapora, due soon from Seattle. Tomatoes at the Cape are earlier than usual, Hansen said, and will start moving by mid-January. He anticipates hauling 100,000 lugs this season, compared to 61,000 last winter. Bananas also will be brought from San Blas. The products are shipped by rail from Los Angeles as far as Seattle and Butte.

Wrigley's tug Capt. William, towing the barge William Muller went to Catalina Island yesterday for its second load of 2000 tons of crushed rock to be hauled to San Diego. The material is used in naval construction at North Island.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Listing dangerously after a battle with southeast gales along the California and Oregon coast, the British steamship Querous put into San Francisco Bay today to repair her damage. Her deckload of 350,000,000 feet of lumber twisted and shifted, the vessel was in a precarious condition when she made port. The Querous, with a crew of forty, was en route from the Columbia River to the River Platte, South America. It is expected that she will resume her voyage in a few days.

Charging negligence, Granville D. Abbott of Piedmont, and Mrs. Florence Abbott, today filed suit in the local Superior Court for $12,973 damages from the Matson Navigation Company. Mrs. Abbott asserted that she slipped in a pool of oil on the Matson pier as she was boarding the liner Manoa for Honolulu, receiving serious injuries. Granville Abbott asked $2000 for the "loss of his wife's companionship" as a result of the accident.

The Japanese steamer Hakubasan Maru, in command of Capt. Umeda, sailed from here today for Los Angeles, only to return shortly after passing out of the harbor when engine trouble developed.

TACOMA, Dec. 27. (AP)—Copper ore is being loaded for Yokohama and other oriental ports by the Japanese liner Arabia Maru, which arrived here this morning from Vancouver, B. C. Another arrival was the Stewart Dollar from British Columbia ports to load lumber, ore and general for Shanghai and other Far East destinations.

The Horace Luckenbach took lumber and general cargo for New York and other east coast ports today before shifting to Seattle. Another departure was the American-Hawaiian freighter Nevadan for Seattle, after loading lumber and general for New York and other east coast ports.

SEATTLE, Dec. 27. (AP)—Two new chartres were announced today by the Canadian American Shipping Company to lift cargoes from Seattle for Europe during January. In addition to the ships the Nuolka and the Suveric, the company will also have two of the vessels in its regular service, The Cape Cornwall and the Volumnia, loading here for Europe early in the new year.

Local steamship men believe the Gilda Scudari, reported overdue, may have reached Kobe without having cabled any-one save her operators, the Clinchfield Navigation Company of New York. The vessel is small and shipping men here say vessels of her type quite often complete voyages to the Orient without any formal notices through the regular channels. The Gilda Scudari arrived in Seattle November 2 for bunker coal and sailed November 5 for Kobe via Muroran. She carried a cargo of scrap iron.

NEW LABOR PROGRAM TO TAKE TIME

Portes Gil's Legislation Project Cannot Become Law Until September

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 27. (AP)—The newspaper El Universal said today that the labor legislation project sponsored by President Portes Gil cannot be enacted into law before the September session of Congress.

Enactment of the proposals which were recently discussed by the national conference of employers and employees will necessitate amending two articles of the Constitution that refer to labor legislation.

Since amendment of the Constitution requires the approval of the majority of the State legislatures, there will be no time to rush the measure through this session of Congress, which adjourns at the end of December.

The new labor project embodies radical changes in existing labor regulations, establishes a system of labor courts and provides for conscription of labor in time of emergency.

Blame for Lisps in Talkie Film Put on Device

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—The lack of delicacy in recording arrangements, not the actor's vocal cords, is responsible for the many lispers heard on the new talking screen of today, in the opinion of Prof. W. R. MacDonald, head of the dramatic department of the University of Southern California, who addressed the National Association of Teachers of Speech today.

"Adult stars as well as infant stars can be instructed in the finesse of English speech," said Mr. MacDonald. "The voice demanded in pictures is not the 'stagey' voice with its affectation nor the 'natural' voice, but a voice which simulates the natural voice—one which employs art to conceal art."

A school for incipient film actors or directors has been established for some time at the university, said Mr. MacDonald. It is known as the "school of moving picture science" and its establishment was due to the demands of the community.

MATTRESS PLANT BURNS

COLUMBUS (O.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused last night by fire which originated in a mattress factory and spread to adjoining buildings before being subdued. Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

The greatest income in Southern California is from manufacturing, according to the Annual Midwinter Number of The Times out January 2.

NEW ORDER ISSUED AS SAFETY AID

Power Line Regulations Given Sweeping Revision by Railroad Board

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—A new and sweeping revision of regulations governing installation and maintenance of electric power lines and equipment was issued by the State Railroad Commission today in general order No. 64-A, superseding general order No. 64.

The new order took two years to compile and practically will eliminate deaths by electrocution, in the opinion of the railroad commissioners. Latest methods of insulating power cables and installation of safety devices will be made mandatory by the order, copies of which will be sent to twenty-nine nations of the world and twenty-four States of the Union. Copies already have been mailed to sixty-five public utilities in California.

Before the commission in 1922 began its campaign for greater safety in overhead electrical construction, there were between two and three deaths a week directly traceable to it, the commission announced. In the last twelve months there have been but seven deaths caused by overhead electrical construction and two of these, it was reported, were accidents in which the victims fell from poles on which they had no right to be.

PRODUCERS ELECT NEW MEMBERS

Two Makers of Sound Pictures Added to Roll of Hays Organization

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—A special meeting today of the board of directors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, which is headed by Will Hays, membership in the organization was voted to RCA Photophone and John E. Otterson, president of Electrical Research Products both sound picture organizations. David Sarnoff, president of RCA Photophone, was elected to the board of the Hays organization.

Electrical Research Products is the manufacturer of the synchronizing process of the Western Electric Company. RCA Photophone is a subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America engaged in the commercial development of devices for recording and reproducing sound pictures and in producing talking pictures.

The board of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America also elected as directors Harry M. Warner, representing Warner Brothers Pictures and Vitagraph; Albert Warner, representing First National Pictures, and Hiram S. Brown, representing FBO Pictures Corporation.

EIGHT HURT WHEN STAGE JUMPS ROAD

Broken Steering Knuckle Blamed for Bad Accident South of San Mateo

SAN MATEO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Eight persons were injured, two seriously, when the Pickwick stage Oxford left the highway south of here today and snapped off two trees and a telephone pole. The stage was en route from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

W. H. Richmond, 878 Santa Rosa street, San Luis Obispo, the driver, was the most seriously injured. The crash hurled him over the wheel, inflicting possible internal injuries, a broken nose and a deep gash on the head.

P. C. Miller of San Francisco was lacerated so badly by flying glass that his face may be disfigured. Richmond and Miller were taken to the Mills Memorial Hospital. The other six passengers, it is reported, received injuries so slight that hospital treatment was unnecessary.

The driver attributed the wreck to a broken steering knuckle on the stage.

Chicago Divorce Record Climbs

CHICAGO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Chicago's divorce total for 1928 already exceeds that of the previous year by 401 decrees, statistics compiled today by clerks of the Superior and Circuit Court show.

Of 9621 decrees, 7300 were obtained by wives and 2309 by husbands. The survey shows 85 per cent of the couples are childless, but that the breaking of the marital ties in the cases of the other 15 per cent left 5664 children homeless.

Cruelty was the most popular ground for divorces. The figures were cruelty, 4173; desertion, 3944; drunkenness, 1058, and infidelity, 481.

Falling Man Dies on Tension Wires

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—William H. Petterson leaped or fell from a six-story apartment-house roof today and was burned to death when he fell on high-tension wires. The body's impact broke half a dozen wires, short-circuited others and burned out several transformers. Petterson's body, clad in pajamas, dropped to the sidewalk.

Petterson was a former Fresno grocer and had been in ill health for the last three years.

Neighbors alarmed at the transformer explosions called the fire department and at least six clanging engines sped to the scene, adding to the general excitement.

Rules Made for New Year Celebration

Wholesome fun, plenty of noise and good-natured celebration will be allowed New Year's Eve, but hoodlumism, molestation of women with feather ticklers and any damaging of property will not be tolerated, according to an ultimatum issued by Captain of Police Amman, commander of central division.

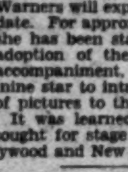
As usual each year the downtown area will be restricted against all vehicular traffic except street cars, so that merrymakers may escort the old year out and the new year in with as little congestion as possible.

No automobile traffic or parking will be allowed on Broadway from Third to Seventh streets or on Fourth, Fifth, Sixth or Seventh streets from the west line of Spring to the east line of Hill street. This regulation will be in effect from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m., January 1.

Police patrolling of all districts throughout the city has been ordered doubled and special squads will be detailed to the restricted area to maintain order. While Capt. Amman's order is strict in preventing any form of rowdyism, he has cautioned his men to "used good judgment and be lenient as possible with everybody, taking into consideration the intent and the manner in which the deed is done rather than the deed itself."

Miss McAvoy to Sever Ties With Warners

Confirming a report that has been prevalent for several days, May McAvoy, film actress under contract to Warner Brothers, admitted yesterday that on January 6, next, she will sever connections with that organization.



MAY McAVOY

Miss McAvoy, who is known as the "Vitaphone Girl," because of the large number of Vitaphone talking pictures in which she has appeared, declared that her contract with Warners will expire on the foregoing date. For approximately three years she has been starred, and with the adoption of the Vitaphone talking accompaniment, was the first feminine star to introduce the new type of pictures to the public.

It was learned that she is being sought for stage plays in both Hollywood and New York.

Police Body Asks Data on Fire Site

The Police Commission, seeking information from the Fire Commission in regard to the injunction suit being dismissed against exchange of the joint police and fire station at Hollywood for other and separate sites, was referred to the City Attorney yesterday by the fire commissioners.

The suit had been aimed against the fire department using a Vine-street site for a new station, but also blocked plans for a separate police station. The suit was dismissed when the fire department decided on another site. Now the police department wants to know where it stands in order to go ahead with its new station.

HORNS LOCKED IN PLANT FIGHT

Residents Heckle Bell at Palisades Meeting

Deposit Owner Says Plant Will be Built

Showdown Inquiry Set Before Council

Alphonso Bell, principal owner and developer of residential districts in the Santa Ynez Canyon and backer of the proposed cement project of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company, appeared before a meeting of the Pacific Palisades property owners last night and definitely stated his organization intends "going ahead with the enterprise."

"Those who think my company is wrong in trying to take out this deposit of limestone have a perfect right to object if they want to," he declared. "I do not object to you opposing the project if you see fit. But I see nothing wrong in this particular instance of us taking out this deposit of rich limestone which nature has placed there. We do not believe it will affect the property owners because it is away off in the hills several miles from the nearest inhabitant."

QUESTIONS HURLED

"But suppose somebody else wanted to drill for oil, or dig for gold or build a cemetery in this district, would they not have the same right that you have?" demanded a woman property owner in the audience.

"They would have the right to ask for a special zoning permit the same as we intend to do," replied Mr. Bell.

"But aren't there restrictions on us?" she asked.

"Yes, but I have no restrictions," was Mr. Bell's response.

Several others in the audience began to ask Mr. Bell questions. One woman wanted to know what would happen if the pipe-line idea proved not to be feasible. Mr. Bell replied that the question "was immaterial."

"Yes it is material," insisted the questioner, "we want to know what would happen if the quarry and the rock crushing plant was built and then it was found that the pipe line wouldn't work. Would you then erect a cement manufacturing plant beside the rock crushing plant?"

"Well, I don't know as that has anything to do with it, because my engineers say it will work?"

"But that isn't answering my question. Could a cement manufacturing plant be built there alongside the rock crusher?"

"I suppose it could if permission was obtained from the zoning committee," was the answer.

FLUSHING WATER

Mr. Bell continued by stating that it is erroneous to believe that the waters of Santa Monica Bay would be muddied by an excess of pulverized limestone being allowed to spill into it from the proposed pipeline extension.

He stated also that the limestone solution fed into the proposed pipe would not be allowed to stand long enough to solidify.

"Just enough would be forced through the pipe to fill the ship at the buoys," he said, "and then the pipe would be flushed out."

"Where would the flushing water go to?" demanded a man in the audience.

Mr. Bell studied an instant and then replied:

"It would be put into the boat also."

The meeting last night was held under the auspices of the Pacific Palisades Improvement Association. It was the annual meeting and W. S. Rothery was elected president for the coming year.

SHOWDOWN MEETING

An opportunity for a public hearing for all views on the proposed establishment of the quarry and rock crushing plant is to be afforded by the City Council next

SUMNER RITES ANNOUNCED

Obsequies for Pioneer Los Angeles Resident and Realty Operator Set for Today

C. A. Sumner, pioneer resident of Los Angeles and for a number of years one of the leading real-estate operators of Southern California, who died at his home Wednesday night following a lingering illness, will be laid at rest today after the funeral services at 1 p.m. at the W. M. Strother chapel at 6240 Hollywood Boulevard.

Coming to Los Angeles in 1872 from his home in London, Eng., where he was born March 11, 1846, Mr. Sumner is credited in real-estate circles with having been among the first to realize the eventual activities in California, and especially the future growth of the southern part of the State.

After his first visit here he returned to England and brought his family to his new-found home in 1873. The trip was made on the Old Constitution. One of his first real-estate ventures was made in 1876 when he joined with two others and purchased the noted Elsinore ranch of 15,000 acres, buying at $2.50 an acre. He held this property until 1880, when absence of a market for sheep caused him to sell it at $2.25 an acre.

HOTEL OPERATOR

In 1878 he became a part of the management of the old Pico House and operated the place as a hotel for William Pico for a number of years. Later he moved his family to Santa Monica, while he made a trip that took him to San Francisco, Portland, back to Cincinnati, where he endeavored to interest himself in business projects. Nothing seemed to suit his ideas of a section the possibilities of which loomed so great as California, and he returned in 1886.

From that move until a few years before his death he and his family resided in Los Angeles continuously and he was actively connected with some of the larger real-estate projects. He conducted the first successful land auction here in 1887. He also was interested in the first attempt to make Catalina Island a pleasure point and home center.

Early in 1888 Mr. Sumner and George Shadow negotiated for the island holdings, which they purchased from the Lick estate, and Mr. Sumner then laid out the townsite of Avalon.

RETIREMENT FORCED

Numerous other real-estate propositions have been handled by the concern of C. A. Sumner & Co., of which the deceased was the principal factor until poor health and declining years forced his partial retirement from active business operations.

While he had been confined to his home for several months, and in bed a portion of the time, he seemingly was in good health a few hours before his death. A sudden relapse, however, and he lost consciousness, to pass away in an untroubled sleep.

Sumner leaves two children, a son, C. R. Sumner, who lives in Pasadena, and a daughter, Mrs. A. P. Robinson, who lived with her father at the family home at 1555 North Hayworth avenue.

The deceased was a charter member of the California Club, a charter member of the Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Jonathan Club.

JAPAN GIVES PASADENAN HIGH HONOR

Emperor Confers Fourth Order of Sacred Treasure on Bishop Reifsnider

Rt. Rev. Charles S. Reifsnider of Pasadena has been honored by the Fourth Order of the Sacred Treasure, conferred upon him by the Emperor of Japan, it was announced yesterday by Paul Rusch of St. Luke's International Hospital, Tokio, who is visiting at the Biltmore.

Notice of the honor accorded the Episcopalian rector was received by Mr. Rusch yesterday and is the result of twenty-seven years' work by Dr. Reifsnider in Tokio, where among other important posts he was appointed to the presidency of St. Paul's University of Tokio, a position he still holds. It is the only Christian university in Central Japan.

When Bishop Reifsnider was consecrated at All Saints Church, Pasadena, following his election to the episcopate, as the suffragan bishop of North Tokio, he had concluded twenty-three years of strenuous endeavor on behalf of Japanese educational work.

The bishop is well known in Southern California, which he regards as his home, and is now making a speaking tour upon behalf of the national campaign to aid in reconstructing earthquake devastated areas of Japan.

Miss Adelina Garcia, 18, of 546 South Gless street, received first-degree burns when she attempted to light a gas-filled oven at her home.

NEW YEAR'S RAIN THREAT DISCOUNTED

Showers Forecast Today With Weather Colder and Fair Tomorrow

Although the Weather Bureau last night forecast unsettled weather with probable showers for today and fair and colder for tomorrow, the best deductions from weather maps and other prediction data yesterday indicated that rain is not likely to visit Southern California on New Year's Day.

Reports to the bureau last night from stations northward were to the effect that rain was falling yesterday forenoon at Eureka, and in San Francisco clouds were hanging low.

A few drops of rain fell in some districts in and adjacent to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon, but not in sufficient quantity to be officially noted by the weather offices.

ROSE PAGEANT HAS ITS THORNS

City Councilmen Recall Boos of Last Year and Protest Price of Car Decorations, But Finally Agree to Lend Flowered Presence to Parade

The Council voted yesterday to lend its beflowered presence toward the success of the Tournament of Roses parade next Tuesday at Pasadena, but not without some heated discussion which brought in roses, assessments, the Park Department, drum corps and ended with a broad hint to Leslie Henry, football impresario, that a few free tickets to the California-Georgia Tech game will be gratefully accepted.

It all started with the submission of a Finance Committee report recommending the appropriation of $850 to the Park Department with which to decorate the Council automobiles. Councilman Randall signed the report, but Councilman Hall scratched off his name, as did Councilman Ingram, who has been serving as acting chairman during the absence of Chairman Alber.

"I refuse to sign the report," said Councilman Hall, "because the Park Department refuses to pay its street assessments, although it has an annual income of more than $1,000,000 and declines to co-operate in the matter of the Griffith Park airport."

"And I won't sign it," added Councilman Ingram, "because Harland Hall, general manager of the parade, refused to permit us to use the Los Angeles American Legion drum corps, one of the finest organizations in the world, or carry our colors, and was very snooty about whether we are in the parade or not. There's a principle involved."

"All this is petty," said Councilman Colden.

"You weren't there last year," responded Hall, "and didn't hear the boos we received."

"Why buy $850 worth of roses when the Park Department has acres of them?" asked Councilman Davis.

"These are better roses," said Mr. Alber.

Whereupon the Councilmen adopted the report, to which Alber had appended his name, with Councilmen Hall, Hughes, Ingram and Webster voting no.

VALLEY FIELD TO GET FLIGHT

Metropolitan Picked for Question Mark

Freedom from Fog Dictates Selection by Army

Planes Will be Made Ready for Epochal Test

BY BILL HENRY

The start and finish of the flight of the Question Mark will be on the Metropolitan Airport in the San Fernando Valley. Announcement of this decision was made late yesterday afternoon at San Diego by Maj. Carl Spatz, commanding officer of the group which is to attempt to shatter a number of existing world's records for sustained flight, including duration and distance, and refueling. Selection of the Metropolitan Airport is due to its outstanding freedom from fog and smoke.

Located behind the Hollywood Hills, the airport is protected from the fogs which frequently blanket the territory on the ocean side, while the total absence of manufacturing plants in the immediate vicinity results in a similar absence of smoke. The field has two excellent runways, each 4000 feet long, and is lighted for night flying. It is located about two miles directly north of Van Nuys.

TUNE UP PLANES

With the final selection of the airport few details regarding the epoch-making aerial attempt remain to be settled. Maj. Spatz and his hardy aggregation of assistants will spend today and tomorrow at Rockwell Field tuning up their airplanes and practicing their aerial sleight-of-hand, and on Sunday the party will fly up to the Metropolitan Airport to await the actual start at daybreak New Year's Day.

Work on the Question Mark was being rushed to a conclusion by the mechanics at Rockwell Field last night. The plane will be taken up for a test flight this morning, and if everything functions properly there will be one or two refueling contacts in the air over San Diego in the course of the afternoon.

The refueling job is by now comparatively old stuff to the crew of the Question Mark and the crew of the refueling plane which came out from Washington for the flight, but the second refueling plane is manned entirely by Rockwell Field officers and even Capt. Hoyt, flying refueling plane No. 1, will have two "green hands" assisting him.

RUSH WORK ON FIELD

Waldo Waterman, old-timer among local flyers, who is manager of the Metropolitan Airport, said last night that work on the new field was being rushed to completion and that everything will be in readiness to receive the refueling party by Sunday. Yesterday afternoon the entire "apron" in front of the hangars was given a covering of crushed rock and oil which was, in turn, rolled so that there will be practically a macadam surface 1200 feet long in front of the hangars, simplifying the handling of the planes and obviating dust and dirt.

One of the two local hangars which have just been erected on the field, will be turned over in its entirety to the refueling expedition. This hangar has a span of 110 feet and is 170 feet deep. A number of offices will be made ready for flight officials and representatives of the press who will be present during the flight. The huge BBT flood light which lights up the runway has been tested and is ready for instant operation.

PLAYGROUNDS CROWDED

School vacation period raised the daily attendance total at the thirty-six municipal playgrounds to 17,721 persons; 7000 more daily than before schools closed, Supt. Hjelte reported to the Playground and Recreation Commission yesterday.

BILLION-DOLLAR PORT NEAR

Remarkable Commercial Strides of Harbor Made in Past Year Increase Los Angeles Ranking

First in the nation in intercoastal commerce, second in total commerce, second in foreign exports and fifth in total foreign commerce, the Harbor of Los Angeles in the coming year faces a better prospect than ever before in its history of exceeding the billion-dollar mark in total of tonnage value and is expected to establish a considerably higher record in aggregate tonnage. Estimating the present month's total tonnage as 2,000,000 valued at about $85,000,000, the aggregate tonnage handled through the port in 1928 comes to 23,551,368 tons valued at $945,456,958. More than $11,000,000 worth of bunker oil was handled through the port making the grand total in excess of $955,000,000.

Of outstanding significance is the fact that this year the port of Los Angeles advanced from fourth position in total commerce to second place, being surpassed in that regard only by the port of New York.

Los Angeles fell to fourth place in that regard in 1927 owing to the British coal strike which caused the export tonnage through the ports of Baltimore and Norfolk to increase to such extent that the former went to second position and the latter to third place.

COMMODITY PRICE FACTOR

Commodity price variation necessarily plays a chief part in tonnage valuation-showing at the end of the year. Thus while there was a material tonnage increase during the present year, there was not such a proportion of valuation advance.

An interesting instance is the case of rubber imported via the Los Angeles port. During 1928, about 50,000,000 pounds of rubber came in and around the first of this year it was quoted at from 44 to 45 cents per pound. At this time it is stated to be bringing from 18 to 20 cents a pound.

Something like 112,000,000 barrels of oil were handled through the port this year as against 115,000,000 barrels last year, but it is a notable fact that there has been a corresponding increase in the tonnage of manufactured products as the oil tonnage has decreased.

Approximately 14,000,000 barrels of bunker oil were handled during the year again maintaining our port as the foremost bunkering harbor. Its strategic position as a ship-fueling point is constantly becoming more important.

IMPRESSIVE STATISTICS

Following also are some of the impressive statistics obtained from the records of the department of foreign commerce and shipping, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, of which department Clarence H. Matson

A REPUBLICAN form of government also has its horrors.

Such as this New York man who proudly boasts that he talked politics to 4300 people in the smoking cars of Pullmans on the way to California and back.

There are circumstances in which a train wreck would be welcomed as a blessing.

FUEL FROM FAUCETS

A Brazilian with the grand old Latin name of Von Hohenau claims to have invented a process whereby fuel can be obtained from water—releasing large volumes of hydrogen gas by means of electro-magnetic vibrations. He expresses the belief that coal will eventually be of value only for the chemicals it contains—most of which are now wasted. Just so, before the world's oil supply is exhausted it will probably be obsolete as a fuel. Those threatened "famines" in the essentials of life never seem actually to materialize.

A CACTUS CRAZE

This ought to be grand news for the Mojave Desert.

An enthusiasm for growing the humble desert cactus is sweeping over Europe. It is more than a fad; it amounts to a cult.

It seems to have started about five years ago in Holland—where the tulip craze started. Germany next got the "bug;" and it has spread to Austria, Switzerland, Belgium, France and England.

They have even started cactus magazines; while in Germany a thriving trade has grown up in the way of pots and containers manufactured to fit the esthetic moods of the different varieties of cactus.

In the nurseries of Holland potted plants sell at prices ranging from $40 to $50.

INFANT MURDER

The British government is about to hang a dark-skinned African lady who carried out the traditions of her tribe by killing her twin babies.

If they start putting down primitive infanticide by these strenuous methods the public hangman is due to be about the busiest gentleman in the empire. Almost without exception Indians and other primitive people are firm in the belief that unfit children should be destroyed.

This custom has its roots in what corresponds in the tribes to the English Defense of the Realm Act. In other words, it was not considered safe national policy to allow to live any child who would grow up unable to fight or provide food for itself.

THE LAST MAN

Old John Blake, the only surviving member of the Last Man Club, is the least lucky of that once numerous organization.

It was made up of the members of Co. C, Eighth Minnesota Infantry. Think of the horrible years of suspense and anxiety which must have haunted that old man watching one comrade after another dropping away.

BLOODY BUT VALUABLE

It cannot in the nature of things be very long until the last Civil War veteran has [illegible]. After the last soldier dies this greatest of all our wars will soon become almost mythological—a fascinating and unbelievable chapter of history. As it was the most dreadful and harrowing, so it was

Oil Station Operator Confesses Clubbing Peddler to Death, Police Declare

WOMAN HELPS SHATTER ALIBI

Quarrel Laid to Effects of Too Much Liquor

Victim Beaten With Iron in Auto Parking Lot

Murder Complaint Will be Filed Today

Ralph Moorehead, 24 years of age, a gasoline service-station operator, made a signed confession to investigating officers, police announced yesterday at Georgia-street station, that he murdered Olaf Johnson, 55, a peddler and inventor, by beating him over the head with a heavy metal club during a fight at Moorehead's parking station at Ninth and Wall streets last Saturday night.

The confession was made to Detective Lieutenant Sanderson of the Central Station homicide squad and Assistant Chief of Detectives Mathews of the District Attorney's office, following the blasting of Moorehead's alibi late Wednesday night by his asserted sweetheart, Irene Blake.

PEDDLER PAYS FOR PARKING

Moorehead confessed, according to the statement, that the peddler came to the parking lot, run in conjunction with the gasoline station, a week before the crime and paid for a week's parking for the car in which he traveled and lived. Last Saturday, Moorehead said, he went shopping and visiting with Miss Blake, taking along a pint of liquor.

When he returned to the parking station in the evening he confessed, police stated, that he was intoxicated, but drank some more liquor which he had at the gasoline station, and that Johnson came in and asked him for a drink.

An argument followed, the young man stated, and he and Johnson went behind some parked cars at the rear of the parking lot and fought. He charged that Johnson took unfair advantage during the fight by kicking and that he retaliated by picking up a piece of iron and striking his opponent over the head until Johnson slid from his arms to the ground.

MOOREHEAD FRIGHTENED

A woman passing through an alley behind the parking lot frightened Moorehead, he told the officers, and he dragged Johnson to the steps of his automobile. It was there that Johnson's body was found early Sunday morning by Joe McElmurry, who lived in another automobile across the lot.

After the fight, Moorehead said in the police confession, he returned to Miss Blake's home and spent the rest of the evening visiting with her.

It was Miss Blake's statement that Moorehead had not been with her during the entire evening that made it possible for the officers to disprove Moorehead's alibi as to his whereabouts at the time set by officers for the murder.

HELD FOR QUIZZING

When Moorehead returned to the parking lot the next morning he was told that Johnson had been found dead and later was taken into custody pending investigation.

Although Johnson was supposed to have had approximately $700 in his possession at the time of the fight, Moorehead denied any knowledge of the money.

A murder complaint will be filed today by the District Attorney's office against Moorehead, the investigating officers stated.

Maurice Anticouni, 31-year-old truck driver, is being held as a material witness. Johnson left Anticouni in charge of the parking lot when he left following the fight with Johnson, he stated.

Moorehead and Anticouni were arraigned yesterday before Municipal Judge Gibbs and ordered held without bail to await their preliminary hearing, which the court set for next Wednesday. The two men were represented by S. S. Hahn as attorney.

Local Theater Doorman Shoots and Kills Self

Rather than face confinement in a hospital Lee Springer, 67 years of age, resident of a hotel at 728 South Coronado street, shot himself and died before reaching the hospital from a wound in his chest, police reported yesterday. They said that Dr. E. Harold King, who had ordered Springer to a hospital for treatment, said Springer was despondent over his illness and attributed the suicide to it.

Springer was well known among Los Angeles theatergoers, having been head doorman at local show houses for the last fourteen years. He was a member of the Theatrical Mutual Association, No. 35.

POOR FISH CATCH BRINGS SUICIDE ATTEMPT

NEW COUNTS TO BE FACED BY SNETHEN

Telephoto Prisoner Will be Returned for Trial on Embezzlement Charge

Clarence R. Snethen, former secretary of the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, accused of embezzling $9000 which passed through his hands, may be charged with additional felony counts when he is returned to Los Angeles for trial, according to Capt. J. B. Fox, head of the Sheriff's fugitive detail.

Snethen was captured by telephoto description Wednesday at Jennings, La., while employed as an advance agent for a theatrical company. He waived extradition, according to officers, and will be returned to Los Angeles next week for trial on charges of grand theft.

Since Snethen disappeared, officers have been collecting evidence concerning his asserted peculations and questioning numerous women friends with whom he associated. Through information gained in this manner the officers assert, they have obtained evidence which will be presented to the grand jury at its meeting next Wednesday in an effort to obtain an indictment which may involve a woman.

Definite action in the matter, however, will be deferred until after Snethen is returned to Los Angeles by H. A. Hansley, chief special agent of the Southern California Telephone Company.

Gypsy Woman Reports Robbery by Rival Clan

The story of an early-morning clash between rival gypsy bands was told to Capt. C. E. Peoples of the Sheriff's robbery-investigation details yesterday by Rose Costello, who charged that a band of five gypsies kidnaped her brother Steve and robbed her of jewels worth more than $300.

Rose told the officers that she had left their camp near Alhambra with her brother to go for an early-morning automobile ride when they were held up by a band of five strange gypsies from a rival clan. The girl said that she wrested herself free from the men after losing a valuable necklace made of gold coins.

After escaping, Rose said, she fled to her camp, leaving her brother in the hands of the strangers. He had not returned yesterday, the girl reported.

Officers last night were checking other gypsy camps in an effort to find Steve.

ELDERLY COUPLE ACCIDENT VICTIMS

OJAI, Dec. 27.—Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Edwards of Los Angeles were recovering last night at El Roblar Hotel here from the effects of an accident in which they were injured Wednesday afternoon on the Thatcher road east of this city. A son, associated with a Los Angeles newspaper was sent for. The elderly couple were motoring down the long Thatcher road grade when it is believed their car got up more momentum than Dr. Edwards realized on the deceptive grade. The machine skidded on the graveled surface of the road and turned over.

John Gallio, a Thatcher rancher, found the pair and rushed them to Dr. Harold Wright who gave them emergency treatment and then removed them to the hotel.

SEXAGENARIAN ENTERS SCHOOL

Pioneer Engineer Ever Ready to Learn

George Washington Wheeler Studies Engine

GEORGE WASHINGTON WHEELER, 61 years of age, pioneer mechanic and engineer of California, believes his age is a good time to begin going to school.

Wheeler, who has been identified with steam-power developments since the early '90s and who later took part in the early struggles of hydroelectric establishments in this State, is now a student of internal-combustion engines in the National Automotive School, where he recently enrolled.

Surrounded by students all not yet 20 years of age, and instructed by a teacher of about half his years, Wheeler says a man's life should be a long succession of "pioneering years and cloister years."

"Most men of my age would sooner die ignorant than go to school with youngsters," he said. "For my part I enjoy schooling and I like the opportunity of associating and mixing with boys. I learn quicker because I have learned more. And I also learn more from the youngsters than from men of my age. Old people should go to school in regular periods."

When he is graduated Wheeler will attempt to complete certain researches in which he has long been engaged regarding the possibility of the internal-combustion engine in stationary plants.

More than 400 telegrams and cables from different parts of the world bearing condolences to the family were received at the Thomson home in the hills of Hollywood. One of the cables was from Gene Tunney, former world's champion prize-fighter, who was an intimate friend of Thomson.

Other wires came from Will Rogers and from political leaders in this and other States, from war-time officers of Thomson's regiment, the One Hundred and Forty-third Artillery, of which he was chaplain, and from his associates in the sporting world in which he won championship laurels in track and field events at Occidental College and at Princeton.

TRIO HELD IN HOLLYWOOD LIQUOR PLOT

Federal and City Officers Capture New Year Cheer Despite "Protection" Plea

Investigation yesterday by agents acting under Maj. McReynolds, Federal dry administrator, into the circumstances surrounding an asserted attempt to deliver to Hollywood a large quantity of bootleg liquor led to the arrest of three men, one of whom is said to be head of a crew, which had planned large deliveries of liquor for New Year's especially in the cinema center.

Orville T. Forrester, said to be the leader of the gang, and Bruce Bannister were arrested in Hyde Park and two trucks containing about sixty-seven gallons of liquor were seized when the two were encountered by Detective Lieutenants Southworth and Driscoll of the Los Angeles police force and by Federal agents. Later the same officers arrested Dave Evans, said to be implicated in the rum plot.

Those arrested are said to have stated they had "protection." They were accused yesterday in a complaint with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act. Evans is held under bond of $1000. Forrester and Bannister, who were reported to be at liberty on bond under a State Wright Act charge, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Head. They are held until they can give $1000 additional bond. Hearing of the three is set for January 14.

VICTIM OF WILD PARTY TESTIFIES

Plaintiff Declares He Was Drugged, Robbed and Left in Park

Lawrence Hoke of 1323½ East First street had a much wilder time at a "party" October 1, last, than he had planned, he declared yesterday on the witness stand in Municipal Judge Gibbs's court. Testifying at the preliminary hearing of Edward and Clara Bleich, Ruth Kimball and William Jesky on robbery charges, Hoke declared that he met Jesky and the two women in a Main-street restaurant early in the evening and that they had a few drinks and planned to continue the party.

Taking an automobile, they drove to 1458½ Downey Road, he declared, where the Bleich girl lived. There they met her husband, Edward, and had a few more drinks, which Hoke said he thought were drugged, as he declared he could dimly remember being beaten up. Next morning, he testified, he awoke in Hollenbeck Park. His watch and $150 were missing.

The hearing, which was not finished yesterday, will be continued today. Bleich and Philip Bleich, in another hearing, were ordered held for trial by Superior Court on six counts of forgery. Bail was fixed at $4000 each by Judge Gibbs.

Culver City's Chamber Names New Secretary

Morton MacCormac last night was named as the new secretary of the Culver City Chamber of Commerce by the organization's directors.

Previous to his new post, Mr. MacCormac was secretary of the Manhattan Beach Chamber of Commerce and did excellent work there in publicizing that town. He also instigated a campaign for the removal of tar from the beach.

Before coming to California Mr. MacCormac was a resident of Chicago and is the founder of the MacCormac School in that city.

AGAIN flu threatens!

Once more health authorities are fighting it, calling for your cooperation, urging every precaution.

Seven protective measures against flu—listed below—have been compiled by the Life Extension Institute. Study these rules carefully. Follow them all—especially rule No. 2 about keeping hands germ free. The simplest rule of all—yet one of the most important.

Whose germ-laden hands touched it before yours?

For your hands are continually coming in contact with germ-laden objects—car-straps, banisters, door knobs, public telephones, money—and many more things that you and your children must touch.

And, since it is not yet certain exactly how influenza is spread, it is doubly important to do all you can to avoid it. Hands may carry it. Note statement of U. S. Public Health Service on how germs are spread by hands.

So, take this simple precaution and urge every member of your family to do the same. Wash hands often— before eating and always with the soap that removes germs as well as

CAFE NEWS

With the recent opening of the Nikabob Cafe in the Wilshire district a successful event, the management now is making plans to present an excellent and unique New Year's dinner. The cafe itself, having been especially designed for its owners, Nick Krause, Bob Cobb and Paul Perrot, is considered one of the show places of the city and from an architectural standpoint is a thing of beauty. Interesting and unusual dishes are a specialty of the cafe. The New Year's Day dinner, including duck and turkey, will be served all day.

LOFTY FETE PLANNED

Baby 1929 will be ushered in with elaborate ceremony at "13th Heaven," situated atop of the American Storage Building in Beverly Boulevard, it is announced.

Bud Murray, terpsichorean master, has arranged a special New Year's Eve dance revue and an assortment of gifts and noisemakers will be passed out to ring out the old and to ring in the new year.

A film star is scheduled to be master of ceremonies.

PAINE PLANS FROLIC

Circus and cabaret entertainment will feature the unique double show which Bill Paine will present at his New Year's party at the Vernon Country Club, in Santa Fe avenue, the circus to be held in a mammoth marque on the grounds.

Famed theatrical talent and Dave Snell's orchestra are to provide the background for the frolic while noted performers of the big top and colorful carnival atmosphere will be attractions at the circus, according to Paine, who has made elaborate plans for a stupendous New Year's celebration.

GAY TIME PROMISED

A special dinner to be served up to 1 o'clock in the morning, dancing, favors and fun are all planned for patrons of the Elite Cafe in South Flower street, it is reported by the management. A celebration as never has been held there before is promised to their guests.

OLD-TIME FROLIC PLANNED

Square dances to the tune of old-fashioned fiddling, which are a part of the program every Saturday evening in Idyllwild Mountain Resort, in the San Jacinto Mountains near Hemet, will be danced by guests of that popular mountain retreat on New Year's Eve, it is stated by the management of the inn. A special New Year's Day dinner will be served at noon at Idyllwild, which is open the year round.

PUDDINGS HIDE GOLD

In keeping with an old English custom, a $5 gold piece will be hidden in one out of every twelve St Nicholas plum puddings served with the holiday dinner at the Pom Pom, Hollywood, tonight, it is reported.

Manny Harmon's Night Owls will provide the dance music, introducing a new program of holiday selections.

The coin-in-the-pudding idea was started twenty years ago by Sir Thomas Lipton at his main shop in London.

RESERVATIONS POUR IN

New Year's Eve at the Montmartre, considered to be one of the gayest places in Los Angeles and Hollywood, promises to be even more brilliant than ever Monday night, according to the reservations that have been pouring in at Eddie Brandstatter's Hollywood cafe. Prominent moving-picture players, stage players, popular writers and directors are planning to give the coming year a greeting at the Montmartre, a special program of entertainment having been arranged for the evening. Dancing will continue until 2 o'clock, Roy Fox with his jazz band providing the music. Impromptu fun will also feature the evening.

ANOTHER FETE SCHEDULED

A New Year's Day dinner de luxe and a special New Year's Eve celebration, including music and dancing, are scheduled for guests of the Soboba Mineral Hot Springs, located in San Jacinto, it is stated.

Soboba offers an ideal place to enjoy the New Year holidays, the hotel and cottages there being conducted on the American plan by John G. Althouse, owner and manager.

NOVEL DANCE MUSIC

With an elaborate program of entertainment planned, the advent of 1929 will be greeted in Hollywood by the participation of stars of the stage and screen and the socially elite in the big New Year's Eve carnival and dinner at the Roosevelt.

The festivities will start early in the evening and continue well into the wee sma' hours. Proff L. Moore, director of amusements, will present a novel dance-music program.

LOTTIE SAYS PARTY-FIGHT AX INTERRED

"Boys" Who "Raised Little Whoopee" No Longer Foes, Miss Pickford Declares

"Oh, the boys just raised a little whoopee, but they're good friends now," Lottie Pickford said yesterday about the trouble that took place Christmas Eve in front of her home at 6622 Iris Drive between Jack Daugherty, husband of the late Barbara La Marr, and Daniel E. Jaeger, a friend of Miss Pickford.

Lottie Pickford

The Hollywood police declared after the fight, in which some black eyes and various other bruises were suffered by both combatants, that they would not make arrests unless some of the participants or neighbors care to swear out a warrant. No complaints were forthcoming yesterday.

"I don't know what the scrap was about—I didn't get here until it was about over—but I know they have patched up the row now and there won't be any complaints," declared Lottie.

She also took occasion to deny recent news dispatches from New York to the effect that photostatic copies of promissory notes signed by Lottie Pickford were found in the apartment of Sidney Stager, secretary to Arnold Rothstein, slain New York gambler.

"Why, how ridiculous," asserted the actress. "I didn't even know the man and as for writing a note for $100,000—don't be foolish."

ACTOR IN COURT DENIES LIQUOR CHARGE

John Patrick, screen actor, who resides at 529 West Knowl Drive, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Reed yesterday on charges of transportation and possession of three quarts of gin, which Police Officers Husdon, Clark and Bryan of the Hollywood vice squad declare they found in a small coupe driven by him on Circle Drive at midnight the 22nd inst.

According to A. P. M. Narlian, Patrick's attorney, the coupe, which was seized by the arresting officers, is the property of Lottie Pickford.

Patrick pleaded not guilty to the liquor charges and his trial was set for January 17, next.

CHICAGOANS SEND BID

Trojan Professors Will Head Clinics at Dental Meeting

Three departments of the college of dentistry of the University of Southern California have been invited to head clinics before the Chicago Dental Society meeting in January.

This usually is one of the largest dental meetings held in the country, according to Dr. Lewis E. Ford, dean of the Trojan dental college.

Dr. Donald E. Smith and Dr. F. W. Frahm of the Southern California dental college will present clinics with motion-picture reels showing work in crown and bridge and immediate denture restorations. Dr. H. P. Hawkins will present a report of his research work on the prevention of dental caries in children's teeth.

THREE MAY DIE FROM TRAFFIC

Men Past Middle Age All Victims of Autos

Boy, Lad and Three Women Also Injured

City Postman Among Those Sent to Hospital

Three men past middle age of life were struck down by automobiles late last night and were treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for injuries which may prove fatal to them. Accidents earlier in the day also resulted in a 4-year-old boy, a youth, a man and three women being treated at the hospital.

William O'Brien, 71, of 2849 Somerset Drive, was struck at Twenty-ninth street and Mesa Drive by an automobile reported driven by George Manners, 4703 Pickford street. O'Brien received a broken right leg and serious back injuries. His condition is considered by hospital surgeons to be critical because of his age.

Estrada Cruze, 60, of 2255 East Sixteenth street, probably will die from injuries suffered when he was dashed to the pavement at Sixteenth street and Santa Fe avenue by a car driven by H. V. Thompson, 5577 Irvington street, a hospital report states. A possible skull fracture, a broken leg, broken arm and several broken ribs were received by Cruze in the accident.

OTHERS INJURED

The third pedestrian victim is Antonio Rumbolo, 50, of 1170 East Seventieth street. Prolice report a car driven by L. B. Apperson of Pasadena struck Rumbolo with the result that the victim was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition suffering from a brain concussion and serious lacerations.

Tone Dominguez, 16, of 3648 East First street, had his right hand broken when a car driven by his brother, Salvador Dominguez, struck a traffic button at Boyle avenue and Pleasant street and turned over. Albert Ortega, 18, of 1073½ Murietta street, a passenger in the Dominguez car, was injured slightly.

Lyle McDonald, 4, of 232½ West Florence avenue, coasted down a driveway at 207 West Seventy-third street, on a tricycle into the path of a truck driven by Stewart Serrier of 1005 West Thirty-sixth Place. Serrier reported to police. The boy received a brain concussion and crushed foot. He was taken to the Orthopedic Hospital following emergency treatment.

THREE WOMEN HURT

In a collision between two automobiles at Thirty-sixth street and University avenue, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, 41 years of age, of 1117 West Fortieth Place, received a basal skull fracture. Her husband, William Miller, was the driver of one car and L. J. Wesbecher of 3567 South Vermont avenue, was at the wheel of the other, the hospital report states. Neither of the men was injured.

Patrick Johnson, a postman, was treated for a cut on his face, reported to have been received following a traffic crash at South Parkview and Eighth streets. According to hospital records, Alonzo O. Arguello, 33, student, is asserted to have struck Johnson after cars driven by Arguello and Johnson collided, turning Arguello's car over. No action was taken by investigating officers.

Miss Sylvia Jones and Irvin Anderson, passengers in the Arguello car, who were pinned beneath the wreckage, were treated for shock at the hospital.

P.E. MAKES ROSE FETE RAIL PLANS

Three-Car Trains Direct to Pasadena Will Move 50,000 on New Year's

Prepared to handle 50,000 persons on its trains to Pasadena on New Year's Day, the Pacific Electric Railway yesterday announced plans for transporting the Tournament of Roses throngs. D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager, outlined the plans.

With 350 cars allotted for the special service, three-car trains will leave the Sixth and Main street station at two-minute intervals during the rush period. Special trains, direct to Pasadena without change also will be scheduled from practically every point on the system.

Beginning at noon, special three-car trains will operate directly to the Rose Bowl, where the annual football game will be played. After the parade many extra local cars in Pasadena will be run to the Bowl.

Mr. Pontius said the same plans that were used last year, resulting in expeditious service for the New Year crowd, again will be in effect. A rehearsal of details of the plans has been undergone by operating forces during the past two weeks.

Two Downtown Sudden Deaths Prove Mystery

Two persons died of undetermined causes in the downtown business section yesterday, reports at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital showed.

Mrs. George T. Shaw, said to be the mother of George P. Shaw, golfer, died in a downtown theater yesterday afternoon. She was 65 years of age and was in Los Angeles from Toronto, Can., visiting at her son's home, 1466 West Forty-eighth street. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George P. Shaw, was with her at the theater.

A retired stock broker, Tomo Thompson, 65, of 228 Welcome street, died suddenly in a drug store at Fifth and Hill streets, shortly after he asked for a glass of water at the store's soda fountain, a report stated.

SUPERVISOR MEET WILL BACK ROAD

Six Counties Will Unite in Urging State Status for Riverside Highway

Action looking forward to making the highway from Riverside to San Diego a State road will be taken today when supervisors from six Southern California counties meet here in conference. The meeting will open at 10 a.m. in the room of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors in the Hall of Records.

Plans will be made for presenting the State Highway Commission with a request to make the road a State highway maintained by the State of California.

The proposal, it is declared, has been under consideration by the various counties for some time. The matter is expected to be brought to a focus at today's meeting.

The conference was called at the instigation of the San Diego County Board of Supervisors which originally sponsored the proposition.

Woman Chases Check Passer and Gets Cash

Two chases, one by a woman clerk and the other by police officers, late yesterday resulted in the arrest and booking at University Station on a forgery charge of William Plinner, 29 years of age, 5017 Brighton avenue.

Miss Billie Gordon, clerk in a clothing store at Hoover street and Vernon avenue, chased Plinner after he is asserted to have passed a check for $55 and received $45 in change for a purchase at the store, according to a report made by Detective Lieutenants Magnus and Spencer of University division. Miss Gordon overhauled Plinner, when she was given reason to suspect that the check was not valid, and recovered the change, the officers reported.

Plinner was picked up after a second chase by the two investigating officers near Fiftieth street and Normandie avenue after he had escaped from Miss Gordon, according to the arrest record.

Investigation by the officers at Plinner's home bore out his asserted confession that he passed the check in order to provide for his wife and two baby girls. The police said that Plinner had not been employed for several weeks and that the family was in need of food.

Screen Veteran Critically Ill

Marc McDermott, veteran stage and screen actor, is critically ill at the Windsor Hospital in Glendale. He is suffering from a stomach and liver disorder.

MARC McDERMOTT

According to information obtained from the hospital, McDermott within the past few days has shown a slight improvement. He is under the care of Dr. Roy Ruth.

McDermott, it is said, was stricken several months ago but remained at his home in Hollywood until three weeks ago, when he was ordered to the hospital.

McDermott was identified with the screen when the industry was in its pioneer stages.

Kingsley Will Talk 'Siegfried'

"The Life and Death of Siegfried" will be interpreted tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock by Dr. Kingsley at Bullock's concert-lecture, preparatory for the coming Philharmonic concert.

The selections are "The Fight Through the Flames," "The Forging of the Sword," "The Funeral March," "Forest Murmmurs" and "The Burning of Valhalla."

The program also includes masterpieces from the works of Johann Sebastian Bach, the prelude and fugue in B flat from "The Well-Tempered Clavichord" and fugue in A minor for the organ, selections from the orchestral suit in D, including the gavotte and aria.

Junior Airmen in Competition

In an effort to settle the playground model airplane championship of Los Angeles, the Hawley Playground Junior Aircraft Club will pit its best boy plane builders against the young Lindberghs of Harvard playground tonight in the armory at Exposition Park.

Don Sullivan and Lynn Sullivan of the Harvard group will be competing against Bob Siler, Pacific Coast champion; Jean Bonnot, Earl Connor and other leading Hawley youngsters.

There will be four events each for seniors and juniors. J. C. Henderson, supervisor of playground activities, will officiate.

GUN THREAT TOLD

Woman's Story Wins Divorce and Custody of Child

Mrs. Adeline Pelang went before Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday seeking a divorce from Juan Pelang on the grounds of cruelty. She testified her husband once seized a pistol and threatened to kill her.

"You want your husband to support your child, do you not?" asked her attorney.

"We will make him support the child," interpolated Judge Yankwich who signed the decree giving Mrs. Pelang a separation, the custody of the child and $30 a month for support.

Today's Bible Text

Whoso keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soul from troubles. Prov. xxi:23.

THE WRESTLING BUG

Chicago sports are wearying of the wrestling game. Only about 1500 hectic souls turned out for the last star card that was offered. The boys seem to think that they can get more excitement in the city streets. At last accounts Los Angeles was the best American patron of the mat carnivals.

CAMELS ARE GOING

The motor has not only been putting the horse out of business, but the gossip now is that it has also put a big crimp in the camel market. The motor magnates have been turning out a special six-wheeled car that appears to be quite effective in desert travel. It doesn't have to drink much oftener than a dromedary and it can go ten times as far in a day. So the sheiks of Arabia and the Sahara no longer count their wealth in camels. The ship of the desert is being scuttled to give room to a thing that honks and lives on gasoline. Meanwhile any gentleman who thinks he must have a camel for the holidays can get one for about half price—if he can stand the journey to Arabia. A man who would walk twenty miles for a camel might try it. The camels are not coming—they are going.

THANKS TO TELEPHOTO

The avidity with which criminals seize upon new inventions—the automobile, the automatic pistol, the machine gun, the acetylene and electric torches and the airplane—to aid their antisocial activities has frequently been commented on, and it is sometimes said that law enforcement agencies lag behind. But in the case of telephoto the shoe is on the other foot. Clarence R. Snethen, alleged defaulting executive secretary of the Traffic Commission, has just been placed under arrest because his likeness was broadcast by wire.

The net in which Snethen was caught was spread in twenty-four hours while by the old methods weeks would have elapsed before the necessary information concerning him could have been so widely distributed, and he would have had a much better opportunity to make good his escape. The abolition of distance which modern invention has brought about has been an aid to crime, it is true; but it is also apparent that it works both ways.

THE SLOW POKE

The speed boy has been grilled until he is crisp. His shortcomings and swift goings have been analyzed and penalized. Laws have been enacted against him and even the schools have inserted a course in their curriculum against his villainies.

On the other hand his counterpart, the slow poke, has received nothing but tacit praise. Laws have not found their way upon the statute books to improve him. Editorials have not mangled his form nor reputation. He has been accepted as virtue's own good child.

And yet he is a hidden menace. He grinds along at a snail's pace filling the fretting, fuming machines back of him with sulphurous profanity. He heads a funeral procession and yet does not ride in the hearse where he belongs. He inhales the scenery, jabbing out his arms in divers directions on a narrow road, and keeps the hurrying, worrying world from arriving. He has time to burn and burns it by a slow fire. Coming to an intersection, he stops and takes a vacation. Those behind him have to wait until his mind catches up to the traffic and then wanders across. Usually he waits until other cars heave into the offing, and then advances upon the works and tangles up progress in all directions. When he does enter a disputed area, he demands yards and yards of brake-lining from others as a sacrifice to to his loafing.

Frequently he chooses the middle of the road because he can do more execution there by halting cars trying to pass. He esteems it a generous contribution to society to prevent others from traveling at normal rates of speed. Often the grinding heard is not of gears, but of teeth.

If he and the speed boy could be projected into some mechanism that would grind them up together so that a new human might emerge with a general average, a decline of deaths from accident in the morning issue would ensue.

FOR A SANE NEW YEAR'S EVE

Dist.-Atty. Fitts plans for the people of Los Angeles county a sane celebration of the coming of 1929, without alcoholic overtones, and he is entitled to public co-operation in bringing it about. He has promised the public there will be no wild raids, with flourished weapons and other spectacularly empty features; and he has also promised that public drinking will not be permitted. At times in the past such announcements have been made with a wink and received the same way. This one is serious. Dist.-Atty. Fitts means it, and he has engineered a co-ordination of law enforcement agencies capable of putting it into effect.

From the point of view of public morals, breaking the law at one time is no worse than breaking it at another, but on New Year's Eve it seems worse, chiefly because more extensive and, perhaps, in part, because that is the time when good resolutions are supposed to be made. Moralists object to New Year pledges on the ground that such obligations should have no time element, but admit it is better to assume them then than not at all. Surely one of the best times on which to bow to the will of the majority, repeatedly recorded, in this matter of prohibition is on such an occasion.

It is not necessary to carry out the advice of Omar and retire to solitude at the New Year; no one desires to put brakes on legitimate enjoyment, and hilarity and nonsense are held to be in the spirit of the occasion. But there is plenty of wholesome fun to be had and alcohol is not necessary to inspire it. More serious than the effect of the alcohol itself—and that, in these days of supplies of dubious quality, is apt to be very serious indeed—is the example set of a broken law, especially to youth which may reach the conclusion that other laws may be disregarded with equal impunity.

Respect for the law because it is the law is unquestionably the duty of good citizens; and further, the man who flouts it cannot logically complain when he is himself made the victim of lawbreakers of other sorts. By encouraging one outlaw, the bootlegger, he furnishes encouragement to all outlaws. It is well known that organized crime and the illicit liquor traffic are closely connected.

Acceptance and observance of one law, however, furnishes a precedent for acceptance and observance of others, and leads to a condition far better than can possibly be brought about by the most rigorous enforcement. The District Attorney is not looking for victims whom he can jail; he would much prefer that the people of Los Angeles conduct themselves so that not a single arrest will be necessary.

Those members of the public willing to behave themselves may go forth on New Year's Eve in confidence that they will not be molested. The minority not willing to do so may expect trouble. That is the plain meaning of the District Attorney's very forthright announcement.

THE SOCIALIST VOTE

One significant fact in support of the contention that there is less social and industrial unrest in this country at present than in many previous years is found in the Associated Press tabulation of the official vote for President at the November election. This table shows a great falling off in the Socialist vote which, even with so able and forceful a leader as Norman Thomas, was but 267,835, or only a little more than one-third of the average for the elections of 1904 to 1920, inclusive, the 1924 vote not entering into the computation, as it was merged with that cast for La Follette.

This is a great decline from the Debs 1920 vote of 919,799, being nearly 652,000 less. The next lowest figure than that of 1920 was the Debs vote of 897,011 cast in 1912. Just below that was the 1916 vote which totaled 585,113. In State and local elections during the war the Socialists suffered sadly. This was due to serious defections resulting from the policy of the national leaders in calling for "active and public opposition to the war." Their stand was combated by many Socialists, but the radical Reds all supported it, and continued their opposition despite the fact that most of their periodicals were denied the second-class mailing privilege and that many editors were arrested and imprisoned under the Espionage Act. During the war a separate Socialist organization was formed, and it upheld the administration, though it afterward returned to the fold.

During the recent campaign many Socialists voted for Smith, but, at the most, these could not have numbered more than 300,000, that figure presumably representing the difference between the average vote referred to and the number cast for Thomas. Another cause for the Socialist decline probably was the submergence of the Socialist standard in 1924, when La Follette was given its party banner. To reorganize the party in four years was said to be a difficult task.

But of course the major reason for the defection from the party was the general prosperity of the country. Well-paid, intelligent workers think twice before they cast their ballots, and are not to be led astray by the mouthings of soap-box radicals.

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY

Though the Samson Tire and Rubber Corporation has long been established in Southern California, its expansion by the erection of an $8,000,000 plant justifies its classification as another new industry for Los Angeles. The new plant will employ 2500 persons, will have an annual pay roll of more than $2,500,000, and will produce some 6000 tires and 10,000 tubes daily.

This great expansion is a reminder that great industries do not necessarily have to be imported into Los Angeles; they grow here readily. The Samson corporation made a small beginning here eleven years ago, and developed not only a local but an interstate and an exporting business which has made it an important figure in an industry which already had several giants.

The new Samson plant, added to the great plants of Goodrich, Firestone, Goodyear and others, emphasizes the importance of Los Angeles as a rubber center and justifies the prediction that it will, in time, become the largest tire-producing region of the world.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

ONE of the most charming spots in Southern California—especially charming because of the idea behind it—is Memory Garden, in Brand Park, just opposite the old San Fernando Mission. Memory Garden is, as all historic things should be, for the education, inspiration and daily use of the public, but the idea makes it distinctive among Los Angeles city parks.

The Idea

Mrs. Eva Frances Hettiger was the first to have the idea of making that part of Brand Park a living, growing reminder of our past. But Mrs. Martha Nelson McCann and Frank Shearer, superintendent of parks, were the ones who carried the idea into completion. Mrs. McCann visited all the old missions to get plants for a garden suggestive of them, and now along one side of the garden is a string of little gardens, each named in honor of one of the missions and each containing plants either brought from that mission or grown from seed brought from it. All the other parts of the garden are filled either with native California plants and flowers or the descendants of those brought by the Spanish-blood settlers, including the rose of Castile. Just opposite the mission is a statue to Junipero Serra, set on a pedestal of ancient material, and farther on is the original mission fountain. Every bench on which one sits to rest is a reminder of the fealty to the past of some organization or individual, and at each end are pergolas which frame the garden most harmoniously. That garden, with the mission in the background is indeed a tribute of memory, an appeal to our natural pride in our fine traditions and a reminder that California is exceptionally blessed with historic background.

Mexican Color

Around San Fernando Mission, as around San Gabriel, one still finds a great deal of Mexican color. Spanish is the language one hears most, and picturesque costumes are not rare. Leaning over the fountain at San Fernando last Sunday was a group of young Mexicans, some of whom could speak no English. One was a girl in a bright red dress and wearing a big fringed sombrero. True, one rarely sees a girl wearing a sombrero in Mexico—the mantilla is more historically accurate. But both the girl and the costume were so genuine in themselves that one could not but be pleased with the picture.

One for Archeologists

Foremost archeologists do not concur in the theory held by one group that the similarities of Aztec and Mayan architecture to ancient Egyptian architecture indicate that some Egyptian, Phoenician or Lost Atlantian tribe once lived in Mexico. They say that the most useful implement of those peoples (not admitting there were any Atlantians) was the potter's wheel, and that had they emigrated to this continent they certainly would have brought such utensils with them. Nowhere is there evidence, they say, that that and other things well known to Egyptians and Phoenicians had ever been known in America before Columbus. But the young Mexican lecturer at San Fernando points to the keystones in arches built by Indians, and asserts that the keystone often is found in prehistoric structures in Mexico. If that is true, it is a nut for the archeologists to crack.

While Yet There's Time

Just opposite the entrance to Universal City is another little park intended to preserve our traditions. Near that park used to stand the adobe house in which Gen. Fremont and Gen. Pico signed the treaty which made California part of the United States. When that fact was determined Anita Baldwin gave the tract to the city for a memorial park. But, alas! the old adobe is no more. We drove to that spot with a party of history lovers, all eager to see a really historic spot. All we saw was a tablet commemorating what had taken place there, and a modern building in which Miss Baldwin's pet dogs used to be treated by a veterinary. They say the carriage in which Fremont rode also is preserved there, but we did not get to see it. It was the worst disappointment of the kind we had experienced since we drove out to the battlefield of Waterloo and saw only an artificial mound which wasn't there when the battle was fought and a panorama picture—and heard a lecture. It made us realize how important it is to preserve real historic objects—like the old adobe on Olivera street—instead of letting them vanish and then putting up tablets.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE

In every argument, woman has insisted on the last word. Man's place in debate has been a constant recessional. It takes a sharp tongue to get a word in edgewise, says the man.

However, woman is now in a predicament. It seems ungallant to mention it; but women's voices do not sound nearly as well as men's in the talkies.

The male voice is more or less mellifluous, directors say. This may come from dejection and subjugation. Indeed, where roughness does appear in his speech, it but adds to his virility and makes the villain more enthralling and the hero more manly as he tosses his head in lofty virtue.

But woman! Seeing her beautiful blonde face and pursed lips hardly prepares you for the roll of thunder from her throat. When her words sound like a street car trying to avoid running over a jaywalker—well, you are not ready for it!

Woman has been responsible for half of the trouble in this world. Indeed, man has yielded her first place here as otherwheres. She took man's rib as capital to start with and has been demolishing him ever since. Maybe since she has insisted on having everything man has, nature just threw in his voice also for good measure. And the talkie is the first to discover it. There is no chance to retouch it as one does the negative.

Insisting on her rights as well as the rights of man, woman has taken over the whole works. She grabbed man's hair and vote. She acquired his pants and his politics. She pilfered his position and pocketbook. She took the wheel of the car—and now has his voice!

Man has yielded his rights gingerly. He has always been Scotch with the check book. He has spoken unprintable things about her dress. He has even kept his seat in the car and his hat on in the elevator as a last vestige and show of authority.

So he can hardly be blamed for a tender feeling about the heart when he hears her say "Yes!" to the lover in the talkies in a hoarse guttural voice that sounds like the ever expanding crack of doom!

A WHISKER REBELLION

It seems that the wild tribesmen of Afghanistan love their whiskers enough to go to war for them. At any rate they have risen in revolt against a decree of the young and progressive potentate, Amanullah, that they shave their faces. Representative government, freedom for women and the abolition of polygamy all were—theoretically—installed by the new king without any great protest on the part of the people, but when it came to the demand for smooth chins the men rose in their might and forced both the ruler and his wife to flee from Kabul. They have gone to Kandahar, where, at last accounts, Amanullah was endeavoring to rally his partisans.

In one of his stories Kipling told what happened to a man who "tried to hurry the East." Amanullah, it would appear, was trying to westernize his eastern land too fast. He should have distributed his reforms over time enough to make them solid one by one, and by no means should he have begun with a whisker decree, but led up to it gently. Like Kipling's hero, Amanullah may go down under the pressure of the revolt he has created. That revolt is strengthened by the fact that the Afghan army of 35,000 men has been clamoring for more pay and is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils.

The prohibition of whiskers is a serious matter with the hill men, more so than with those of the lowlands. So the tribesmen of the heights have descended upon and taken possession of the ancient capital, and have made so much trouble that all the British women there have been sent over the border in airplanes to Peshawar.

It begins to look as though Amanullah would have to rescind his edict or tone it down a bit, or else lose his royal job.

STILL A LONG WAY TO GO

By James J. Montague

On learning that evolution is still at work upon man

Let man not fancy he's the flower
Of natural selection
That with his brain and build and power
He's just about perfection.
He may surpass the cave-man's some
In mental poise and feature,
But in the distant years to come
He'll seem a sorry creature.

He'll have to learn a thing or two
While pass the rolling ages.
His mind and body must go through Successive changing stages.
Still nature toils with scheme and plan,
And just as sure as shooting
Her mind's made up that Mr. Man
Must keep on evoluting.

From life's beginning there was planned
A ceaseless forward movement
And although we may have no hand
In the proposed improvement,
If man's fair visage we could view
When it has been completed
Within a million years or two,
We'd not be so conceited.

A man today may be surprised
To think he may be pitied
As very little civilized
And rather feeble-witted.
Yet certainly we mortal folk
And all our mighty nations,
Will be regarded as a joke
By future generations.

Wants to Make Wine

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] John McGroarty's article in today's Times shows the California grape industry to be in very bad shape. A tragedy, he calls it.

This remedy is to raise a fund to propagandize ourselves into eating more grapes and drinking more grape juice. It is probably the best suggestion anyone could make except to turn our 457,000 tons of wine grapes into wine. The product would find a ready sale and probably avert a terrible disaster in California.

But, after all, is not this the expected that has happened? Did we not decree, ten years ago, that the making of beer, whisky and wine would cease in this country? The breweries closed up, the distilleries closed up, and the wineries closed up. Did the prohibitionists not mean to close them up? Did they expect all these revolutionary changes to be accomplished without loss and possible disaster? Probably, like all bigots, they did not count the cost.

The debacle in the case of the grape industry was deferred to this time by the people buying annually some 400,000 tons of wine grapes to be made into wine in their homes. The immediate calamity is due to the fact that the people did not have the money to buy the grapes this year, and due to a decision of the California courts declaring it to be illegal to make wine in one's own home for one's own use, many refrained from buying grapes and making wine as was their custom in previous years.

In the State of New York it is legal, under the Volstead Act, to make wine for one's own consumption and the people of that State have been using vast quantities of our grapes, but in this State and most of the other States the bigots have taken from us rights the people of New York possess under the national act. Let us substitute the Volstead Act for our Wright Act, and we will be doing something practical to help the grape industry and, possibly, avert a terrible economic disaster. A bill to make such a change in our laws will be presented to the Legislature next month. It will be a battle between the Anti-Saloon League terrorized members and the independents. The time has arrived for all good men to make a stand and end this reign of hypocrisy that threatens our State with disaster.

THANKS, PROFESSOR!

By The Foothill Philosopher

It is fitting and perfectly proper that from Boston, "hub of the universe," should come the information that "scientifically speaking, there is no such thing as sin." The statement was made by Prof. Harry E. Barnes, head of the historical and sociological department at Smith College, "and author of many books." According to the learned professor, sin has disappeared "into the limbo of ancient superstitions such as witchcraft and sacrifice."

Much obliged, professor. Also, many thanks. We are greatly relieved. We regret that you "conceded that many acts branded as sinful may be socially harmful," but perhaps the "scientific rechristening" of them as "immoral or criminal" will help some.

For many years we had been struggling with the problem of this thing which orthodox church folk call "sin" and which is called by many other names by adherents of 101 religions, philosophies and creeds. We didn't like the term "sin" either, and we tried to be satisfied with many prettier definitions, such as "ignorance," "darkness," "Avidya" and "mistake." However, for some reason or other, although the word was lightened, the dark, heavy, muddy fact remained to pester us. When we did wrong we felt badly and when we saw others doing "immoral" and "criminal" acts we couldn't, for the life of us, feel happy.

At last we're satisfied. If, "scientifically," there is "no such thing as sin," what more could we ask? We shall worry no more over our own shortcomings nor the moral lapses of our neighbors. Henceforth, when we see somebody "sinning," we shall console ourself with the knowledge that the poor fellow is not up on science. Of course, it's too bad that anyone, in this enlightened day, should continue to be "unscientific," but so long as we wiser ones know that nobody can commit a sin we should be happy and certainly should not reproach anyone for his lack of scientific training. From now on toleration shall be the chief jewel in virtue's crown.

OVER THE TOP IN A CAMPAIGN

BY SCOTT C. BONE

Politics is a costly and wasteful game. Whether the two great parties this year spent $3,000,000 or $5,000,000 each, a large percentage of this—conservatively one-fourth of it—was disbursed injudiciously, or actually wasted.

The weakness of party organization is that it is not continuous. Framed hastily, it goes to pieces at the end of a campaign, and everything starts anew when the next quadrennial contest arrives.

Will Hays, who directed the G. O. P. battle that elevated Warren G. Harding to the White House, spent some $3,000,000 in that fray and a large deficit ensued, which provoked wide criticism in party circles. He has been charged with undue prodigality, and the Harry Sinclair episode, involving a juggling of oil bonds, has emphasized the alleged waste of the campaign. As a matter of fact, it entailed a smaller outlay of money relatively than has any other contest in later political history.

If this year $3,000,000 or $5,000,000 was expended in two months, September and October, it was an unprecedented outlay. Chairman Raskob intimated that he might put a million dollars into the agricultural States alone. Such campaign expenditures, in the space of sixty days or less, tend to put ex-Chairman Hays in the role of a piker.

Overhead in a campaign is but an insignificant factor in the aggregate. Fixed expenditures there must be in the way of rentals and salaries, but special trains, the radio, traveling expenses of speakers and like accessories multiply expenditures colossally.

The 1920 campaign taught me, and I adhere to the conviction, that the country press is the most potential factor in a Presidential contest. Small home papers are read through and through and are thus powerful in molding public opinion. I do not underestimate the influence of bigger newspapers, but they are read hurriedly by busy people, and are chiefly effective through their headlines and cartoons.

Speaking of cartoons, an incident of the Harding campaign made for a contribution of $20,000 to the Democratic coffers and produced a panicky feeling for the time being. A cartoon sent out in the regular service was obviously, on its face, likely to be offensive to a large body of voters. It touched religion. Happily, it was canceled before it had appeared in more than one newspaper, but the Democrats seized upon it as an issue and the late Thomas F. Ryan's son, denouncing it, supplemented his contribution to Cox in the sum of $20,000. Faint-hearted Republicans feared that it would cost the party the State of New Jersey, but the blunder, so promptly corrected, had no effect at all.

Grafters are active in every campaign and many propositions submitted must be considered with one's fingers crossed. But these may easily be headed off. It is well meaning, but impractical schemes, sponsored by party men of standing that make for waste. In the summer of 1920, when the publicity department was exceedingly busy, a big New Yorker, a contributor to the cause, and, therefore, entitled to a respectful hearing, conceived the idea of selling to the committee in gross some 250,000 gas masks, which he had accumulated in the purchase of left-over war material. He had conceived the idea that these might be used by the Republican clubs over the country. The thought of thus hiding Republican workers behind gas masks was ridiculous in the extreme, and naturally the proposition was politely vetoed. He went away satisfied, but an hour later, from his office, telephoned the suggestion that these masks might be available for use by women's clubs. A second veto logically followed.

Probably the most effective thing utilized to discredit and embarrass Candidate Cox was a statement issued by William Jennings Bryan, prior to the convention, and printed in the New York Times, in which he denounced Cox as a "wet." This statement was revived and disseminated in plate, in the country press, in the heat of the campaign, and confronted the Democratic candidate wherever he appeared on his western trip. He could not get away from "Bryan denounces Cox as a wet,'" and as the West was pronouncedly dry, it put him on the defensive and embarrassed him sadly. In Wyoming he became peeved, and, reasserting the preposterous charge that Chairman Hays was raising $30,000,000 to defeat him, he savagely denounced and pilloried the "high-priced publicity agents" (none paid over $8000 per annum) employed in the despicable work.

Subsequently, he was peeved all the more by a picture of him in a loud race-track overcoat entitled, "Thirty-Million-Dollar Cox," disseminated through the Pictorial-Herald, a medium maintained by the committee and which functioned entertainingly.

Chairman Hays, to his credit, gave the publicity department latitude. He started it off right by pledging himself to "underwrite anything you do," and he kept his word implicitly. Time-wasting conferences usually devoted to inconsequential things were rare. There was no marking time under Chairman Hays's alert leadership, and the loose talk of extravagance in that campaign should be halted.

He'd be Surprised

There is a man in this neighborhood who is so determined to believe in prohibition that he wouldn't enter a hotel the evening after a big football game for love or money.—[Ohio State Journal.

SACRIFICED MATE TO KEEP CAREER

Jean Arthur

HUSBAND OF ACTRESS FOR A DAY SUES

Julian Ancker Charges Jean Arthur Deserted Him for Film Career

Jean Arthur, screen actress, had to decide whether to give up her career or her husband. She gave up her husband after one day of married life.

This was disclosed yesterday when the husband, Julian Ancker, went before Superior Judge McComb seeking an annulment of the marriage, asserting that his bride failed to carry out her marriage vows and left him for her career in the films.

Ancker, represented in court by Attorney Milton Silverberg, declared that he and Miss Arthur known off the screen as Mrs. Gladys Green Ancker, were united in marriage at Ventura. He said that after the ceremony was performed his bride discovered that there was a clause in her contract with the Paramount Pictures Corporation forbidding her marriage. It was either give up her husband immediately or her career. So after one day together the actress and he separated, the husband declared.

Miss Arthur did not appear in court to contest the annulment.

After hearing the husband's testimony Judge McComb granted the annulment.

CHESTER A BATCHELOR

Domestic relations and juvenile problems have been the center of Mr. Batchelor's attention for the past two years while acting as a Seattle justice. He backed the appointment of a trained educator and vocational expert, to whom he paroled hopeful juvenile cases for guidance and training, and spoke and wrote on problems of the relations between police officers, the courts and delinquents. Batchelor is a graduate of Indiana University and the Chicago Law School.

Dam Campaign Leader Due for Gala Welcome

W. B. Mathews, special counsel for the Department of Water and Power, and a member of the Colorado River Commission, will be accorded a welcome by city officials and given a police escort to his offices on his arrival from Washington at the Santa Fe Station at 9:15 a.m. today.

The Fire Department band also will participate in the reception for the man who has been a leader in the Boulder dam campaign. He has been associated with Senator Johnson and Representative Swing, the authors of the Swing-Johnson bill, since they took up the fight for Boulder dam.

Mathews has been in Washington since Congress convened early in the month, working to bring about the enactment of the Boulder dam measure.

W. B. MATHEWS VOTED INCREASE IN SALARY

Under suspension of the rules the Council yesterday voted unanimously to approve a contract between the city and W. B. Mathews, special counsel for the Department of Water and Power, whereby his annual compensation will be increased from $12,000 to $15,000.

Councilman Hall pointed out the special services Mr. Mathews renders in connection with the water problems of the city and in furtherance of the construction of the Boulder dam project.

Musick to Get New Drug Trial

A new trial for H. L. Musick, recently convicted of violation of the State pharmacy law, was granted yesterday by Municipal Judge Sheldon. It was set for January 23, next. The trial was granted on motion of Arthur Verge, Musick's attorney, who told the court that he recently discovered that his client had employed Isadore Lax, a registered pharmacist, to mix his "wonder remedy" prior to the time stated in the complaint. The technical ground on which Musick was convicted was mixing medicine without a permit.

Trial of Musick on charges of violation of the State medical law, on which a jury disagreed a short time ago, is scheduled for January 23, next, before Judge Sheldon.

CROSSING PLAN COSTS DECIDED

Fletcher Drive Subway Set at $260,000

Financing Obstacle Will be Tackled Later

City Asks Time for Study of Proposition

The grade crossing at the intersection of Fletcher Drive and the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks can be eliminated by the construction of a subway for vehicular traffic at an estimated cost of $260,000, it was agreed yesterday by city, State and railway engineers at a hearing before State Railroad Commissioner Carr.

Financing of the project, the only remaining obstacle to the elimination of the crossing, will be threshed out at an adjourned hearing April 16, next. The adjournment was ordered at the request of Deputy City Attorney Bryan for more time in which to consult with the City Council over ways and means of raising the city's share of the expense.

Chief Engineer Mott and Transportation Engineer Hunter of the commission submitted the plans and estimated costs for the subway and gave evidence showing the necessity for the separation of the grades. More than 10,000 motor vehicles are using the crossing daily and this number will be materially increased in three weeks when Fletcher Drive is opened to the Eagle Rock district, they testified.

J. R. Berryman, attorney for the Automobile Club of Southern California, and H. F. Holly, assistant club engineer, urged that the grade crossing be eliminated on the ground that it is hazardous to the motoring public.

The plans agreed to yesterday call for a subway forty feet wide with 5 per cent grade approaches. Of the total estimated cost $50,000 is for property damage to be awarded to persons owning land adjacent to the subway site.

The hearing was held on the commission's own motion for an investigation of the necessity for the elimination of the grade crossing.

GIANT YOUTH ACCUSED BY EX-ACTRESS

Miss Anderson Charges He Assaulted Her When Told to Leave Apartment

Mack A. Fluker, a giant youth, was lodged in the Hollywood Jail yesterday after he is asserted to have assaulted Miss Clare Anderson, 6434 Yucca street, when the girl ordered him from her apartment.

According to Patrolmen Rein and Gannon of the Hollywood division, they were called to Miss Anderson's apartment by neighbors who heard the woman screaming and calling for help.

She was removed to Dickey & Cass Hospital suffering from a dislocated jaw and severe cuts and bruises about her face.

Miss Anderson, who several years ago was a widely known actress, told officers that Fluker came to her apartment at 3 a.m. yesterday and when she ordered him to leave he assaulted her.

The man was booked on charges of assault and battery, disturbing the peace and being drunk on private property.

He was arraigned before Municipal Judge Baird yesterday on charges of battery and defrauding an innkeeper. He entered a plea of not guilty to both charges and Judge Baird set his trial for January 23, next. Fluker, according to the complaint, left the El Cortez Hotel in Hollywood on October 9, last, without paying his rent.

Descendant of Boone's Elm to be Grown Here

A direct descendant of the tree under which Daniel Boone held court at Femme Osage, Mo., was received yesterday at the California Botanic Garden and will be planted in the Forest of Fame in honor of the great pioneer. The elm is the gift of George T. Moore, director of the Missouri Botanical Garden at St. Louis, who obtained seed from the original tree.

According to the story supplied by Mr. Moore, Daniel Boone built a log cabin at Femme Osage and gathered quite a settlement about him. He was elected "Syndic" of the district, and one of his duties was to pass upon civil and Federal court cases.

When the United States gained control of the region a courthouse was erected at near-by St. Charles. But the settlers would not accept the new arrangement and as long as he lived Boone held court under the huge elm in front of his home.

The original tree, Mr. Moore says, is sixty-five feet high.

Realty Dealer's Son Recovering From Operation

John J. Garland, son of William M. Garland, well-known in Los Angeles real estate and financial circles, is in the Good Samaritan Hospital following a serious but successful mastoid operation late Wednesday night.

He had been ill for about a month before it became apparent that the need for the operation was urgent. He was attended by Dr. Isaac Jones, who operated, and Dr. Hill Hastings. His condition was described yesterday as favorable under the circumstances.

Young Garland, who is known as "Jack," is 28 years of age, and is in business with his father. Earlier reports erroneously stated it was William M. Garland himself who underwent the operation.

Of Interest to Women.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the first and most attractive of the many post-Christmas weddings scheduled for late December was that at 8:30 o'clock last evening in St. John's Church of Miss Helen Faye Rogers, lovely daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Alfred Rogers, 2180 West Twenty-first street, and Albert Arnold Binney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McQueen Binney. Dr. George Davidson officiated in the presence of 400 friends and relatives, while 250 were bidden to the reception and wedding supper which followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made an exquisite picture in her gown of white satin and tulle, with which she wore a long veil of real lace and net, caught into a close-fitting cap by hand-made orange blossoms from France. Her bouquet was of orchids and lilies of the valley. Miss Virginia Brown, assisting as maid of honor, was in bouffant yellow chiffon edged in gold, and carried yellow roses, lilies of the valley and fern. The bridesmaids, Miss Helen Herzog, Miss Mary Lee Koster, Miss Mary Edna Cates, Miss Catherine Morrison, Miss Mary Stuart and Miss Jean Symington, were gowned alike in three shades of green chiffon, and carried yellow roses in a paler shade. Upon their heads they wore harmonizing maline bands clasped with dainty rhinesone pins.

Mr. Binney chose for his best man Alfred Rogers, and as ushers James Rogers, John Gray, Thomas Koster, John Hadley, Earl Gardner and Robert Williams. The church was beautifully decorated in a scheme of green and white, with many candles, and the home in yellow roses, while the bride's table also was adorned with the green and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Binney left after the reception for a motor trip hrough the north, and after February 15 will be at home to their friends at 150 North Van Ness avenue. Mrs. Binney attended the Girls' Collegiate School in Glendora and Mills College in Oakland, and Mr. Binney the Manitoba University at Winnipeg, Can., where he was affiliated with the Zeta Psi Fraternity.

Home Ceremony

Another marriage of interest will be that of Miss Marian Loewen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Loewen, 446 Westminster avenue, who has chosen tomorrow evening for her wedding with Abe Homer Simonds. The ceremony will be read at 8 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents.

In the North

Mrs. Albert Beck Wenzell, president of the Los Angeles MacDowell Club of Allied Arts and widow of the late A. B. Wenzell, internationally known painter and illustrator, is in Portland, Or., to pass the holiday season with her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Gould Wenzell. Dr. Wenzell, who is a lieutenant-commander in the naval service, will be stationed in the north for two years.

Mrs. Wenzell returns the middle of January and in her absence Mrs. Hector Geiger will preside at the MacDowell club programs.

Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hinton Evans (Gladys Crall,) whose wedding was an important social event of the autumn, will keep open house between the hours of 2 and 10 p.m. tomorrow, in their new home in Beachwood Drive. Two hundred relatives and friends have been bidden to receive holiday greetings and celebrate the opening of the home.

Assisting Mrs. Evans will be Mrs. Charles Crall, Mrs. Samuel K. Rindge, Mrs. Willitts J. Hole, Mrs. John D. Fredericks, Mrs. Edward A. Arson Theory Maintained in Home Burning

Fire which caused about $1000 damage to the home of Joseph Quirino, former police officer, at 1460 Stillwell avenue, was being investigated by Fire Inspectors Montgomery and Danskin yesterday as a suspected arson plot.

Evidence that kerosene had been poured on several inflammable articles in the house while Quirino was absent late Wednesday night is reported.

On October 8, last year, a similar attempt to burn Quirino's residence at 1189 East Thirty-niuth street was made, fire department records disclose.

Silver foxes having a total value of $250,000 were recently exhibited at Waverly Market, Edinburgh, Scotland.

HAS FEMININE CHARM

There is a suggestion of the sports mode about this outfit, of course, but it has feminine charm also. The long-waisted double-breasted-closing blouse is in novelty silk, while the plaited skirt is in plain material. If preferred, a deep shawl collar may be added to the neck of the blouse which, for medium size, requires 2¼ yards 36-inch material. The skirt requires the same amount, with 1¼ yard 36-inch lining for the bodice.

Add about two cupfuls of diced celery, a cupful and a half of minced ripe olives and three-fourths cupful of seedless raisins. Other vegetables which you may prefer may be added in place of or in addition to the celery and olives, such as parsley, spinach, asparagus, etc. Moisten the ingredients with enough milk to bring to the consistency of a stuffing.

Pineapple Snow: To the well-beaten whites of three eggs add a nine-ounce can of shredded pineapple from which all juice has been drained. Whip one-fourth pint of thick cream and fold into mixture, adding no sugar. Chill and serve in sherbert glasses. The amount makes about six small servings.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Laxatives

Question: Anxious Rose asks: "Will you please tell me what magnesium carbonate is? About three years ago I was told it was good for constipation and have been taking a bite of it every morning since that time. I seem to crave it—can't get along without it—and my mother tells me it drys up my blood. I would like your advice about it.

Answer: Magnesium carbonate is a mildly aperient antacid. There is no serious harm from its use except you are liable to neglect the removal of the real cause of your constipation which is either in wrong food or a prolapsed and kinked condition of your intestines. It is unnecessary to become a slave to any drug laxative or medical preparation, but they are often temporary lifesavers when you are trying to discover the bad habits or faulty functioning which is producing your disorder.

Darkness Around Mouth

Q.: L. J. asks: "Just what causes darkness around the mouth, mostly under the nose. Is it kidney trouble? Also what causes me to rub my eyes a lot? What wash is good?

A.: Darkness of the skin around the mouth usually comes from some liver derangement which is invariably due to faulty diet. Your eyes may itch because of irritation of the mucous membrance of the eyelids from the discharge of irritating toxins, but you may need glasses and should surely consult an eye specialist who can advise you to put on glasses or to use an eye wash which he could recommend.

Horseradish

Question: K. K. asks: "Do you think horseradish is harmful to the system and how do you class radishes, and are their tops good as greens?"

Answer: Condiments should be avoided as much as possible, but a small amount of horseradish is allowable with a meat meal. I do not recommend radishes except in very limited quantities. The tops should be used only in small amounts with mixtures of spinach or chard.

Bright's Disease

Q.: Mrs. O. D. H. writes: "I have been reading your articles with a great deal of interest, and now will you please tell me what I could do for Bright's disease? I have been suffering with it for a good many years.

A.: Bright's disease is caused by faulty metabolism. No particular food is responsible. Send a large self-addressed, stamped envelope, and more complete directions will be forwarded.

Potatoes With Meals

Q.: Mrs. J. H. asks: "Is it all right to serve potatoes with every meal like so many people do?"

A.: Potatoes are the least starchy of all the so-called starchy vegetables, and may be used with a protein meal with less harm than that caused by the indiscriminate use of the other starches. Still, an ideal protein meal would exclude potatoes. The best way to use potatoes is to bake or boil them with the skins on and use them as the principal part of a meal, combining with them some of the cooked and raw greens.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

THE HOLIDAY HOME

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

The children are home for the holidays.

Gone is the quiet morning when, after the children are in school, the housekeeping can be accomplished without interruption and confusion. Gone, too, are the evenings when the children are busy with their lessons and scheduled responsibilities, and their parents are free to make their own plans.

Now, after the months of school and the intensive outside occupations which are a part of the life of every American child, the parent may rediscover the child, and the child may rediscover his home. There is opportunity to come once more into that more intimate contact which can only be woven of companionable hours, natural confidences, and common pleasures and enterprises.

The mother is wise who plans her housekeeping so as to reduce it to a minimum except when it functions as a center of festivity. The dusting and polishing may well be allowed to suffer a judicious neglect, but there should always be plenty of cookies in the cooky jar and enough lunch and dinner on hand so that a friend may be brought home without warning.

Fathers' and mothers' leisure time should be largely at their children's disposal. During the holidays there are no social obligations half so important as those to their children. The family holiday matinee is a delightful institution. Little trips to the zoo, to the near-by lake for ice-skating, to "sights" in the vicinity, might well come off during these days of freedom.

Although parents should be ready to step in with plans for diversion whenever things threaten to get stale or dull, they need not feel that they must offer a complete schedule of serried pleasures or that, indeed, the children will want to spend most of their time with anyone but their contemporaries. The parent's job is to offer a friendly background for the child's activities and to hold himself in readiness to take an active part in them whenever it is obvious that he would be welcome.

STREET'S INCLUSION IN FIRE ZONE ASKED

Request of the San Fernando branch of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that Van Nuys Boulevard between Vanowen and Hamlin streets be placed in the city fire zone was referred to the Building and Safety Commission yesterday by the Fire Commission, which disclaimed jurisdiction, after Chief Scott had explained that it was a proper matter for the other commission. Developments under way and anticipated in the future require that buildings shall be constructed to conform with building restrictions, according to the communication.

Before asking a personal question about one these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. MANAGEMENT OF NEW HABITS SUCCESSFUL WITH THIS MOTHER

Mrs. E. N. writes: "Although my boy is 5 years of age I enjoy reading your advice to mothers and very often find something that answers a problem I have on hand. I was interested in what Mrs. W. R. says about her baby of 17 months refusing to drink out of a cup, and have often heard mothers complain of the same thing. I wonder whether my experience would interest someone?

"I started feeding my boy orange juice at 2 months with a spoon. It was a job at first but in a short time he used the spoon nicely. Then at the age of 4 months I started to give him water from a cup. The result was that when I weaned him from the breast he refused to take a bottle, which was what I wanted. I never had to drag bottles around with me, if I were visiting someone. I had only to ask to have some milk warmed. I had so often seen big, healthy children of 4 or 5 sucking on a bottle that I decided it was the mother's fault. I determined that I would not have a spoiled child in that respect at least. Just as you advised Mrs. H. R., as soon as he could hold a spoon, I let him feed himself, with the result that as soon as he knew how to manage he refused to let me feed him and I have never had to tell him stories in order to get him to eat.

"At the age of 2½ years I bought him a bicycle, while others were using strollers at that age. He is in the first grade because I never talked baby talk to him. At 20 months he knew all the nursery rhymes. Now my boy is just a normal, healthy boy—not kept back in his development by babying him. But next to an average child of his age the difference is noticeable. His poise, his expression of manliness is very apparent, and I think it is due to not babying him."

ANSWER

Your experience is helpful and a step forward in child training. If we want to have our children grow and broaden we must remember that each week makes them more capable and independent, providing they are given the opportunities for using their independence. If we shut them in a little house of habits, which was quite suitable for them at 3 months they may still be bound there a prisoner at 12 months. We have to open new rooms and lead them into them and give them the stimulus of old things done in a new way. A mother has so infinitely great a power to nourish the growing intellect of her baby by her willingness to recognize the value of change.

CITIZENS TO VOTE ON PIPE LINE

Question to be Submitted at San Diego at Coming Primary Election

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 27.—Propositions to amend the city charter affecting the city's bond margin and to vote bonds for building a new pipe line to the Otay reservoir will be submitted to the people at the primary election, March 19, the Councilmen practically have decided.

The resolution and ordinance providing for the election will come before the Council next Monday, it was stated by a member of that body today. Engineer Savage's plans for the Otay pipe line have been finished and will be on file with the City Clerk when the election is called, it was declared today.

The Councilmen are said to be unanimous in action that will put the propositions to the people at the March primary, thereby eliminating the cost of a special election, which is said to be approximately $15,000.

Members of the Council say they are anxious to hold as few elections as possible this coming year on account of the financial condition of the city. The Councilmen say they are disposed to submit to the voters the proposal to create a board of freeholders to frame a new charter, but this will not be done, it was stated by a Councilman, until after the spring election, thereby submitting the plan to the voters at a special election in May, when there would be no other issues.

Illness Fatal to Big Banker

PASADENA, Dec. 27.—Hamilton Murray Peyton, for forty-eight years president of the American Exchange National Bank in Duluth, Minn., died today at his home, 572 Prospect Boulevard, following an attack of pneumonia. He was 93 years of age and took up his permanent residence in this city a year ago.

Besides holding the presidency of the American Exchange National Bank, Mrs. Peyton held directorships in several other institutions, including the Minnesota National Bank of Duluth, and the First National Bank of Proctor, Minn.

After receiving his degree from Rutgers College, N. J., he moved to Duluth and entered the banking business as a clerk. He rose rapidly and soon spread his financial interests through the State.

He leaves eight children and several grandchildren. During the last year he made his home with two daughters, the Misses Martha and Alice Peyton. Mr. Peyton also leaves two daughters in Duluth, Mrs. James C. Hunter and Mrs. Russell Baxter; and four sons, W. R. Peyton, B. M. Peyton, John M. Peyton and Hamilton H. Peyton, all of Duluth.

Arrangements for the funeral will be announced by the Reynolds & Eberle mortuary company.

Death Comes to Artist's Widow

PASADENA, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Emily Louise Levis Frost, widow of the late Arthur Burdett Frost, dean of American illustrators, died today at her residence, 529 South Madison avenue, following a heart attack. She had been in failing health for five years.

She was born in Philadelphia and was seventy-six years of age.

Mr. Frost, who was known throughout the United States for his illustrations and writings, died here last June.

Funeral and burial services for Mrs. Frost will be held in Philadelphia. The services will be held in the Church of St. James the Less, where services for Mr. Frost were held.

Mrs. Frost leaves a son, John Frost, Pasadena artist, who will accompany his mother's body East, leaving tomorrow.

TREE PLANTING PLAN PROVES SUCCESSFUL

GLENDALE, Dec. 27.—The success that has attended the first tree-planting district in Glendale has been so pronounced that the City Council has authorized the establishment of other districts in a program that will embrace the entire city through successive tree-planting districts.

The second district that has just been approved lies adjacent to the first one, in the northwest section of the city, and takes in approximately thirty-five miles of streets. The plans call for trees on all dedicated parkways, with a total of 6367 trees of twenty-two varieties to be planted, although trees that are already growing in the parkways will be left in place. Bids will be asked for the work in the immediate future, according to O. J. Renfrew, city park superintendent.

LIVE WIRE CAUSES DEATH OF WORKMAN

COMPTON, Dec. 27.—Accidentally swinging a crane that he was operating against a high-voltage line, Basil Bagley, 28 years of age, was instantly killed here this morning.

Bagley, who was employed by the Lewellyn Iron Works of Los Angeles, was operating a crane on the rear of a truck south of this city where the Dominguez branch of the Stauffer Chemical Company is being erected. The crane came in contact with an 11,000-volt power line.

The body was removed to the Moreland mortuary here and it is not believed that an inquest will be conducted. Bagley was not married and made his home with his mother at 122 West Sixty-sixth street, Los Angeles.

GRAND JURY REPORT WILL BE READY SOON

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 27.—The final report of the San Diego county grand jury was being voted upon by members of that body in a special session at the Courthouse today, and probably will be submitted to Judge Andrews of Superior Court tomorrow, it was indicated by the foreman, former Judge John T. Kean.

The county government committee of the grand jury has been engaged on a draft of recommendations for changes and increase in several county departments, and these recommendations will be affixed to the report as a separate document, it was learned.

It was rumored, when word first was given announcing the meeting of the grand jurors, that the final report was ready and would be submitted to Judge Andrews at 10 o'clock today, but this later proved unfounded.

SANTA BARBARA FULL OF COUNTERFEIT COIN

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 27.—Police yesterday began the task of tracing down a counterfeit ring.

Counterfeit bills and silver running into several thousands of dollars have been passed in Santa Barbara during the Christmas rush, it was revealed to Chief of Police George Sloan by bankers.

Ten dollar bills, very closely imitating United States money, were included in the fictitious money brought to the police station by bank officials. The bills instead of containing the minute colored threads of the true currency were painted to resemble the fiber.

HOSPITAL INMATE ROBBED BY PATIENT

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 27.—A bed-ridden man with sufficient faculties remaining to rob his hospital fellows was pictured to police last night by E. Safford, 404 Bath, who stated that he believed an inmate of the County General Hospital had stolen his watch. The accused man was carried from the hospital to his home in the northern part of the county several days ago, and the watch was missed shortly after he was taken away.

Officers Locate Largest Still

ONTARIO, Dec. 27.—What is believed to have been one of the largest stills ever captured in Southern California and one that kept this community in a moist condition was today in possession of Clem Sweeters, Sheriff of Riverside county. The still was confiscated on a desolate tract east of here, one-half mile distant from the Northcott chicken ranch, where a number of boys are believed to have lost their lives.

Value of the still and its accessories was estimated at $20,000. The liquor-making plant was found in operation in the same manner as the huge still of the old-time distilleries, according to the raiders.

It was a continuous operation plant and had been running at capacity for approximately two weeks. In addition to confiscation of the still, the raiders took 20,000 gallons of mash and hundreds of five-gallon cans in which it is claimed the finished 160 proof grain alcohol was sent to Southern California markets.

The plant was located in the old adobe ranch. Three smaller stills were found under a pile of hay in the adobe barn.

SANTA CLAUS GOES ON CHRISTMAS JAG

ASSERTED BOOTLEGGER IN EL SEGUNDO JAIL

EL SEGUNDO, Dec. 27.—Warren Fairbanks of Santa Monica was arraigned before Judge Fugitt here yesterday on a charge of illegal possession of liquor, after Police Officers J. A. Cummings and T. B. DeBerry had haled him into headquarters with his truck, loaded with 110 gallons of alcohol.

Fairbanks was arrested after a man who was riding in the truck with him leaped from the car and was whisked away in a large sedan traveling ahead of the truck and was remanded to jail in default of a $600 bond after entering a plea of not guilty.

JURIST'S SISTER DEAD

UPLAND, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Mary Crane Frownfelter, 75 years of age, sister of Judge G. R. Crane of Upland Police Court, died last night at her home here, 456 East Ninth street. Mrs. Frownfelter had lived in this community for twenty-three years. Funeral services will be Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Drapper's Upland chapel, with interment in Bellevue Cemetery. Officiating ministers will be Dr. S. S. Sampson of Huntington Park, former Upland pastor, and Dr. James Stavely, present pastor of Upland Methodist Church.

NURSE IN CRITICAL CONDITION

PASADENA, Dec. 27.—Miss Emma Merriam, Pasadena Hospital nurse, who was resuscitated by firemen yesterday after she had lain, apparently dead, for eight hours, is reported to be in a critical condition tonight. Attending physicians have been unable to diagnose her case and believe she may be suffering from some unusual malady.

NARCOTIC PATIENTS AT LARGE

Five Inmates of Spadra State Hospital Cut Out Screens and Escape

POMONA, Dec. 27.—Cutting the screen from the windows of their sleeping quarters, five inmates of the State Narcotic Hospital at Spadra, west of this city, made their escape last night and were today the object of search by every peace officer in Southern California.

The fugitives, all of whom are from the San Francisco Bay region, according to Dr. Thomas F. Joyce, superintendent of the institution, are F. H. Smith, Frank Coson, Paul Arbuthnot, Elmore Campbell and Thomas F. Fatonas.

The escape, evidently a prearranged affair, was made following a Yuletide celebration staged at the hospital for the inmates. Dr. Joyce stated today that he felt sure that the men were aided in their escape by two automobiles which were seen parked near the institution shortly before the escape. The fact that some new construction work has been carried on during the past few weeks lent credence to the theory that outside contact was made by the men through this source.

CHAMBER ELECTS NEW DIRECTORS

PUENTE, Dec. 27.—C. O. Shoop, George E. Cross and S. A. Peet were the three new directors elected here last evening at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors, held in the chamber's rooms. Members who will still remain on the board are Henry Lesovsky, R. L. Morehouse, H. E. Riggs, A. F. Haworth and Lance D. Smith. Officers for 1929 were also elected, C. O. Shoop being made president, with Henry Lesovsky, E. D. Martin and Adolph Ehinger as first, second and third vice-presidents. H. E. Riggs will be the secretary and George L. Lower the treasurer.

With the coming of the new year a membership drive will be launched, in which it is hoped to secure any remaining memberships not now admitted into the thriving organization.

Achievements during 1928 by the Chamber of Commerce include the securing of a new and modern system of ornamental lights for Main street, the winning of the sweepstakes at the Los Angeles County Fair with their exhibit in the walnut class, and the successful cooperation with the American Legion in the recent San Gabriel Valley Walnut Fair held here.

GAMBLING RAIDS IN SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 27.—With instructions from Chief of Police Doran to "clamp down the lid on gambling," police raiding crews began an assault upon downtown cigar stores suspected of harboring gambling devices and arrested more than eighty men this afternoon.

The "standing-room-only" sign was hung out at the jail while the prisoners were crowded into corridors and even into the matron's quarters.

Three police sergeants and a jailer were kept busy for more than two hours booking the prisoners.

In each of a number of raids police obtained asserted gambling apparatus to be used in prosecution of the cases.

Lieutenant of Detectives Peterson led the raiding crews, composed of Patrolmen Burk, Osborne, Ward and Nelson.

HELLMAN HEADS FLORAL PARADE

Los Angeles Banker is Named Grand Marshal

First Time Honor Has Gone Outside Pasadena

Fifty-three Aids to Assist Noted Horseman

PASADENA, Dec. 27.—One of this city's highest honors was bestowed upon Marco H. Hellman of Los Angeles, today, when the banker and horse fancier was named grand marshal of the 1929 Tournament of Roses parade. This is the first time that a man living outside this city has been selected to lead the parade, according to Leslie B. Henry, president of the Tournament of Roses Association.

Mr. Hellman is expected to announce tomorrow the names of fifty-three aides whom he will choose from Southern California cities.

It was announced today that Gov. L. G. Hardiman of Georgia will not be able to witness the California-Georgia Tech football game in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, following the tournament parade. He had reserved a suite at the Hotel Vista Del Arroyo, but the reservations were canceled this afternoon. Gov. Hardiman has gone to Sapelo Island, where he will welcome President and Mrs. Coolidge, who will spend a vacation there as guests of Howard E. Coffin.

Stop Antics of Air Man

ONTARIO, Dc. 27. — Ontario's recently adopted aviation ordinance has been put into effect and has been found to be decidedly workable. The ordinance opposes low flying and has put to an end a birthday greeting from an aviator in the skies to his sister living here.

For several days Ontarians stood with mouths open and necks craned while they watched a large red airplane swoop out of the heavens, zoom over a certain section of the city and then nonchalantly continue on its way. The Chamber of Commerce aviation committee, Tom Cummins, chairman, wanted to try out the ordinance so took the number of the ship and wrote to headquarters about it.

It proved to be Bart Cock, an airmail flyer on the Los Angeles to Salt Lake route. He was just dropping down to bid a howdy to his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Elmsley, prominent Ontarians. His route now takes him higher in the sky and he says his howdies by air mail instead.

CHAMBER PLEDGES AID TO RAISIN GROWERS

GLENDALE, Dec. 27.—The directors of the Chamber of Commerce, meeting last night, placed the organization at the disposal of the leaders who are designated to cope with the crisis now existing in the California grape industry and pledged their aid to help place the industry on a stable basis.

A resolution outlining the serious situation that faces the grape growers was presented and the board unanimously agreed that every effort should be made, in collaboration with other agencies throughout the State, to prevent any further upset in the grape business that would tend not only to impoverish the farmers, but that would also threaten the commercial and industrial structure of the State itself.

LARGE ROAD JOB IS STARTED AT NEWHALL

NEWHALL, Dec. 27.—Work on building the Weldon Canyon roadway between Tunnel Station and the Santa Clara River highway near here has begun. Contractors have moved their crews and machinery into Newhall for grading operations on the eight-mile stretch. This grading contract calls for the expenditure of about $300,000. When the improvement is finished it will provide a new highway for the San Fernando Valley road system and relieve much of the traffic through the Newhall tunnel. Plans also are being prepared for the improvement of the roadway south of Tunnel Station to form a connecting link with the present highway system in the Newhall district.

COLD WEATHER AT BIG BEAR

REDLANDS, Dec. 27.—W. E. Knickerbocker, pioneer of Big Bear Valley and owner of much property there, formerly in charge of the Bear Valley Mutual Water Company dam, is down to spend the holidays with his family here. He says there is still a heavy snow on the ground and that so far this year there has been thirty-three inches of snowfall there. Mr. Knickerbocker does not remember a December when the weather was colder. Several times it was 2 deg. below zero at his house and on the lake it registered as low as 6 deg. below zero.

It has been so cold that all the snow that fell is dry and powdery. Mr. Knickerbocker says that the snow reduced to rainfall so far this season would be about five inches and this is not enough to bring the lake up to the dam level. There is less water impounded than usual at the present time.

HEADS BUSINESS MEN

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 27.—Hugh Wright has been selected as president of the Retail Merchants' Association of Huntington Park, to begin his new term of office February 1. Charles Heckinger has been elected vice-president and Albert Brownstein, treasurer. Robert Shanahan, executive vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, will continue as secretary.

GET DETAILS OF SHOOTING AT VENTURA

Angry Mexican Fired Shots Without Provocation, Say Witnesses

VENTURA, Dec. 27.—Felix Rivera bumped his head. It made him angry and he started shooting. Jesus Garcia, his bunk mate, got hit above the heart with a bullet and is in a serious condition at the General Hospital. That is all there is to the Christmas Day shooting at Montalvo, if witnesses interviewed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Don Holt are to be believed, Holt said today. He added that a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder would probably be filed against Rivera.

Rivera's story, Holt said, is that Garcia became enraged because some one had stolen the springs off his bed and had rushed upon Rivera with an ax handle. Rivera is said to have declared he shot in self-defense.

Rivera, 39 years of age, is in the County Jail awaiting disposition of the case. Although Garcia was shot in the chest above the heart, the bullet tearing a hole through his body and coming out his back, he is expected to recover.

Tests Made to Get More Water

VAN NUYS, Dec. 27.—An experiment which, if successful, may control overflow waters in San Fernando Valley and at the same time add to the city water supply is being conducted by the water department in the Tujunga Wash near Vanowen street and Whitsett avenue.

Engineers have constructed a sinking system over an area of twenty acres to test the water-storage capacity in the lower gravel beds under the wash. A number of basins have been built, into which water is pumped through a system of pipe lines. Water meters show the number of gallons that sink into the ground over a given period.

H. A. Van Norman, chief engineer, is in charge of the work. He states that so far the experiments are successful and ultimately may bring forth a plan that will catch and store underground much of the excessive rainwater that flows over the valley and is wasted each winter and spring season.

Drops Suit Against Chief

VENTURA, Dec. 27.—A. R. Tobey has dismissed his action against Clarence Mattson, Ventura Chief of Police, in which the former was demanding $10,000 damages for asserted attempts of the Chief to "get" him, and after an alleged unjustified search of Tobey's home for liquor. The suit was dismissed yesterday upon written request of the plaintiff.

Outstanding in the case is the demurrer to the complaint and the demand for points and authorities made by Walter Fourt, attorney for the defendant, upon the filing of Tobey's amended complaint, made necessary by Fourt's demurrer.

BURGLAR ALARM STIRS NEIGHBORHOOD

ONTARIO, Dec. 27. — They came from the experimental groves, from the laboratories, from the machine shops and from the gymnasium when the warning was sounded that burglars were around. The entire quietude and decorum of Chaffey campus was disturbed when the burglar alarm that protects the safe of Chaffey Union High School and Junior College clanged shortly after noon.

Everybody around the neighborhood ran toward the sound eager to help catch the burgler. F. E. Chaffee, student-body manager and others in the office set them at ease. Chaffee thinking the switch to the alarm was on, turned it and opened the doors to the safe. Instead, the switch was off and Chaffee turned it on, which caused everybody to come arunning. Chaffey High and Junior College faculties were pleased with the prompt response made by the public when the alarm sounded.

TAKE DAMPNESS OUT OF NEW YEAR PARTIES

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 27. — San Diegans will celebrate a dry New Year's Eve if plans being made by police and Federal prohibition agents materialize.

Although there will be no "hip tapping," by either squad, a determined drive on the source of supply has been launched with the bootleggers as the objective of the campaign.

"Let's get liquor out of the bootleggers trenches by New Year," is the policy adopted by the agents.

More than four asserted liquor dealers have been arrested within the last few days by Federal agents Elwood Davis and James Orr with the confiscation of 300 gallons of liquor destined for holiday consumption.

VALLEY BEGINS ON SPINACH HARVEST

VAN NUYS, Dec. 27.—Four hundred acres have been planted to spinach this season in San Fernando Valley and the crop, it is reported, will run from three to seven tons per acre. All of the crop will not be fully harvested until February. Last year the crop was more uniform in production. Spinach packed in the valley is usually of the very best grade and always finds a ready market at eastern distributing centers.

FILE REPORT OF WATER SURVEY

Engineers to First Confer With Orange Supervisors

No Mention of Tricounty Flood Control

Final Findings to Go to State Officials

SANTA ANA, Dec. 27.—Preliminary draft of the State Engineer's report covering a three-year survey of Santa Ana River resources will be presented to the Orange County Supervisors within the next several days, for their criticisms and suggestions, before the report is filed with the Governor and the State Legislature. And this report will make no recommendation of a $30,000,000 tricounty flood-control program, as stated in reports recently published locally.

This information was made known today following a conference between State Engineer Edward Hyatt, Jr., and Paul Bailey, engineer for the Orange county flood-control district. Hyatt visited Bailey in Santa Ana yesterday.

NO TRICOUNTY PROJECT

"So far as I am aware, there is no intention of submitting a $30,000,000 ricounty flood-control project to the voters of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties," Bailey stated today, referring to the published report of such a project as pending in the near future.

"Moreover," Bailey added, "the statement that there will be such a project submitted cannot be based upon the forthcoming report of the river survey to be made by the State Engineer, from what information I have concerning the report."

CONFERS WITH OFFICIALS

Bailey was in Sacramento last week discussing phases of the pending report with Hyatt and Harold Conkling, heading the division of water rights, whom Hyatt placed in charge of the Santa Ana River survey conducted by the State and the three counties during the last three years, and instituted when Bailey was State Engineer. The report was further discussed by Bailey and Hyatt in Santa Ana yesterday, when the State Engineer announced that the preliminary draft would be placed before the supervisors of the three counties at once, prior to its filing with the State bodies.

It is known that Orange county officials are opposed to any proposal that this county should join with Riverside and San Bernardino in a tricountry project, inasmuch as the independent program of the Orange county flood-control district, centering about a dam on the Santa Ana River in the lower Santa Ana Canyon, would supply all of the benefits that this county possibly could receive, at a much lower cost than a tricounty project would entail.

RUMOR SPREAD

In that connection, it was recalled that Hyatt, being drawn to this county when the rumor that the river report would recommend a tricounty plan caused much agitation here several months ago, assured local officials that the report would not attempt to suggest any plan for development of the river, but would properly confine itself to outlining what works should be constructed to achieve flood control and water conservation. The State Engineer's office, Hyatt pointed out at that time, was concerned only with what could be done, not how it should be done.

WHY BUILD TWO DAMS?

"Why should Orange county join in a tricounty project?" demanded Col. S. H. Finley, County Supervisor, in commenting on the published report of the pending $30,000,000 program. "We are told that such a plan would involve building of two dams along the upper river, each to cost $8,000,000, and each having a capacity of 20,000 acre feet of water. Orange county, having an assessed valuation equal to the combined valuations of Riverside and San Bernardino counties, would have to pay half of the cost of those dams. And they would do us no good, since our own proposed dam in the lower Santa Ana Canyon would bring us all the water we could get under any program. And, further, our own proposed dam would cost a small fraction of $8,000,000, and would impound eight or nine times the amount of water that the two $8,000,000 dams would hold. Why should we build dams for somebody else?"

MUNICIPAL COURT TO SPEED UP JUSTICE

GLENDALE, Dec. 27.—The decision to establish a Municipal Court in Glendale rests with the judicial council of the State, according to a statement today by Attorney James F. McBryde, member of the Glendale Bar Association and chairman of the legal department of the Chamber of Commerce. The approval of the justices of the Supreme Court to the proposal was obtained recently when they were guests of the local association at a banquet, and the request for the establishment of a Municipal Court here will be placed before the judicial council, in a brief that is now being prepared, when the Council meets just prior to the next session of the State Legislature, McBryde said. Such a court, he says, would handle at least 80 per cent of the litigation arising in Glendale and would speed the administration of justice by taking many cases off the already crowded calendars of the Superior courts and thus eliminate the delays that are encountered at present.

RECORD-BREAKING HAND

REDONDO BEACH, Dec. 27.—Realization of the pinochle fiend's dream was reported here last night when Mrs. Florence Watson of 110 North Pacific avenue in a three-handed pinochle game drew a double run of trumps, scoring 1500. With diamonds as trumps, Mrs. Watson was dealt an ace, two kings, two queens, two jacks and two tens, all in diamonds, drawing the second ace of diamonds from the "widow."

KIDNAPING HUNT ENTERS DESERT

Pair at Victorville Hotel Fit Description

Quest for Palmer and Grant Boy Grows Wider

Change in Car Ownership Held as Clew

Believed to be hidden in the Mojave desert somewhere between Victorville and Las Vegas, Nev., Harry Palmer, 40 years of age, and Dick Grant, 11, whom he is accused of kidnaping, yesterday became the center of a search instituted by officers, which by last night had spread throughout the entire Southwest.

The search was turned to the Mojave early yesterday when a telephone report to the Sheriff's office stated that a man answering Palmer's description had stopped at a Victorville hotel Saturday night with a boy resembling the missing Grant child. The man signed his name L. S. Borden and registered the boy as D. Borden. Before leaving the man is said to have requested directions to Barstow and Las Vegas inquiring about the condition of roads.

CAR CHANGE MADE

Indications that Palmer may have premeditated the asserted kidnaping were disclosed yesterday with a check-up made by juvenile authorities on the car in which Palmer took the Grant boy away.

Investigation showed that Palmer purchased a used roadster under his own name and immediately had the ownership transferred to the name of Nathan Eagle, at 101 South Avenue 22.

At that address, police said, there is a shack with a sign denoting it as the Eagle Paint Company.

Detective Lieutenants Deaton and Hanson, and Policewoman Hahn, all of the juvenile department, say that they believe Palmer made the automobile registration change to avoid detection and that he had planned the abduction of the Grant boy.

RAIL OFFICERS SEARCH

An intensive search for the pair, is being conducted by officials of the Union Pacific Railroad also. Orders to all special agents and train crews have been issued and a close lookout is being maintained in all switch yards throughout Southern California and Nevada. Chief Special Agent W. J. McClement has taken personal charge of the search on the divisions near Las Vegas, where the last clew to the kidnaper and his victim were found.

Palmer and the Grant boy dropped from sight in Los Angeles Saturday when Palmer took the child to Long Beach for an outing. They failed to return. Palmer, who had been employed in the past by the boy's father, W. J. Grant, had been a close friend of the family spending much of his time at their home, 312 San Fernando Road.

All peace officers in California, Nevada and Arizona were notified of the boy's disappearance by Sheriff Traeger and urged to watch for Palmer who was said to be driving a 1920 model Dodge roadster.

MAY FUNERAL TODAY

Member of Local Pioneer Family to be Buried in Glendale

Funeral services for Mrs. Charlotte Crawford May, a member of one of the pioneer families of Los Angeles, who died Wednesday night at her home, 451 East Vernon avenue, will be conducted at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mrs. May, who was 85 years of age, came to Los Angeles from Sacramento sixty-six years ago. Her husband, Richard C. May, who died here several years ago, owned a ranch more than forty-five years ago at the present site of the Vernon industrial district. Mrs. May's last residence was not far from where the old ranchhouse stood.

She leaves a grand-daughter, Mrs. Henry Goodell of Venice. The body is at the Wilshire Funeral Home, Santa Monica.

SHRINE CHIEFTAIN ON VISIT

Predicts Success of June Convention

Every Palm Tree Gives Greeting

Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones (right) Mrs. Jones and the Shrine leader's son, Frank C., Jr., who visited here yesterday on way to San Francisco.

If the 1929 convention of the Shrine, to be held in Los Angeles June 4, 5 and 6, next, isn't the largest affair of the kind ever held in the West, then Frank C. Jones, Imperial Potentate, will be a discredited prophet.

Accompanied by his wife and son, Frank C. Jones, Jr., the Shrine Potentate arrived in Los Angeles last night in a private car attached to the Sunset Limited. Their stay was brief, little more than an hour, according to schedule, as they were en route to San Francisco, where the Potentate is to be the honor guest today at a tri-joint ceremonial conducted by the temples of San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento.

Coming to Los Angeles is no novel experience to Jones, he said, since he has been here so often that every palm tree nods a friendly greeting. However, it was the first visit for his wife and son, and they were treated to a condensed sight-seeing tour during their brief visit.

The party was joined here by Leo V. Youngworth, deputy Imperial Potentate of Los Angeles, who will accompany the travelers to San Francisco for the ceremonial and accompanying festivities. They will be guests at a reception in the Bay City tonight and tomorrow they will see what happens when East meets West on the gridiron.

The Imperial Potentate then will resume his official tour of inspection, his itinerary including Oakland, Sacramento, Tucson and other western cities, following which he will visit Panama, Cuba and the West Indies.

Already the demand for hotel and railroad reservations is much greater than for the 1925 session, Shrine officials state.

Tiny periscopes within the eyes of ground birds act as reflectors and enable them to observe the approach of enemies from behind, declares Prof. Arthur Thomson, of Oxford University, England.

Suspect Arrested at Church in Pasadena

Bettingen Home Involved in Transaction

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Dec. 27.—The arrest of a man, who gave his name as Carylton G. Lewis at the First Baptist Church here tonight and, who was booked at the City Jail on a charge of issuing worthless checks, disclosed an asserted attempt to victimize wealthy Pasadena property owners, according to local police.

William Bettingen, head of the Bettingen Lumber Company, confronted Lewis at the police station following the arrest and identified him as the man, who made a contract for the purchase of the $325,000 Bettingen residence at 1144 Hillcrest avenue, and gave Bettingen a check for $1000 as a down payment. The check, officers said Lewis admitted, is worthless.

CONTRACT DRAWN

The deal with Bettingen, both Lewis and Bettingen said, took place a few days ago. A contract was drawn up wherein Lewis was to purchase the palatial Bettingen home and its furnishings, and the asserted worthless check issued as a down payment. The balance was to have been paid by January 1, according to the terms of the contract.

Lewis is believed by police to have approached other wealthy Pasadenans concerning purchase of exclusive residential property here. He claims to be related to several prominent national figures and to a prominent retired Pasadena resident, police stated.

APPEARS PROSPEROUS

Detective Sargeant Leon Schuhl and Detective Sam Bailey are in charge of the investigation. They believe that Lewis's correct name is Ross Putnam and that he escaped from a sanitarium in Detroit, Mich.

A card presented to the officers by the suspect gave his home address as 8237 Santa Monica Boulevard.

When arrested, Lewis was wearing stylish clothes and presented the appearance of a successful business man. He told officers that he is 38 years of age.

City Anticipates Air-Mail Record

Los Angeles is expected to stand high in the list of air-mail users when the Christmas period figures are compiled by the government, as the result of having sent and received approximately 1,000,000 pieces from the 17th to 23rd inst., it was declared yesterday by officials of Western Air Express.

During the eight days immediately preceding Christmas, air-mail loads, both eastbound and westbound, were tremendously heavy, it was stated. The peak day came on last Saturday, when more than 175,000 pieces of mail were transported between here and Salt Lake City.

GOOD WILL URGED AS AID TO FOREIGN TRADE

Development of an increased sentiment of international good will throughout business circles in Los Angeles is essential to the growth of this port's foreign commerce, it was declared by several speakers who addressed an open forum luncheon of the Foreign Trade Club yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce. Maurice Carrasso, former president of the club, was among the speakers. Stanley T. Olafson, retiring president, announced that the new officers will be installed at the next evening meeting on Thursday, January 10, next, at 6 p.m. at the Commercial Club.

FRATERNITY MEN GATHER AT BANQUET

Two Hundred Collegiate Greeks Honor Visitors from Georgia Tech

Greek met Greek last night and a banquet was the result. More than 200 members of twenty-eight Greek collegiate societies gathered at the Elks' Club for the sixth annual meeting for the development of fraternal spirit and to pay tribute to members of the University of California and Georgia Institute of Technology football teams.

Enthusiasm for plans developed by the Interfraternity Alumni Association of Southern California for maintenance of high standards of college fraternity chapters and memberships was the outstanding accomplishment of the annual affair, officials of the organization declared.

Raleigh Drennon, alternate captain and guard, and James Brooke, guard for Georgia Tech football team, replied to the tributes to the southern aggregation which will play in the Pasadena Rose Bowl New Year's Day classic, and Coach Price and Assistant Coach Evans of the University of California responded for the western representatives.

Leslie B. Henry, president of the Tournament of Roses Association, told the fraternity men that Greek letter fraternities had played a great part in arousing college spirit which enabled institutions to turn out great football teams such as are seen in the Rose Bowl each year. He also declared the classic game enables fraternity men from various parts of the country who now live here to keep in closer touch with their alma maters.

Burr MacIntosh, motion-picture actor and lecturer, and feature vaudeville acts supplied entertainment. Shirley E. Meserve, president of the fraternal association, presided at the banquet. Other officers of the organization are Halcott B. Thomas, first vice-president; Dr. Wallace M. Cunningham, second vice-president; LeRoy W. Brooks, secretary, and Edward M. Loftus, treasurer.

Temper Tides Laid to Advent of New Moon

A new moon always had a bad effect upon Mrs. Rosa Klug, according to testimony before Superior Judge Hanby in the divorce contest between her and her husband, William Klug, a missionary.

At the time of the new moon Mrs. Klug was especially violent toward him, Klug testified. He asserted that she would throw hot water and pans at him and scream at the top of her voice. He said he was compelled to lock her in the "ice room" of their home.

A witness for the wife, who said he frequently saw her, testified he had never heard her scream. The wife asserts that the tranquillity of the home was upset by Klug's attentions to their housekeeper, Mrs. Olive Robinson.

RANCHER FIGHTS CITY ON FRUIT TREE RUIN

A hearing is going on before Superior Judge Bush on the lawsuit brought by Charles Osborne against the City of Los Angeles, wherein the plaintiff is asking $40,000 damages for the asserted loss of fruit trees on his ranch caused by flood water. According to Osborne, the city built a dike at Riverside Drive and Tujunga avenue as part of a drainage system in the area. Three years ago a heavy flood came and the plaintiff contends that because of the dike water overflowed his ranch.

The powers that rule over motion pictures in Hollywood intervened yesterday and as a result the scheduled wedding of Jason Robards and Miss Agnes Lynch was postponed until January 6, next. Robards and his bride-to-be fixed Sunday for the wedding, so that work will not again interrupt their plans.

It is announced the ceremony will be performed at the Little Church of the Flowers, and will be a quiet affair. The only witnesses will be Mrs. T. L. Lynch and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Nye, the latter a sister of the bride-elect. They plan a motor trip through the Southland for a honeymoon.

DESERT GLORY FOR HOWARD

Bier of Naturalist Will be Decorated With Flowers He Loved at Rites Today

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. today in the chapel of Cunningham & O'Connor for Osora W. Howard, who died Thanksgiving night near Corinto, Nicaragua, and whose body arrived home Wednesday. In accordance with his wish interment will be beside the grave of his mother in Calvary Cemetery. His residence was 719 Alpine Drive, Beverly Hills.

His passing occurred in the course of a pleasure cruise that had been expected to prove beneficial to his health. With Mr. Howard, A. E. Colburn and J. A. Coxe as the guests of Willets J. Hole on the latter's private yacht, Samona, the party sailed October 20, last, for the Galapagos Islands to study the bird, fish, plant and animal life and collect specimens. On the return voyage he was stricken and though rushed full speed to a hospital at Leon by Mr. Hole, soon expired.

TIRELESS WORKER

An indefatigable naturalist, especially in the field of ornithology, he had made extensive observations and discoveries during the few weeks available. On the southward trip he found time to write an article, "Cats vs. Birds," which he mailed to The Times from the South Seas just before his death and which wis published on the editorial page last Sunday. Locally some important bird finds are accredited to him, notably a distinct new grouse taken on Pine Mountain and recently named Howard's Grouse in his honor.

Mr. Howard was vice-president of the nursery concern of Howard & Smith and head of the landscaping department. As a landscape architect the highly developed grounds of many large estates in the most aristocratic residence districts throughout Southern California are monuments to his ability.

A devotee of the outdoor world he devoted his attention particularly to the weird cacti of the desert and was among the first to appreciate their charm and appropriateness for decorative cultivation. As a result he put in nearly all the large cactus gardens of the Southwest, from Montecito to Mexicali, taking huge specimens weighing tons and successfully transplanting them hundreds of miles from their original setting.

HONORS WON

His marked achievement in this direction was the creation of a California desert exhibit a year ago at the New York flower show of the Garden Club of America. With a carload of live material he arranged a scene so perfectly typical of desolate but alluring beauty spots that it attracted more attention than any other feature of the display.

Because of his fondness for the strange vegetation of the waste places his casket today will be blanketed with cacti and other strikingly odd plants from the wilds he roamed at every opportunity.

Mr. Howard was born at Twelfth and Main streets fifty-one years ago and was a son of the late Dr. Frederick P. Howard, Los Angeles pioneer and distinguished physician. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Harriet Howard, and four brothers and four sisters, Fred H., Edward A., Paul J., Arthur P. and Miss Pauline Howard, Mrs. G. E. Van Barneveld, Mrs. Charles Jones of Montalvo and Mrs. Charles Keane of Sacramento. All are now here except Miss Howard, who is in Italy.

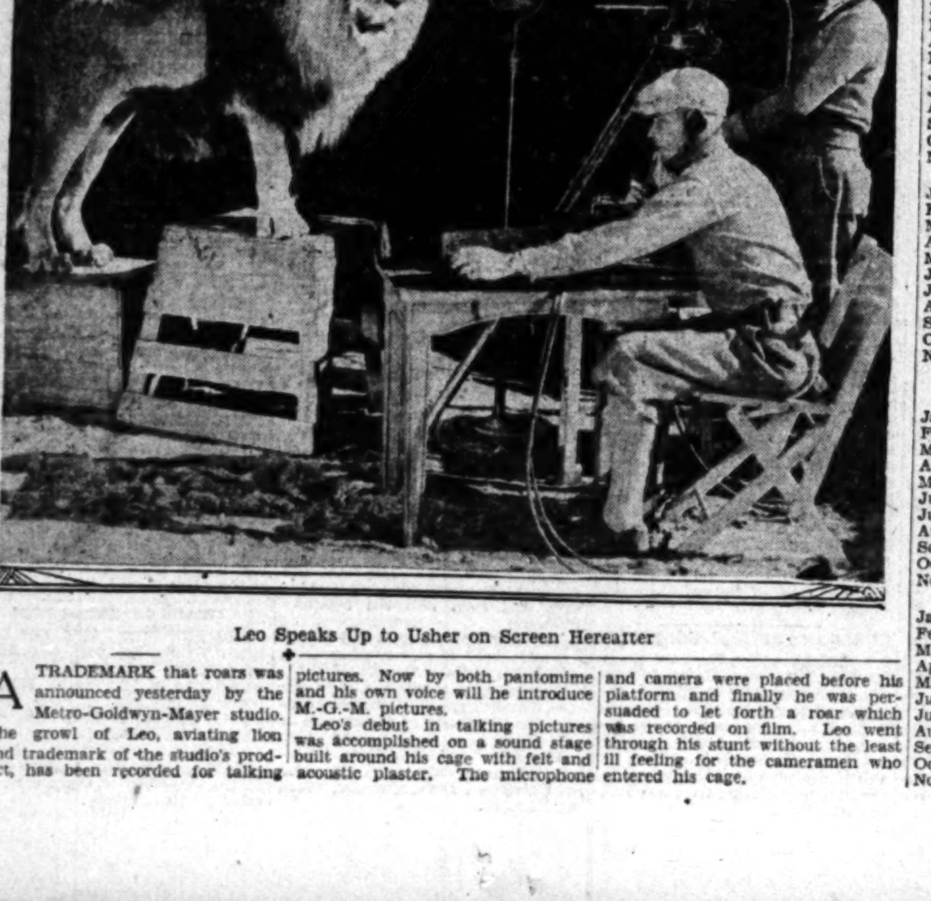
Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Records Growl for "Talkies"



Leo Speaks Up to Usher on Screen Hereafter

A TRADEMARK that roars was announced yesterday by the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio. The growl of Leo, aviating lion and trademark of the studio's product, has been recorded for talking pictures. Now by both pantomime and his own voice will he introduce M.-G.-M. pictures.

Leo's debut in talking pictures was accomplished on a sound stage built around his cage with felt and acoustic plaster. The microphone and camera were placed before his platform and finally he was persuaded to let forth a roar which was recorded on film. Leo went through his stunt without the least ill feeling for the cameramen who entered his cage.

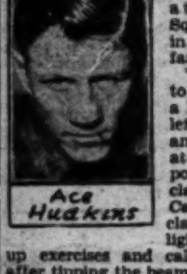
Nebraska Wildcat and Belgian Champ Tangle in Gotham Ring

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Ace Hudkins, "the Nebraska Wildcat," and Rene Devos, "the little fox" of Belgium, wound up training for tomorrow's middleweight fray at Madison Square Garden in characteristic fashion today.



Ace Hudkins

The Fox took to the road for a long lope that left him pink and perspiring at exactly 160 pounds, the class limit. The Cat whetted his claws with a few light limbering-up exercises and called if a day after tipping the beam at 154.

Meanwhile the vicinity of the Garden and other haunts of the fight fan buzzed with excitement at the prospect of a battle to tickle the fancy of many a man who likes a free-swinging fracas with the whacking and the jolting laid on thick. Devos appeared to be a slight favorite because of his canny ring judgment and boxing ability as well as his weight advantage of about six pounds.

PANTHERS TAKE TWO WORKOUTS

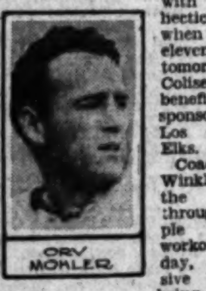
Fort Worth Gridders Given Hard Scrimmage

Texas Team Uses Brilliant Passing Attack

Local Eleven May be Given Shock Tomorrow

BY BOB RAY

The more we see of those Fort Worth athletes in action the more we think that they'll provide the Southern California prep all-stars with quite a hectic afternoon when the two elevens clash tomorrow at the Coliseum in the benefit game sponsored by the Los Angeles Elks.



ORV MOHLER

Coach Ben Winkleman sent the Panthers through a couple of hard workouts yesterday, an intensive scrimmage being on the program in the morning practice. After the scrimmage "Admiral" Hap O'Connor took the visiting Texans down to the harbor for a lunch on the U.S.S. California, but Winkleman hustled them back to the Coliseum at 3 o'clock for another workout.

The Panthers looked better than ever in that morning scrimmage and the way they were tossing passes around was a sight for sore eyes. There were long passes, short passes, double passes and triple passes and then a lot of them wound up with rugby passes. It was enough to make you dizzy watching them, let alone trying to stop them. Coach Winkleman is going to have the Panthers "shoot the works" Saturday and if they get hot it's going to be an exciting afternoon.

TEXAS GUARD MISSING

All of the Texas players apparently are in fine shape, except Ireland, a regular guard, who was confined to his room yesterday. However, Coaches Winkleman and Meyers say that Ireland will be ready to start Saturday.

Coaches Vic Kelley and George Hobbs sent the Southern California preps through their regular workout yesterday at Loyola Field, but they are not as confident of victory now, since everybody has been touting up the Texans so highly. Kelley has two complete teams ready to send into the game, one of which is composed practically of the same men who won a City League championship for Hollywood High last year. The other all-star eleven will have sensational Orv Mohler, Jimmy Young, All-City Poly back; Sherry, who comes from Manual, and Red Lowe, Hollywood fullback, in its backfield. Also included in this line-up will be Strutzel, All-City end; Madariaga, All-City tackle; Graham, All-Coast League tackle, and Hedgecock, All-Bay League center.

One thing against the local eleven's hopes is that most of them are new to Kelley's system, which is none other than most of Pop Warner's stuff and

COACHES SET FOR CONFAB

Little Likelihood That Mentors Will Recommend Rule Changes in Annual Meeting

BY HORACE C. RENEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 27. (AP)—Coaches here for the annual meeting of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the National Association of Football Coaches today forecast plenty of discussion on possible changes in gridiron rules but few were ready to indorse any revisions.

While the coaches do not meet until Saturday, there were three rules especially that came in for comment, with the possibility that changes may be recommended to the football rules committee. One of these would make a fumbled ball "dead" at the point of recovery; another would provide for the ball to be placed in play at the start of the third quarter at the point it rested when the half ended and the third would revise the ruling on the point after touchdown, some advocating its discontinuance.

AMOS ALONZO STAGG

Coach Alonzo Stagg of the University of Chicago, a member of the rules committee, was among the first to get in his comment on proposed changes.

"The fans seem to be satisfied with them now," was his terse comment.

The first session of the N.C.A.A. was held late today behind closed doors, when the executive committee awarded the sixth annual swimming championship tournament to Washington University, St. Louis, for March 29-30, and the national

Hollywooders Lose, 40-26, to Trojan Cagers

After allowing the Circle-H players to at one time in the second half come within three points of them, Coach Leo Calland's U.S.C. cagers came out of their lethargy with a bang to hang up a 40-to-26 victory over the Hollywood A. C. five last night at the Trojan pavilion.

Calland used three complete teams during the melee and the Trojans played without the services of their star center, Jess Mortensen, who remained over in Arizona to spend the holidays with his folks. Frank Smith, however, performed creditably in Mortensen's place, accounting for 10 digits to tie with Schneider and Kearney of the H.A.C. for high-point honors. Johnny Lehhers and Capt. Lloyd Thomas did fine work at guard for the Trojans, the former scoring 8 points.

The end of the half found the Trojans in front, 22 to 14, but the

PRICE SLACKENS PRACTICE FOR ROSE BOWL STRUGGLE

California Mentor Limits Work to One Period Daily as Players Reach Top Physical Form

BY BRAVEN DYER

Satisfied that the physical condition of his players is nearing the perfection he desires, Coach Nibs Price yesterday put his athletes through but one workout and from now on there will be only single daily drills for the Golden Bears.

When the California eleven arrived here a week ago today the men were rather fat and not a little shy on wind. But two workouts a day since that time have done wonders for the gridders and now Price wants to avoid the possibility of having a stale team on his hands when the boys go into action against Georgia Tech at the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

BILL ALEXANDER

California has been away from the pigskin considerably longer than the Tech athletes. The Bears wound up against Stanford on November 24 and didn't resume practice until a week ago. Tech, on the other hand, concluded its regular schedule on the 8th inst., missed but one week's practice and then went back to work. That was why Price ordered two practices a day on his arrival here.

Both teams used the Rose Bowl yesterday, California in the morning for two and one-half hours and Tech in the afternoon for a slightly less lengthy period.

TWO ABSENT

Coach Bill Alexander had to go through practice again minus the services of Raleigh Drennon, regular guard, and Jim Brooke, Drennon's first understudy. Both were on the field, but had orders not to remove their civilian clothes for grid uniforms. As a result Alexander was forced to work Keener at guard again. This chap is really a sub end, but with Brooke laid up, Alexander couldn't be too choosy about his replacements. Keener has played guard only once or twice this year.

It is expected that Brooke will be ready for work today, but Drennon will not be able to participate in any scrimmage prior to the game on Tuesday. He will probably enter the battle in a rather weakened condition.

Practically the entire practice

DEMPSEY OFF FOR SOUTH

Former Heavyweight Champion Heads for Florida for Conference With Rickard

Jack Dempsey started yesterday on the trip that will let a waiting sports world know whether he will fight again.

The former heavyweight champion entrained shortly before noon for Miami, Fla., where he will confer with Tex Rickard shortly after the first of the year on the question of returning to the ring. His trip to the Florida city will be via Salt Lake City.

JACK DEMPSEY

Accompanied only by his trainer, Jerry Luvadis, Dempsey will stop over at Salt Lake City for two or three days to visit his mother. He will go from there to Chicago, thence to Miami. His wife, Estelle Taylor, remained in Hollywood, as she is appearing in a new picture.

Dempsey may fight again, and he may not. "It's all up to Tex," was the former champion's farewell shot as he hopped aboard the eastbound train. Although he disclosed none of his plans for the future, it was learned from authoritive sources that Dempsey, if he does fight again, will prepare for the bout in the hills near Ojai, Cal., where he got into condition for his battle with Jack Sharkey. Two or three months in that rugged mountain region will serve to harden him for his return to the ring after more than a year's absence.

Coincident with Dempsey's departure came an announcement from Charles Emanuel, father-manager of Armand X. Emanuel, San Francisco heavyweight, that the former champion will act as Emanuel's representative in the East. He will try to line up a bout for Emanuel against Tom Heeney of New Zealand, James J. Braddock of New Jersey or Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion.

BEARS AND TECH INVITED TO ATTEND COLISEUM TILT

The California and Georgia Tech grid varsities will be the guests of the Los Angeles Elks at tomorrow's intersectional high school game at the Coliseum if the respective coaches can get their practice sessions in during the morning. Invitation to attend the game was extended the two teams yesterday. This morning the Fort Worth team will be guests at the regular meeting of the Breakfast Club. Yesterday the athletes had luncheon on board the U.S.S. California at Los Angeles Harbor and also visited the U.S.S. West Virginia.

TROJANS WILL RECEIVE GRID CHAMPIONSHIP CUP

Emblematic of the national football championship of 1928, the Jack F. Rissman National Intercollegiate Football Trophy will be formally presented to the University of Southern California at a mammoth student assembly to be held next Friday morning, January 4, in Bovard Auditorium, according to an announcement yesterday by Gwynn Wilson, general manager of the Associated Students at Southern California.

Presentation of the trophy will be made by Prof. Frank G. Dickinson of the economics department of the University of Illinois, originator of the Dickinson football rating system under which the Trojans are rated national champs, who is now on his way to Los Angeles from Urbana to make the award. Prof. Dickinson is expected to arrive Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock over Southern Pacific.

HARD SCHEDULE

The Dickinson football rating system is based upon the idea of awarding points according to the strength of opponents, and the Trojans' remarkable performance of going through an undefeated season in the face of some of the stiffest football competition any team ever had brought them the honor of being called national champions. Victories over such teams of recognized unusual strength as Stanford, Oregon State Washington State, St. Mary's and Notre Dame insured a national as well as a Pacific Coast Conference title for Southern California.

The Trojans are the fifth of a select line of national champs chosen according to the Dickinson system. In 1924 Notre Dame, famous that year for its 'Four Horsemen," was awarded the title. In 1925 Dartmouth, noted for Oberlander's long, accurate passes, won the honor, being followed in 1926 by Stanford. Illinois, called a "great squad of average men," won the championship under the Dickinson system in 1927, and this year, Southern California, one of the country's few undefeated teams and a squad that met powerful competition in practically every game, was awarded the title.

Approval of the Dickinson system has been voiced by such football celebrities as Coaches Rockne, Zuppke, Warner, Yost and Wilce, which comes very close to establish-

Jackie Fields Makes Last Appearance of Year Tonight in Clash With Tommy El

WELTERS MEET AT HOLLYWOOD

Local Fighter is Leading Contender for Crown

Knockout Expected in Main Event at Stadium

Arizona Boy Made Real Hit in Last Start Here

BY KAY OWE

The leading contender for the world's welterweight championship goes to the post tonight at the Hollywood American Legion Stadium. Jackie Fields will meet Tommy Elks of Arizona and while there isn't a fight fan in all Los Angeles who believes Elks can win there are hundreds who are satisfied that the Arizona Mexican will make a much better showing than Sergt. Sammy Baker did when he met Fields at Wrigley Field.

JACKIE FIELDS.

There won't be many occasions for Los Angeles fight fans to have the opportunity to see Fields in action again for some time. If Ace Hudkins, Jimmy McLarnin, Ray Miller and a few more boys who were main eventers here are cleaning up financially in the East then there is plenty of dough in sight for Jackie Fields, who outclasses every fighter who ever left here outside of Jack Dempsey.

Jackie Fields is California's greatest offering to the fight game since Jack Kearns piloted Dempsey into a world's title. He is the best all-around fighter California has developed in twenty years. He boxes better than Dempsey ever did and he is faster than any fighter in the racket around here.

Just two weeks ago Tommy Elks took a fight with Young Sam Langford as a substitute and he made such a good fight and showed the aggressiveness and gameness that it takes to make a fight with Fields that Tom Gallery matched him with the incomparable Fields. The Mexican may get a shellacking and he may be kayoed but he is going to enter the ring with plenty of courage and determination.

The card has been carefully arranged from the curtain raiser to the top spot. Johnny Torres should take the decision from Jimmy Piela in the semi-wind-up but the fight figures to be fast. Both boys are good punchers but Torres is the better boxer. Carmen Tuzzalino was good enough to be a member of the American Olympic boxing team. He fights Sammy Aguirre in the special. Chet Gleeson meets Jimmy Baird in one of the four-round bouts and Avcadio Neibres will fight the curtain raiser with Joe Goeders.

TROJANS WILL RECEIVE CUP

ing a Dickinson award as a real official national championship. More than forty high school conferences widely distributed throughout the United States now use this rating system to select their official champions and the method is gaining popularity in all parts of the country as the one accurate way of naming a champion.

PLAN PROGRAM

The program for the presentation of the Rissman national championship trophy, which goes yearly to the title-holder under the Dickinson system, is now being drawn up by Bob Behlow, president of the student body at the University of Southern California. The occasion will doubtless include a short talk by Coach Jones and the appearance of the Trojan grid heroes upon the platform of Bovard Auditorium. President R. B. Von KleinSmid of the Trojan institution will probably receive the trophy from Prof. Dickinson, presenting it in turn to Behlow, who will receive it on behalf of the Associated Students.

GIVE 'EM THE AX

ALONZO A. STAGG hit the nail on the head.

The veteran Chicago coach says the yearly all-American is an absurdity.

"There is no measuring rod for an all-American eleven," he asserts.

There might have been in the days when the East—the cradle of the game—had the only coaches worthy the name and Harvard, Yale and Princeton were the "Big Three" in reality rather than in song.

But those days have gone forever. They were memories only when the late Walter Camp, the father of American football, passed on.

And for some years his all-Americans had been accepted as the last word merely because of the wonderful prestige that surrounded his selections since he inaugurated the system over forty years ago.

But the all-American eleven of the man who took his place is not accepted as the representative one. Nor is that of any other critic or band of critics in the country.

No one human—nor any group of humans for that matter—is capable of selecting an all-American in this day and age of advanced football and high-class coaching in all sections of the country that stands out head and shoulders above any one of dozens of other all-American elevens that you or I might pick.

Outstanding sports writers of the country this year made monkeys of themselves with their all-Americans because it was impossible for them to see every outstanding football team in action.

Some selected players had about as much right to all-American nomination as Beans Reardon, the baseball umpire, who is bringing up his young son to be an all-American baseball star because he says the football players get paid off only in cheers.

A BEAR COMEDIAN

NOT all the comedians of the New Year's Day football game are playing on the Georgia Tech team.

California has a big tackle named Steve Bancroft, who is in a class all by himself.

He had himself appointed a special guard at the Hickman hanging, and then came back to the Bears' training quarters the night before the game with the University of Southern California to regale his mates with the story of the stringing.

"Aw, the hanging was all right," Steve is quoted as saying, "but that guy Hickman quit at the finish. He didn't have any guts."

Whereupon Steve proceeded to swing into an extended narrative of the grewsome details of the affair—so grewsome that the telling sent Coach Nibs Price out of the room.

Then there is the story of the time Steve and Beckett, one of the guards, went duck hunting.

They were kneeling in a blind—these 200-pound linesmen—waiting passage of the feathered prey. Their guns were in position for a volley.

Suddenly a big band of ducks appeared. They flew close overhead, swinging lazily by.

Lost in rapture Bancroft pointed a finger aloft.

"Say, Beckett, ain't that a swell sight?"

Beckett nodded assent, and the hunters watched the birds vanish in the distance.

A "MONEY BOUT"

NOTHING may come of the proposed Bert Colima-Jackie Fields match, but it is what the boys call a good "money bout." For that reason alone it is likely to receive favorable attention by all interested parties—principals, matchmaker, et al.

And it would be a good scrap for the cash customers. Both boys are local favorites, both are classy boxers, and to his score Fields added that recent knockout touch over Sammy Baker.

Off-hand, the match sounds like a scrap between a welterweight and a middleweight. Fields is a bonafide welter, all right, but Colima has always been a light middleweight except when he let himself get hog fat.

The boys are saying that Colima might be weakened by making 153 pounds for the match, which would see Fields at around the 147 mark—the regular welterweight limit.

But would he?

Remember the night Colima fought Ace Hudkins at Wrigley Field nearly two years ago? Colima came in at 150¼ pounds to Hudkins's 147¼ pounds and nobody noticed any weakness in the Mexican's offense or defense. He lasted the entire ten rounds in a slashing fight which was won by Hudkins.

PACIFIC COAST CLUB BEATS SARATOGA FIVE

LONG BEACH, Dec. 27.—Pacific Coast Club's powerful casaba five, Southern California A.A.U. champions, continued their unbroken stride to score a 52-30 victory over the U.S.S. Saratoga quintet here last night for its fourteenth successive win of the season. The complete crew of reserves was employed in the first half to allow the middies to hold the shields to a meager 15-12 margin at half-time. Gerald Pennsinger led the regulars to a club victory in the last half by cutting the ribbons for six fielders. Capt. Heckert and McGinnis also looked good on the attack. Wholly on the work of Bartlett and Russett the sailors went into a 20-19 lead early in the last half, but were snowed under by an avalanche of field goals thereafter.

Millionaires Down Oakland in Puck Duel

The Hollywood Millionaires got back into winning form at the Winter Garden last night, and registered their eighth league victory, defeating Oakland, 3-0. Peltier, Wells and Ward tallied for the victors.

After a scoreless first period, Peltier took a pass from Ward to open the scoring. The Oaks got rough, and with two men in the penalty box, were unable to halt the Millionaires, and Wells sank the puck. Ward took a pass from Smith for the final tally in the third period.

Bill Phipps, Oakland defense player, got a lot of jeers when he was put off the ice in the second period. He slammed his stick down, and it bounced into a box, striking a woman, who promptly threw it back at him. The fans cheered, and Phipps apologized.

Nusakan Takes Border Event

Cochran, New York millionaire sportsman, scored his first victory in the West. Jockey Willie Kelsay rode Nusakan and the time was 1m. 11 4-5s. Social Mug and Witchmount were second and third, respectively. Social Mug beat Witchmount in the last stride. Results:

Former Trojan Backfield Star to Take Marcus's Place in East-West Game at Bay City

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—With heavy scrimmage over, coaches of the all-star teams which will meet here Saturday in the East-West charity football game, turned up their starting elevens today.

A week's practice has claimed several victims for the injured list with the West the greater loser. When Coach Orin E. Hollingbery lined up the westerners today, two aces occupied nonplaying roles. Brick Marcus, California halfback, smashed his left shoulder in scrimmage, while Granucci, Santa Clara center, was hurt in an automobile accident.

MORTON KAER

Morton Kaer, former University of Southern California all-American quarterback, was recruited to take Marcus's place. He will have but one day of practice, but knowing the West's style of play is expected to fill in satisfactorily.

The East numbered a casualty in Mitchell, Bucknell, center, who injured an ankle during scrimmage. It was not serious, however, and Coach Andy Kerr expects to have him ready for play by Saturday.

Official starting line-ups have not been announced, but close observation indicates the opening kickoff will find the men posted as follows:

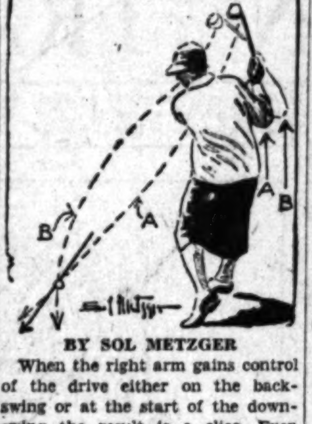
Right Elbow Troublesome for Golfers



BY SOL METZGER

When the right arm gains control of the drive either on the backswing or at the start of the downswing the result is a slice. Even Glenna Collett finds this so after a lay off from golf. Then her swing is not compact and she has to go back to first principles to locate the cause. It is a straying right elbow, an elbow that turns out at the top of her swing that causes her this trouble.

When the right elbow does that, when it fails to fit in snugly at the side, the clubhead is forced out from the body on the downswing along arc B in the sketch. To make contact the face is pulled in across the ball and a slice imparted.

But when this elbow is kept in to the side during the swing and the left arm made to control the downswing it will pull the head of your club down and inside the line of flight on the arc A in the sketch. The ball will then be hit from inside the line, the way a golf ball should be stroked. The one thing to remember here is not to stiffen the forearms. That will cause you to hook. Keep relaxed in driving, keep the right elbow tucked in at the side and let the left arm control the downswing's start and you'll get a much straighter ball then usual. Tomorrow—where to play the ball from.

Inability to make approach shots hold the green adds several strokes to one's score. Sol Metzger's leaflet, "The Art of Pitching," will enable you to cut down your score. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of this paper, and secure a copy.

Pasadena and Hawaiians in Last Workout

Pasadena Junior College and the Kamehameha prep school of Hawaii football teams are ready for their clash in the Rose Bowl tomorrow. Both elevens took their final workouts yesterday and are slated to take things easy today.

As the Crown City team is the California Junior College pigskin champion, and the Kahehameha eleven is also undefeated the winner of tomorrow's tilt could well be called the "Pacific jaysee football champ."

The Hawaiian offense is centered around Capt. Johnny Wise, triple-threat star, who has been placed by island experts on the mythical all-Hawaii eleven for the last three years. All the islanders are in great shape and figure on trimming their hosts handily.

On the other hand, the Pasadena team has had plenty of time to recuperate from their hard season. All their injured, with but one exception, are ready to start tomorrow. The only regular not expected to be in the starting line-up is Capt. Frank Beyea, star tackle. His place will in all probability be filled by Stan Novak.

MERCURY CAGERS TAKE O OXY FIVE TOMORROW NI

Coach Stan Josephs of the Los Angeles Athletic Club has been working hard on his Mercury cagers all week in preparation for their game with the Occidental five on the Tigers' court tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

COACH KIENHOLZ

Last Saturday the Mercuries, in their first game of the season, lost to the strong Bruin quintet, 43-25. The club team showed plenty of potential strength, but lacked the smooth co-ordination that comes with weeks of practice as the Bruins have had.

VANCE AND BENTON LEADING HURLERS OF NATIONAL L

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn's speedball king, and Larry Benton of the New York Giants, were the pace setters among the National League pitchers for the 1928 season. Vance led in holding down the score, allowing an average of only 2.09 earned runs for each nine-inning game, while Benton tops the won-and-lost column with twenty-five victories and nine defeats.

The Dazzler took part in thirty-eight games and played through twenty-four of them. Pitching 280 innings, equivalent to thirty-one games, Vance allowed only sixty-five earned runs. He also placed fourth in the won-and-lost standing with twenty-two victories and ten losses.

Second in effectiveness was Sheriff Blake of Chicago with an earned-run average of 2.46 per game. Art Nehf, another Cub, was third, with 2.64 and Watson Clark, a second Robin, fourth with 2.62.

Among the hurlers who did not pitch ten complete games, grouped separately from the ones who bore the main burden, Harold Haid of St. Louis and Louis Koupal of Brooklyn broke in ahead of Blake, but Haid did not complete a game and Koupal pitched only one nine-inning contest.

Second to Benton in the won-and-lost standing was Jess Haines of the Cardinals, who had twenty wins and eight losses, for an average of .714. Fred Fitzsimmons of the Giants, with twenty and nine, took third in this ranking.

Burleigh Grimes of Pittsburgh was the iron man of the league, pitching in forty-eight games and 331 innings and facing 1377 batsmen to lead in all three respects.

For the seventh successive year Vance led in strikeouts, with 200 whiffs to his credit. Pat Malone of the Cubs came in a bad second with 155 and Charlie Root of Chicago was third with 122.

LA NATIVIDAD ICE SQUAD TAKES LEAD

Defeating the Union Oil squad 5 to 1, the La Natividad puck team took the lead in the South-California Ice Hockey League at the Palais de Glace last night. Ed Chappell scored twice for the winners, Miles, Coleman and Marion sinking the others. Coleman's shot was a sensation, coming just 15 seconds after Miles had taken a pass from Gilchrist. "Wasp" Simington scored the lone Union Oil goal.

FISHERMEN, HUNTERS MUST GET LICENSES

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27. (AP)—Headquarters of the State Division of Fish and Game here announced today that all hunters and fishermen must have new licenses after the 31st inst. Following the passage of the new License Act at the 1927 session of the State Legislature, licenses all expire on the 31st inst. This is a change from the old law, which made hunting licenses run from July 1 to June 30.

BLACKHAWKS WIN

NEW YORK, Dec. 27. (AP)—The Chicago Blackhawks, tail-enders in the National Hockey League, won their second successive game and their fourth of the season here tonight, handing the league-leading New York Americans a 2-to-0 setback. Vic Ripley, speedy center of the Hawks, tallied both the goals for his team, scoring early in the opening period and again at the start of the third, both on unaided dashes.

BEARS SLACKEN GRID WORKOUTS

Price Reduces Practice to One Period Daily

California Squad Eases Off for Big Struggle

Two Tech Linesmen Remain on Ailing List

period was given over to intensive scrimmage work and the boys left the field wearied by their exertions. Frank Speer, the 200-pound tackle who won't be able to play against the Bears, got into action on the scrubs and ruined a lot of varsity plays. Coach "Alec" made Speer mad and he did a lot of damage.

On the whole, however, the varsity showed more polish, both offensively and defensively, than at any time since arriving here. The plays were clicking better than at Occidental on Wednesday.

TRY PASSES

After the scrimmage session Alexander gave Bob Durant, quarterback, orders to cut loose with some of Tech's pet pass plays, and for twenty minutes the ball sailed up and down the field in a flock of mystifying formations that are likely to annoy the Bears considerably. It was the first time Tech has really cut loose on western soil.

Price stressed offensive work during the California workout in the morning. In fact, after the practice Nibs declared that his team has done no defensive drilling against Tech plays as yet. He said California might get around to that this afternoon.

Capt. Irvine Phillips is nursing an injured leg as a result o' the strenuous scrimmage sessions, but will be O. K. for the game. One or two other fellows are nursing bumps and bruises for Price has been giving it to the boys hot and heavy.

Nibs indicated last night that he may start Harold Breakenridge at quarterback in place of Lee Eisan. The Bear coach has been using the former and Fred Schlichting in the backfield regularly all week, keeping Eisan and Stanley Barr on the second string. The last two have been regulars all season, but indications are that Price plans to use the two others quite a bit during the game.

decidedly complicated. Teams who use Warner's system generally need quite a bit of practice to get the proper timing of the plays and the local players, except those from Hollywood, find the layout all new to them.

However, Kelley has worked up his attack to get Mohler out into the open as much as possible and if Orv gets in the clear it's just about a touchdown. Jimmy Young will get a chance to do a lot of his bullet-passing, while Laurie Vejar, Hollywood's sensational open-field runner, is going to be featured in a lot of plays.

On both of his teams Kelley has placed Hollywood fullbacks who are used to the Warner style of play, and the fullback is the main cog in Warner system backfields. Merrill Brown, who was All-City fullback on Hollywood's championship team last year, will work with Vejar. Brownie is also considerable of a line-plunger. Brown has not graduated yet but he was ineligible for Hollywood's team last fall.

At any rate, Saturday's game looks as though it will provide plenty of excitement for the cash customers, for both Kelley and Winkleman are believers in the open style of football that makes for thrills.

Both teams will wind up their training with light practice drills at the Coliseum today. The Texans will take their workout in the morning while Kelley's athletes will practice at the bowl in the afternoon.

TROJAN CAGERS TRIUMPH, 40-26

Circle-H cagemen opened the second period with a rush and soon were trailing by but three points, 21-24. It was at this point that the Trojans put on their spurt to quickly cinch the issue.

The victory was the Trojans' sixth straight and on Saturday they face Fresno State in the U.S.C. pavilion. For your information, Hollywood A. C. previously lost to U.C.L.A., 40 to 23.

In the preliminary game Jack Bruner's U.S.C. frosh got revenge on Long Beach Junior College with a 27-21 win. The Jaysees had previously upset the peagreeners.

Line-ups: U.S.C.—Cano (5,) Bowlter (7,) Nibley (6,) Hirdlar, Schultz, Capp, forwards; Smith (10,) Ferguson, Hill, centers; Thomas, Lehners (8,) Harris (2,) Truher, Apsit, Denny (2,) Walbot, guards.

H.A.C.—Schneider (10,) Sultenfuss, Potter, Hatter (1,) forwards; Kearney (10,) center; Dorsey (5,) McAllister, Maynard, guards.

Officials — Dempsey, referee; Burke, umpire.

LOS ANGELES TIMES ANNUAL MIDWINTER NUMBER

Out January 2

POULTRY SHOW'S PLAN COMPLETE

Opens in Exposition Armory Next Thursday

Exhibits Will Surpass All Previous Events

Long List of Trophies Going to Winners

With its program completed, the annual Los Angeles poultry show in the Armory Building in Exposition Park, January 3 to 6, inclusive, is expected to outrank all former events of like character in the city. It is sponsored by the Greater Southern California Poultry Association, which also was responsible for the two last major Los Angeles shows.

The Armory Building is well adapted for the holding of such a show because of its location, surroundings, parking space for automobiles and interior arrangement and lighting facilities. More than 41,000 square feet of floor space will be devoted to the various poultry exhibits.

ENTRIES CLOSED

Entries for the classic closed Wednesday. E. I. Hammond will superintend the array of stock coming from all parts of the United States.

W. Vaughn Scott, president of the poultry association, said yesterday that never has more interest been evinced by lovers of fine poultry than is now being displayed for the forthcoming show. It is Mr. Scott's belief that the Armory poultry show will go down in history as one of the finest ever staged in the West, both as to quality and in point of numbers.

A long list of trophies and special prizes in addition to approximately $1500 in cash prizes will be awarded the winners. Among the outstanding awards will be breed and clubs specials as added features to attract exhibitors of standard poultry, pigeons, bantams, turkeys and water fowl.

Representatives of several of the important breeds and varieties of poultry and bantams will conduct their annual State meets in connection with the show, while the pigeon breeders are planning to make their department a feature of the show.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT

Another feature will be the junior department, in which members of high and junior high schools of the Southland will participate.

Judges of national reputation will place the awards. F. C. Branch, Lee's Summit, Mo.; O. L. McCord, Peoria, Ill., and Eric Smiley, Seward, Neb., have been chosen to officiate in this capacity.

The show is receiving the support of the Board of Supervisors, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, members of the Board of Education and many other city, county and State organizations.

Officers of the Greater Southern California Poultry Association are: W. Vaughn Scott, Los Angeles, president; J. Will Blackman, Los Angeles, and George C. England, Inglewood, vice-presidents; Albert George Sly, Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer, while the other members of the board of directors are W. B. Merwin, Pasadena; H. Walthew, Los Angeles, and Henry H. Mumford, La Canada, E. I. Hammond, show superintendent; Robert T. Lyans, publicity manager.

KEEPS MEMORY OF SHAKESPEARE GREEN

Archibald D. Flower

RECEPTION GIVEN FOR NOTABLES

English Speaking Union Host to Archibald Flower of Shakespeare Players

The English-Speaking Union entertained for some distinguished English guests yesterday at the Woman's Athletic Club, when Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Flower, their daughter Evadne and their nephew, the Hon. Alistair Erskine, were guests of honor.

Mr. Flower, who has been honorary mayor of Stratford on Avon, Shakespeare's village, for five terms, and whose forbears for generations have been identified with the godfathering of Shakespeare's memory, is here with the Shakespeare Memorial Theater Players. Bernard Shaw said, "Archie Flower has adopted a very expensive orphan," when Mr. Flower undertook to promote the Memorial Theater.

The Memorial Theater materialized, however, and its company now is touring the United States. It was upon this subject that Mr. Flower addressed the English-Speaking Union yesterday, talking in an easy humorous conversational vein, and assuring his hearers that Shakespeare was a hard-worker, who improved himself, whose works were full of "errors" that never could have been there if Bacon had written Shakespeare, and who had a box-office eye for the popular appeal. He is proud of the success of the tour venture, which is proving that Shakespeare's popularity is being enthusiastically revived.

A large gathering attended the reception, which was aranged by Mrs. F. Bersett, secretary of the Union, and Mrs. John Macfarland.

Cops Wait for Something to Happen---It Did

It was quiet last night at the Hollywood Police Station. The call cars were all in and the officers sat back—waiting for something to happen. It did.

The front door of the station swung open and in rushed a beautiful 19-year-old girl. That was nothing to become alarmed at in police circles, but this girl strode up to the desk sargeant garbed only in a nightdress, which flapped around her ankles.

"Bring out the flying squadron," she ordered. Officers scraped the floors as they recovered from the dramatic entrance.

"I'm chief here and we have to make a hurry-up call."

She did, for the officers learned from a young man motorist, who dashed in after the girl and said that she had stopped him on Santa Monica Boulevard and ordered him to drive to the police station.

The hurry-up call was made by the girl and the police to the spot where she had been picked up and a group of excited nurses from a private sanitarium took the would-be police woman back to her room.

FATHER'S STORY WINS CUSTODY OF CHILDREN

Asserting that his common-law wife, Mrs. Violet Justice, had been guilty of indiscretions with other men, Oscar Bauer appeared before Superior Judge Price yesterday seeking the custody of their two children, Bertha, 5 years of age, and Olga, 4. The children were given to their father. Bauer asserted in his answer to Mrs. Justice's action to obtain the custody of the children that she is unfit to have them. He also contended she deserted him and the children, went to San Diego and married Harry Justice, 18 years of age.

MISSING SHOPPER RETURNS TO HOME

Anxiety of relatives and friends for Mrs. Della Drake, 60 years of age, who failed to return to her home at 1630 West Thirty-eighth Place following a Christmas Eve shopping trip, ended yesterday when she returned after spending a few days with friends in the country. Mrs. Drake told her daughter that she became confused in the Christmas crowds and, meeting some friends, decided to visit with them over Christmas, not thinking that her disappearance would be reported to the police and a search started.

MIDWINTER IN RADIO THEME

Special Program to Be Given Over KHJ Transmitter

Don Lee Broadcast in Honor of "Times" Annual

All of Studio Staff Artists Will Participate

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

California's romantic history—past, present and future—will be presented in tabloid radio form tonight over KHJ, the Don Lee station, in the form of a broadcast pageant honoring the Midwinter Number of the Los Angeles Times, which will be ready for distribution next Wednesday, January 2.

Van C. Newkirk of the KHJ staff has assembled the continuity hour, which will use practically all of the Don Lee radio talent. There will be the studio dance and concert orchestras, the singing ensemble and more than a dozen instrumental and vocal soloists.

With a blare of trumpet calls at 8 o'clock the theme hour will begin to take form.

CONTINUITY PROGRAM

The opening number will be a musical selection depicting industrial and commercial activity and will call attention to the metropolitan section of the Midwinter Number.

The entire program will be built up along this theme. For instance, the drama section will be fittingly portrayed in the broadcast hour; filmland will draw the radio spotlight with a movie song; schools will be given a boost in a collegiate selection, and Spanish numbers will be the motif for the historical part.

SCENERY SET TO MUSIC

Southern California gardens, Easter sunrise services, the never-fading glory of desert lands, the colorful history of the missions, aviation, the snow-capped mountain peaks, the perfume of citrus groves—everything depicting California life will be colorfully and interestingly portrayed through the medium of radio on the program.

Charlie Wellman, Elvia Allman, Don and Mart, Rene Hemery and other KHJ staff artists will all appear on the pageant program which, in the brief time of an hour, will sketch the beauty and romance of California.

HORNS LOCKED IN PLANT FIGHT

Wednesday. At a meeting yesterday the Council decided to give the public a chance to air all the charges and counter-charges concerning the project.

A special invitation to civic bodies, committees, ministers, officials and publications which have taken decided views on the matter has been issued by the minute clerk of the Council. According to Councilman Randall, who introduced the resolution, it will be a showdown of the motives actuating the different attitudes taken on the enterprise.

The resolution also contained a proposal which if adopted may place another obstacle in the way of the Mountain Park Company in its proposal to establish a rock crushing plant in the district. The City Attorney was requested by the resolution to draw up an amendment requiring rock crushing plants and other industries to obtain permits when they contemplate rebuilding or enlarging their enterprises.

OPERATE SMALL PLANT

According to the present ordinance it is not necessary to obtain a permit to enlarge such plants to 50 per cent of their existing size. A ruling on this subject was made recently by City Attorney Stephens in the case of the Blue Diamond Rock Company which desired to enlarge its plant at Roscoe. The Randall resolution would circumvent the taking advantage of this ruling by the Mountain Park Company, which now has a small quarry in operation.

The present ordinance includes no restrictions on industries already in existence when the zoning laws were adopted. The amendment would tend to remedy this situation, it is asserted.

Another move expected to dampen the ardor of the backers of the proposed cement plant is a resolution introduced by Councilman Golden to remove the present restrictions on imported cement. If this resolution is adopted foreign cement will be permitted in public works and as imported cement can be obtained, it was asserted, at almost half the price of domestic cement the move instantly would remove prospective profits in the Santa Ynez enterprise.

VALUABLE DEPOSIT

The proposal would affect other cement projects also but it would tend to curb the activities of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company, it was stated. The Mountain Park Company backers say they have a deposit of limestone valued at $280,000,000. If foreign cement were admitted without the present restrictions it is said the profits in the Santa Ynez project would not be attractive enough for the company to proceed with the venture to pipe crushed limestone to barges in Santa Monica Bay.

Councilman Golden's resolution will be taken up at a hearing before the Public Works Committee Wednesday. In the meantime property owners of Santa Monica, Beverly Hills and Pacific Palisades continue to bombard the Federal, State, county and city governments with protests and petitions against the establishment of any part of a cement enterprise in the district.

Maj. C. P. Gross, resident United States Engineer, will forward several hundred petitions and affidavits to the War Department today protesting against a 1600-foot pipe line extension into Santa Monica Bay.

THIEF ROBS DOCTOR OF HIS NIGHTIE

City Health Man Likewise Loses $175 in Burglary; Other Thefts Reported

A window burglar early yesterday helped himself to a pair of Chinese silk pajamas belonging to Dr. G. S. Porter, assistant to Chief Parrish of the Health Department.

According to Dr. Porter, reporting the burglary to police, the intruder also took $175 in cash and jewelry from the physician's residence at 717 South Westlake avenue.

Burglars stole a case of genuine Kentucky whisky from a drug store belonging to A. J. Adamson, 2323 South Hoover street, it was reported. The thieves entered the store with a pass key.

Police last night arrested two youths, Theodore Rassler, 15 years of age, of 1461 West Twenty-third street, and Melvin Thomas, 18, of 1657 Cordova street, accused of having broken into an automobile accessory store owned by A. Greenfield, 1030 South Main street, by cutting a hole in the skylight and lowering themselves inside by means of a rope. At the homes of the accused youths police say they recovered $194 worth of accessories.

Three bandits last night held up R. M. Flanum, Western Union Telegraph operator, and escaped with $500.

According to Flanum, the robbers drew revolvers and commanded him to open a cash drawer while he was alone in the office. In his report to police he stated that two of the men probably were brothers. Leaving the office, they walked west down Wilshire Boulevard, Flanum stated.

Disabled Ships Towed Into Port

JUNEAU (Alaska) Dec. 27. (AP)—A brief radio message received by Customs Collector McBride said that the steamer Starr arrived today in Cordova in tow of the Coast Guard cutter Unalga. It added that the tug Roosevelt had been towed to Latouche by the fishing schooner Attu.

The Roosevelt and Starr were caught in a severe storm in the Gulf of Alaska, Monday and for a time both vessels were feared lost. The Roosevelt was towing the Starr to Seattle, the Starr having been disabled when she struck a reef recently. The Roosevelt was used by Commander Robert E. Peary when he discovered the North Pole.

BYSTANDER WOUNDED AS TWO DIE IN DUEL

CROSSETT (Ark.) Dec. 27. (AP)—Two men were slain and a bystander was wounded in a pistol duel last night, the result of a family quarrel. Frank Shipley, a cafe owner, and G. H. Vivian were wounded and died almost instantly. Will Hagen, shot in the neck, is expected to recover.

NOVARRO WILL SING IN OPERAS

To Create Vocal Roles in M.-G.-M. Sound Reproductions; William Powell is Given New Paramount Contract; Raymond Cannon Works on New Fox Story

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Much use in sound pictures is to be made of Ramon Novarro's beautiful singing voice, we learned yesterday at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, where just now, under direction of W. S. Van Dyke, he is working in "The Pagan." This is to have sound sequences, including native Tahitian songs and other music, and for it Novarro himself has written the theme song.

It is possible that Novarro may himself sing in the picture, but it is likely, according to good authority, that M.-G.-M. will reserve him for heavier musical productions to be made for the screen by the company.

These productions include grand operas, probably the first of which will be Verdi's "Rigoletto," in which Novarro wants very much to sing the role of the Duke, changing the characterization, however, from the traditional heavy interpretation to the fascinating and debonair Cellini type.

In the meantime, Novarro leaves for Europe in February, where he will study.

"I know I am supposed to sing while abroad in grand opera, but I do not think I shall do this. I want merely to study during my first vacation under my contract," he said yesterday. "I wish to feel that I am thoroughly prepared for operatic work before I go into it."

Which is very modest of this brilliant young man, who has studied music since he was a child. Once, it will be remembered, when he first came to Hollywood for pictures, when still a youngster, he earned his living teaching the piano and voice.

William Powell's New Contract

WILLIAM POWELL.

With a new contract in one hand and a schedule of several of the greatest roles ever given a character actor in the other, William Powell, Paramount player, is prepared to start the New Year brilliantly.

Powell, whose screen portrayals have covered every type of characterization, from villain to leading man, was yesterday presented with a long-term contract in the offices of Jesse L. Lasky. He will be with the organization for several years to come, and will be one of the company's featured men in its forthcoming dialogue motion pictures.

At present the actor is engaged in no less than two important roles in pictures under way. He is playing in "The Four Feathers" and "The Canary Murder Case." He recently won considerable praise as a result of his work in "Interference," another important full-dialogue production.

Cast for "Speakeasy"

LOLA LANE

When the play "Speakeasy" was produced at the Orange Grove last winter, you will remember that Henry Walthall had the big role on the stage. Now he is to have the same part in the picture which Fox is to produce as an all-talking picture. This announcement was made yesterday.

"Speakeasy" is the first all-talking Movietone feature to be made at the Fox Hills Studio. Work on it will commence today with Ben Stoloff directing. Paul Page and Lola Lane have the leading roles.

A very splendid supporting cast will appear in the picture, including Helen Ware, Warren Hymer, Sharon Lynn, Stuart Erwin and Erville Alderson.

Raymond Cannon's Second Fox

So very excellent has Raymond Cannon's first directorial effort for Fox turned out to be, that he has been given a contract. He is at work now on the story of his second production, aided by Maude Fulton. He has no title for his new picture.

Cannon, who has worked in every department of picture making with distinction, including acting and camera work, has evolved some remarkable camera work in his first picture, entitled "The Sun Dodgers," the most remarkable pictorial device being a twin dissolve.

It is likely that Lois Moran and Rex Bell will have the leading roles in his new picture.

Glenn Tryon Ill

Some scenes of "Broadway" are being made by Universal without the star, due to the illness of Glenn Tryon, who is the luminary in question. Tryon has been ill at home suffering from bronchitis during the past few days. He is reported as on the way to recovery, however, and it is expected will be able to return to work in a day or two.

Edmund Burns in It

EDMUND BURNS

Edmund Burns has been signed by First National Pictures for the important role of Jerry Wilder in "Children of the Ritz," now being produced under the direction of John Francis Dillon, with an all-star cast headed by Jack Mulhall and Dorothy Mackaill.

The actor recently completed his work in the Henry King production of Rupert Hughes, "She Goes to War," made by the Halperin Brothers for United Artists release.

Raoul Walsh Returns

Edmund Lowe

Raoul Walsh, Fox director, who was injured in an automobile accident when filming "In Old Arizona," and who has been recuperating in New York, has fully recovered, according to reports, and is returning to Hollywood today.

The director will start work on "The Cock-Eyed World," sequel to "What Price Glory," the middle of January. He will use almost the entire original cast, although of course, Dolores Del Rio will not be available. Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe will be the featured principals.

Barry Norton is again to be used, though, as he died in "What Price Glory," one wonders in what role he will appear. However, maybe he will play his own twin brother.

Burglar Trap's Setter Wounded

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27. (AP)—Louis Cellini, whose home has been receiving considerable attention from burglars of late, mounted a double-barreled shotgun over a picture frame, and attached a long cord from it to the door of his room.

If a burglar opened the door he would be the target for both barrels. Cellini forgot the trap today when he opened the door. He was taken to a hospital in a critical condition.

RITES OF TEMPLE FOR MRS. FISCHER

Funeral services for Mrs. Katie Fischer, worker at Angelus Temple, will be read by Brother A. Arthur of that church today at 10 a.m. at the W. A. Brown Funeral Home. She will be buried in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mrs. Fischer leaves three sons, William, Adam and Harry Fischer, and a daughter, Mrs. Kate Forrester.

FREE LECTURE ANNOUNCED

Six free lectures on personality, improvement of eyesight without glasses and on correct dieting are scheduled on the Los Angeles program of Dr. R. A. Richardson, lecturer and author. The lectures will be given in Trinity Auditorium from next Thursday to the following Monday, inclusive, at 8 p.m.

Puggsie Richly Enjoys Toso's Joke

SUCH a friendship has sprung up between Toso, Harry Anderson's pet monkey and Puggsie, a Boston bull, that they tell each other stories, if you'll believe their owner. Anyway, Toso told one to Puggsie recently which made the gentleman from Boston grin from ear to ear, and the camera caught him.

JOHN GAY'S "POLLY" AT PLAYHOUSE

Rich Orchestration of Old Opera's Airs Beguile Evening Hours

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

"Polly" had her first fling at the Playhouse last night. As the lovelorn girl who followed Macheath to the Indies (only it was changed to Mexico in this version,) Polly, disguised as a timid young soldier, was quite different from the daughter of the house of Peachum who carried all before her in "The Beggar's Opera."

"Polly," originally written by Mr. Gay, has been freely changed into modern pepfulness by Clifford Bax. Frederic Austin made the musical settings of the old airs and put in some of his own. The comedy swings through in delightful rhythm and there is never a moment that drags.

Inevitably, "Polly" will be compared to "The Beggar's Opera." It might do better alone. As his excellent English company sings it, the work is especially interesting musically. Dramatically the operetta is weak.

Its charm lies in an excellent score, well written and richly orchestrated. Sylvia Nellis as Polly has an ungrateful part and, although her top notes are as alluring as ever, she should never, never, or at least hardly ever, appear without her frills and furbelows.

Audrey Mildmay takes the honors of the play in the part of Jenny, mistress to Macheath, who is disguised as Morano of Mexico. She is pretty beyond compare and her voice and hands are both quite charming.

As for the men, Norman Williams is the bright, particular star. He strengthens the fine impression made as Lockit in "The Beggars" and the casting director of this company is to be commended for choosing a very fine voice.

American managers can take lessons from this English company in many ways. One bright idea the English company has seems seldom to occur to the light opera directors of this country. That is, the matter of voices. In this, parts have been given out with a nice discrimination as to vocal quality, and luckily the girls all look beautiful and the pirates are fearful as they should be.

The orchestra has been chosen as it should be, also, and the conductor is a young musician from Hungary with a Parisian education. He gives the performances an elan rarely to be found. To Mr. Honti much of the credit for last night's success should go.

Boulevard Has "Baby Cyclone"

"The Baby Cyclone," picturization of the stage farce of the same name, opens a week's run at the Boulevard Theater today.

With Aileen Pringle, Lew Cody, Gwen Lee and Robert Armstrong in the principal roles, the film carries all the comedy that made the original stage play such a decided hit, it is said. Several of the comedy situations are also intensified by the use of scenes which could not be included in a stage production.

The comedy revolves about a diminutive Pekingese which almost ruins two perfectly good love affairs.

Final rehearsals are now being held for the special New Year's Eve midnight stage show. Lynn Cowan, popular master of ceremonies, is in charge.

"Prep and Pep," Fox film originally announced for today, will have a local showing at a later date.

Frolic Ushers in New Year

Monday will not only mark the opening date of Fannie Brice's Vitaphone talking-singing picture, "My Man," at Warner Brothers' Theater, but it will also be the occasion of a gala New Year's Eve frolic starting at midnight. Since the Brice picture opens that day, patrons of the frolic will have an opportunity to see and hear a brand new picture, in addition to the augmented stage revue that Larry Ceballos is preparing. This will include, in addition to the regular revue, "Orange Grove," many special acts and several "surprises."

Warners expect a run for the Fannie Brice picture, which has already taken New York by storm and is reported playing to capacity business. Miss Brice sings seven of her inimitable character songs during the action of the opus. "My Man" is based on her song hit and was directed by Archie Mayo.

The supporting cast includes Guinn Williams, Edna Murphy, Richard Tucker, Andre de Segurola, Billy Seay, Ann Brody and Arthur Hoyt.

ANTIQUES DELIGHT

Horton Collects 'Em as Hobby; New Batch Enlivens Holiday

Old chairs, battered chests and cracked vases are rarely accepted with smiles of joy as Yuletide gifts. In fact, they are rarely given. But Edward Everett Horton not only received such presents, but enjoyed their reception. For Horton collects them—antiques. And when he joined the family group about the Christmas tree he was overjoyed by those that he received as Christmas cheer. A brass this—a pewter that—a rustic thing-a-ma-jig—first editions and many other rare articles in various stages of decrepitude.

However, Horton's hobby goes further than the mere collection of these items, as he repairs and services them so that they may be put to use, as a tour of his various and sundry homes throughout Southern California will testify. Although he is at present starring at his Vine-street Theater in "Her Cardboard Lover," Horton declares that there is nothing cardboard about his antiques. He will let one sit on his chairs—jump on his beds—and put water and flowers in his vases. Practicality in antique collecting

Very often Horton uses these various articles in his productions.

New Variety Revue Eye-Filling

Vera Marsh
is prominent in the feminine contingent which Harry Carroll will introduce to Orpheum audiences on Sunday.

LENA SMITH CASE BARED

The Metropolitan will screen "The Case of Lena Smith" for the week starting today, with Esther Ralston and James Hall.

The picture is heralded as the fifth directorial success of Josef Von Sternberg, the director of "Underworld," "The Last Command," "The Drag Net" and "The Docks of New York." It is equally a new success for Esther Ralston, who will be seen in a powerful dramatic role for the first time in her career.

The story takes place in Vienna, Sternberg's original home. Every detail of the production is reported correct, and interest held at high tension throughout. Countless new bits of business, camera angles, lap dissolves, and photographic touches are typically Sternberg.

"Parisian Nights," a Publix Franco-American revue, staged by John Murray Anderson, is the stage attraction for the week. The show is filled with talent of such caliber as the Novelle Brothers, Ginger Rogers, Publix "discovery," and Ben Bard, who enters his second week as master of ceremonies.

Ray Paige will again conduct the stage band, and will direct an overture from the pit, "Moments Musicale."

NORMA SHEARER FILM HERE

Loew's State has chosen a timely vehicle for the after-Christmas show, starting today. With the pocketbooks of indulgent papas closed tight to recuperate from the inroads of gift buying, gold diggers will need a little kindly advice on how to keep them in the "giving" mood.

Norma Shearer supplies this in an interesting and novel plot in "A Lady of Chance," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer feature picture. As a cry-baby gold digger she is a past master at turning on the tears and arousing untold sympathy within whomever happens to be her chosen victim. John Mack Brown is a willing victim but in the story he is a young man with a $1,000,000 front and no money to back up the front. So the gold digger's plot proves a boomerang when she discovers the truth after the wedding.

"Flip Flop" is the name of the Fanchon and Marco stage idea in which the bouncing trambouline is utilized to put the cast all up in the air.

Good Resolves Wasted, Claim

"New Year's resolutions always seem a waste of time to me," says Robert McWade, who acts James Crockett, the crusty bachelor in "Daddies," which the Henry Duffy Players are presenting at the Hollywood Playhouse.

"Why should there be a special time in which to set forth good resolutions? Why not spread them through the year? It always seems to me that we make a special virtue of doing something we should be doing all the time when we make a fresh start after the New Year's Eve party.

"My idea about good resolutions is that you can make them any time. It is like stopping smoking. If I decide to stop on New Year's Day I find myself consuming as many cigars as possible up to the stroke of midnight. That doesn't help at all."

McWade, however, has one resolution that he is making for New Year's. "I've made it for fifteen years," he says, "and broken it every time. Here it goes again: 'This is the last stage grouch I intend to act.'"

Night-Clubbers to Visit Davis

Appearing as special holiday guests of Benny Davis, Roscoe (Fatty) Arbukle and his Plantation stars will plunge into an impromptu potpourri of entertainment tonight at the Orpheum Theater, it is announced.

Besides Arbuckle, the Culver City delegation will include such favorites as Red Nichols and his Five Pennies, Edith Murray, Dave Barnum, Born and Lawrence and others.

Greeting the Arbuckle-ites will be Benny Davis and his Broadway Stars, including Mrs. Benny Davis, Little Jackie Heller, Margie Greene, Charlotte Bemis, Bartlett Brown, Gertrude Green, Senorita Carita, Roy Loomis and the Davis orchestra.

Wilde Forced to Quit Work

Forced by ill health to take an extended rest and probably to undergo a major operation, Ted Wilde yesterday resigned as director for Harold Lloyd and will leave after the holidays for a health resort near Los Angeles.

No successor to Wilde has been selected by Lloyd.

FOX OR UNIVERSAL? PRODUCER DECIDES

Not infrequently the best of plans go awry. Just when it was all settled for Joseph Schildkraut to portray the featured male role in "Through Different Eyes," which Fox is to produce shortly, came telegraphic instructions from Carl Laemmle of Universal, to whom Schildkraut is under contract, that he had other intentions for the actor.

Several weeks ago it was announced that "The Bargain in the Kremlin" was being prepared by J. Grubb Alexander as the first starring vehicle for Schildkraut, with Edward Sloman directing. However, since it was intended to make this a talking picture and since the equipment for this arrangement is limited, it was found impossible to start on the scheduled date. Learning of this, Fox executives immediately started negotiations with Universal to borrow Schildkraut; the latter organization agreeing provided he would be finished within the specified time.

Since then Laemmle has wired the Coast organization to give the making of Schildkraut's first starring vehicle preference in the use of the audible device.

The Fox executives, it is understood, out of deference to Laemmle's request, have agreed to cancel their contract for the actor's services.

SCHROCK RETURNING

Having seen practically every stage production now before the public in New York, Raymond L. Schrock, film executive, is making plans to return to Hollywood. Schrock departed over one month ago intending to spend two weeks in the eastern metropolis. However, negotiations for the film and dialogue rights to several stage plays which he has purchased, necessitated his remaining longer.

GIBSON RECOVERS

"Hoot" Gibson, producer-star of his own productions, which are released by Universal, has returned to the studios to resume work on "Birds of a Feather." Approximately one week ago while engaged in performing a thrilling stunt astride his favorite mount, Gibson's foot became entangled in the stirrup, causing a painful ankle sprain.

BARRIE'S FANTASY WEAVES NEW SPELL

"A Kiss For Cinderella" Given at Pasadena; Fanciful Scenes Delight

BY KATHERINE T. VON BLON

When Sir James M. Barrie sees fit to loose the bright fairies of his imagination upon us, who are we to resist the delicate persistency of his tender fantastics? His volatile fancy leaps so lightly the barriers which more prosaic minds would have us believe inevitable, to weave a bit of his silvery glamour over this thing we call life.

"A Kiss for Cinderella," that fragile and intangibly lovely whimsy of the little London slavey, from the Barrie pen, is the Christmas offering of Pasadena Community Playhouse, and a merry holiday crowd found a fragrant and poignant slip of magical romance unfolding itself before their enchanted eyes. There is invariably about a Barrie play a sort of glorified grace, an esprit, a rare quality of sympathy together with a tender mysticism, the sort of mysticism a child possesses, which enthralls even the grown-up sophisticate.

There is something so genuine, so sincere, so far removed from flaccid sentimentality, that a tear lingers in the midst of the gentle satire, and there is a tightness in the throat, for with all the whimsicality and delightful gossamer caperings there is always the moving reality of the Barrie humanity. There is nothing spurious about his humanity. It is spontaneous and natural. There is an innate simplicity and candor and an almost unbearable pathos that grips the heart, lighted by a sprightly human which is indeed almost jaunty at times.

Upon the favorite Cinderella tale, Barrie strings the translucent, tenderly glowing pearls of his sprightly fancy. A little London slavey, the heroine, to whom an artist fellow whose rooms she keeps tidy, playfully gives the name of Cinderella, sincerely tries to live up to the appellation. So simple and yearning is this quaint little character that through the power of her imagination she manages to re-create for herself the Cinderella tale, and it all happens in a remote corner of Miss Thing's own romantic little head. And, after all, it's "such stuff as dreams are made of," which make this prosy humdrum old world a place of glorious adventure.

Written as a vehicle for the manifold charms of Maude Adams, the piece gives Barrie free rein to all the fantastic ardor and willful capriciousness of which he is capable. Of course, there is a ball, and just such a one as little Miss Thing would imagine, with kings and queens seated upon, luxury of luxuries, golden rocking chairs, high lord mayors and a wondrous prince—and 'midst all this glory, fine fat sandwiches and opulent ice cream cones for the inner man's delectation. The settings in this scene were particularly effective and reminded of Hans Christian Anderson and Mother Goose days.

A large cast gave a spirited performance and as little Miss Thing, Leonore Shanewise gave a sympathetic depictment of a pathetic and galant little girl, clutching her dreams so passionately to her breast. Raph Matson brought a degree of reality and a quaint individuality to the part of Mr. Bodie. As the "infallible" policeman who becomes the princely lover, Richard Menefee was engaging. A special feather to all those in the cast who managed the Cockney dialect so skillfully.

Sound Studios Incorporate

Forming a new $1,500,000 corporation, the Christie brothers have filed incorporation papers for an organization to be known as Metropolitan Sound Studios, Inc., which has taken over the properties of the Metropolitan studios in Hollywood as well as the newly built and operating sound studios at the same location.

It is understood that several large outside interests besides the Christies are being pooled in the ownership of the concern, which will be the producing center for talking pictures of at least six different producing companies, and which will have a combined film program for the coming year of more than $20,000,000.

Grauman Silent on Next Opus

Speculation still is rife as to the next production to follow "Noah's Ark" into Grauman's Chinese Theater when that opus ends its engagement on New Year's Day.

While rumors are being circulated to the effect that Sid Grauman is considering Douglas Fairbanks in "The Iron Mask" or Universal's "Show Boat" to succeed the Warner Brothers Vitaphone production, the theater magnate himself is silent on the subject.

BAKEWELL CLIMBING

Stardom within the next twelve months is being predicted in some quarters for William Bakewell, young leading man for Alice White in "Hot Stuff," which Mervyn Le Roy is directing for First National. Previous to this assignment, Bakewell portrayed a featured dual role in Douglas Fairbanks's first talking picture, "The Iron Mask" and his performance is said to be outstanding.

OUT FOR NEW RECORDS

Norman Taurog, who is directing "In Holland," the Fox-Movietone comedy starring Clark and McCullough, has just completed the sequence in which the two vaudeville stars are shown swimming the Atlantic ocean, Europe bound.

Spring Street, in the city of Los Angeles, State of California, on Tuesday, January 8th, 1929, at 4 o'clock p.m. for the purpose of electing a board of directors and transacting such other business as may come before the meeting.

WATER DISTRICT TO BE CONVENED

Initial Session Scheduled for Tomorrow

Representatives from Ten Cities Will Meet

Board Will be Formed and Officers Named

The initial session of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, the political body which is to construct the Colorado River aqueduct and bring the water from a point near Blythe to the coastal plain cities, will be conducted tomorrow at the Hotel Huntington, Pasadena.

The business session will begin at 2 p.m. Informal discussion will consume the morning hours with a luncheon at noon. The first business to be taken up will be the accrediting of members of the board of directors and the election of officers.

In addition to Los Angeles, ten other cities in three Southern counties voted to join the district at the last general election. Other cities may at any time vote to join the district. Each city is to be represented by duly appointed and confirmed members of the board.

Appointment of various executives and the actual making of plans for the aqueduct, which is expected to cost $150,000,000, no doubt will follow at latter meetings of the board. Hiram Wadsworth, president of the Colorado River Aqueduct Association, the unofficial body which preceded the water district, will preside tomorrow. W. B. Mathews, special counsel for the Department of Water and Power and a State Colorado River commissioner, will recount the successful Boulder Dam Act fight in Congress.

The names of the ten Los Angeles representatives will be submitted to the Council for confirmation this morning. Mayor Cryer declined to release the list for publication last night.

AERONAUTS ENTERTAIN

Members of the Women's Aeronautical Association of California were guests of the Woman's Breakfast Club on Riverside Drive yesterday morning. Mrs. Ulysses Grant-McQueen, president of the aeronautical association, was introduced as the guest of honor and spoke on the subject of the Wright brothers' first flight in an airplane.

Rails on the Desert

The French government contemplates building about 1900 miles of railroad tracks to provide the desert with lines connecting Algeria and French West Africa, that is, the French conolies located south of the Sahara and which count about 12,500,000 inhabitants. The main obstacle to combat commercial development has been the lack of adequate transporation facilities over the desert. So far only slow caravans make a comparatively small exchange of commodities between North and West Africa.

LOVE CLOSE-LINKED TO TRAGEDY

Official Report Discloses More Than Half of Those Who Sought to End All This Year Did So Due to Affairs of Heart or Marital Woes

Love is a great thing but very difficult to understand. Sometimes it causes men to beat their wives and sometimes the procedure is reversed. Then again some men are overcome because they haven't wives.

On the other hand, the women who are wives seem to get mad and give up all hope of ever reforming their husbands and the ones who aren't wives appear to resent the fact that they have been overlooked.

Of course these remarks may not apply in all cases, but out of the 494 attempted suicides listed in Police Surgeon Wallace Dodge's annual report filed with Mayor Cryer yesterday it would seem that they do apply in most instances.

Out of the grand total considerably more than half of those who wished to die swallowed poison, shot themselves, cut their throats and figured out other ways to end it all because of love affairs or marital troubles. Of the grand total the majority were women and mostly young ones. However, there were a lot of love-sick men, too. Then poverty, financial troubles and ill health account for quite a number.

OTHER FACTORS

And in case you don't know it there still are at least sixteen horses and wagons in the city and 184 automobiles that have to be cranked before they will run.

This can be proven out of Dr. Dodge's figures which show that sixteen persons were injured in accidents involving horses and [illegible] and that 184 others [illegible] jaws and other portions of [illegible] bodies when automobile [illegible] kicked back and struck them.

It also is evident that [illegible] could be purchased within the [illegible] limits up to the closing days of [illegible] year, because 1000 [illegible] treated in the Receiving [illegible] and 1506 examinations [illegible] of persons charged with [illegible] automobiles while [illegible].

KNIVES COMING BACK

Knives as weapons, after a [illegible] period of disuse, seem to be coming back and revolvers [illegible] going out of style. There were [illegible] gunshot cases treated [illegible] knife handlers sent [illegible] the hospital.

During the year [illegible] sent in seven victims, while [illegible] liquor struck down nine others.

Out of the [illegible] in the Receiving Hospital, [illegible] there as the result of [illegible] accidents and for the first [illegible] eleven said they had been [illegible] in airplane crashes.

Of the grand total treated [illegible] were police and firemen, [illegible] prisoners, and the rest the [illegible]. The police ambulances answered [illegible] 006 calls.

In his report Dr. Dodge [illegible] out that during the year the [illegible] dena-avenue Branch [illegible] cated at 2861 Pasadena [illegible] built at a cost of [illegible] San Pedro branch [illegible] as yet not equipped.

SEWER CHARGES RENEWED

Jacobson Introduces Resolution Into Council Demanding Committee of Inquiry

A resolution demanding the appointment of a special committee of the City Council to investigate asserted irregularities in the [illegible] and removal of sewer flushers in various assessment districts, [illegible] inquiry by the county grand jury, was proposed yesterday by Councilman Jacobson. The resolution was referred to the Health and [illegible] Committee.

In a report prepared for the grand jury by investigators of the Board of Public Works, it is asserted that but 34 per cent of the patented sewer flushing devices installed in the city during the past two years at a cost of approximately $500,000 are in good working order.

FURTHER DATA

The report further asserts that 15 per cent of the flushers have been removed from assessment districts; 8 per cent dismantled; 23 per cent in bad order and 18.5 per cent out of commission because the water supply has been cut off.

The sewer flusher in question is a device placed in manholes, a specification requirement of Los Angeles sewers, so constructed that at intervals of thirty-six hours it releases several hundred gallons of water to flush debris from the sewerlines and avert congestion.

While Councilman Jacobson was demanding a special Council committee to conduct an inquiry, it was apparent yesterday that the grand jury will be compelled to sit in extra sessions until the middle of [illegible] ruary to sift the reports [illegible] fore it.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION

"Whereas, it appears from [illegible] paper reports and alleged [illegible] that there has been and [illegible] certain irregularity [illegible] with the use of so-called [illegible] flushers, and,

"Whereas from the [illegible] other cities [illegible] similar ones have been [illegible] proven unsatisfactory and [illegible] discarded, and,

"Whereas, the city of Los [illegible] is so situated [illegible] sewer flushers in a great [illegible] of cases are unnecessary [illegible]

"Whereas, an investigation [illegible] methods of handling these [illegible] has been made and a report [illegible] dered, now therefore

"Be it resolved: That a [illegible] this report be furnished [illegible] Council, and

"That a committee of [illegible] Council be appointed [illegible] thorough investigation into [illegible] tire matter, as to the [illegible] derlying these reports of [illegible] ities, the remedies and [illegible] sity of further installation of [illegible] flushers."

NATIONAL FRATERNITY TO CONVENE AT U.S.C.

Alpha Rho Chi, national architecture fraternity, will hold its annual convention at the University of Southern California beginning today and continuing to January 2, as the guests of the Trojan school of architecture. Delegates are expected from all sections of the United States. Headquarters will be at the Architecture Building, 659 West Thirty-fifth street.

BABY CONTEST PLANNED

Announcement that a baby contest and children's health show will be conducted January 13 at the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic, 918 Venice Boulevard, was made yesterday by Dr. Charles H. Wood, president of the college. The four members of the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners, who will be meeting in Los Angeles at the time, have been asked to act as judges.

BID OPENING SET

Bids on the new Exposition Park community building will be opened in the office of the City Purchasing Agent, January 16. The playground and recreation department reports that plans and specifications are now in the hands of contractors. Sketches for the community building to be erected at Ross Snyder Playground are being made.

PIONEER NEGRO DIES

Cornelius H. Twine, negro pioneer of Los Angeles, 90 years of age, died yesterday at his home, 1518 East Adams street. Funeral services will be conducted from the Angelus funeral home, 1030 East Jefferson street, at 11 a.m. Saturday. The aged negro once owned a truck garden at what is now Fourth and Spring streets.

Policing the Arctics

The unusual character of the work performed by the members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is indicated by following the experience taken from the recently annual report of the operations of the organization. In his 800-mile patrol from Ponds Inlet at the northern end of Baffin Island to Bury and Hecla Strait, Inspector C. E. Wilcox met a five-day blizzard so severe that for two days he was unable to leave the igloo which the Eskimos had constructed. It was so cold that the kerosene froze and had to be thawed out by the native oil lamps. On one occasion he climbed a frozen waterfall.

The Old Rocking Chair

Some one becomes sad and despondent over the passing of the family rocking chair. It has no place in modern life. One now demands something that he can easily jump out of, for the automobile or airplane may be waiting at the door. For a quick exit, the old family rocker is a hazard.—[Exchange.
